Both British and Italians Claim Victories

AXIS TO CARVE UP RUMANIA ON HUNGARIAN PLEA

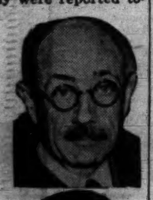
BUDAPEST, Hungary, July 9 (AP).—Germany and Italy were reported tonight to have decided to call on Rumania to give up a slice of Transylvania to Hungary.



Count Paul Teleki [top] and Count Stephen Csaky.

A preliminary agreement was said to have been made with Hungary even before the beginning of scheduled consultations in Munich between Premier Paul Teleki and Foreign Minister Stephen Csaky of Hungary, Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop of Germany, and Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano of Italy. Counts Teleki and Csaky entrained for Munich today.

Rumanian Envoy on Way.

Diplomatic quarters said a special Rumanian envoy who is flying from Bucharest to Munich tomorrow will be told that the Bucharest government must agree immediately to the cession.

Just how much of Transylvania is demanded was not known, but the area in question was understood to comprise the border regions where the Hungarian minority is centered. It was stressed, too, that that area also is the site of Rumania's powerful "Carol line," considered the only obstacle to an invading army.

That part of Transylvania which is inhabited chiefly by those of German blood—there are 500,000 such according to the last census—is expected under the plan to be left to Rumania, but with almost complete autonomy within the Rumanian state.

Pact Subject to Change.

It was understood that the Transylvanian German "Fuehrer," Hans Otto Roth, was holding back from taking the oath as minister of minorities in the Rumanian cabinet pending assurances that such autonomy would be discussed at Munich tomorrow.

It was stressed that the reported German-Italian-Hungarian agreement was only preliminary.

Counts Teleki and Csaky, long avowed followers of the Rome-Berlin axis, left here specifically to discuss with Count Ciano and Von Ribbentrop Hungary's Rumanian demands.

Even as they entrained, Hungary's mobilization reached its peak; more than 500,000 men stood ready near the Rumanian frontier. Women began taking over men's jobs.

Refuses to Yield Land.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, July 9 (AP).—Rumania's new totalitarian government today moved rapidly to set up a model Nazi state and refused to give another inch of territory.

The government's attitude toward the demand of Hungary for Transylvania was thus summed up:

"Rumania recognizes no justification for yielding to the claims of Hungary and has decided not to accept such territorial claims.

"The only ground on which Rumania will carry on discussions with Hungary might be simply that of a reciprocal exchange of populations."

Bulgarians Make Threat.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, July 9 (AP).—The inspired Bulgarian press called today upon the Balkan entente—Rumania, Greece, Jugo-Slavia and Turkey—to bring about repercussions unfavorable to the rest of the Balkans."

One paper struck the keynote for all, declaring that otherwise Bulgaria "might accept the help of Russia or Germany and Italy, which might arrange a settlement of Bulgaria's territorial claims" before it is too late."

Bulgarians, beside seeing the recovery of southern Dobruja from Rumania, want an outlet to the Ægean sea from Greece.

THE DAILY BOGEYMAN STORY

Name Windsor Governor of Bahama Isles

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 9.—The duke of Windsor has been appointed governor and commander in chief of the Bahama Islands, off the coast of Florida, the dominions and colonial office announced tonight. The appointment was made by Windsor's brother, King George VI. of Great Britain.

Ex-Governor Sir Charles Dundas.

A radio announcement recalled that Prime Minister Churchill had defended Windsor during the abdication crisis of December, 1936, and stated that Churchill now naturally wanted to bring into the government the man he had so admired.

The appointment solves, also, the problem of assuring the safety of the former king and his American wife, who was Wallis Warfield Simpson, and at the same time keep him under the guidance of Downing street.

Now in Portugal.

The duke will relieve Sir Charles Cecil Farquharson Dundas, who received a salary of $12,000 and who will be moved to Uganda protectorate as governor.

Windsor and his duchess fled from France to Spain, then to Portugal, in advance of the German invasion of France.

They now are in Lisbon, visiting in the home of a Portuguese banker, and it is presumed they will go soon to Nassau, capital of the Bahamas, which has a population of 20,000 and is a favorite spot of tourists. The colony has a population of about 68,000.

The duke and the duchess thus will be near America, which they wished to visit in November, 1937, but decided otherwise because of unfavorable reaction by American labor groups.

Was Liaison Officer.

It was on Dec. 11, 1936, the day after he left the throne, when the duke broadcast his famous "woman I love" abdication message to the British people. From then on and even after his marriage six months later he became a royal wanderer.

The war brought him back to England in September. Then he was appointed chief liaison officer between the British and French armies. He relinquished that post on June 6 and went to the Riviera.

Custom to Visit Miami.

NASSAU, Bahamas, July 9 (AP).—The duke of Windsor will be the chief administrator of a colony within 60 miles of his wife's native land. The northwestern tip of the colony is due east of Palm Beach, Fla.

The little colony's capital, Nassau, on New Providence Island, is 186 air miles and two hours by clipper plane from Miami.

If he follows the custom of his predecessors, the duke will pay two visits a year to Miami—once for the all American air maneuvers each January and again for the running of the Bahamas handicap at Hialeah park race track.

NO PLAN FOR MOVING FLEET TO ATLANTIC, ROOSEVELT ASSERTS

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP)—President Roosevelt said today that there was no present plan to move the United States fleet from Hawaii to the Atlantic.

Reports that the main body of the navy, in the Pacific in recent years, might be moved into Atlantic waters, arose after the surrender of France to Germany.

Asked whether he had discussed with the French ambassador today the status of the French island of Martinique, in the Caribbean sea, Mr. Roosevelt said he had received nothing about that island in about four days. British ships have been reported off Martinique, waiting to pounce on French war vessels and munitions ships based there.

In response to a question as to whether United States warships were on watch near Martinique, the President said they were not on duty there particularly—that they were all over the Caribbean.

British Appeal to U. S. to Pool All Resources

LONDON, July 9 (AP).—Herbert Morrison, British supply minister, appealed to the United States tonight for a dovetailing of British and American resources and production to defeat "the strength of the European continent organized for aggression."

Herbert Morrison.

"You know that there is no limit to Nazi ambitions," he said in a broadcast relayed to the United States.

"We in this country are inspired by the sight of America, awake and preparing.

"Against the tremendous material strength of the European continent organized for aggression there is only one sure industrial counterpoise in all the world, and that is to be found in the capacity of Great Britain and the United States.

Calls U. S. "British Armory."

"You and we must dovetail our resources and our methods.

"You must plan your capacity to send us arms as you already have planned it to send us aircraft, so as to insure the greatest and speediest possible supply of what we most need and can best use.

"We are sending and will send you orders which will set for you your objective. We look to you as our armory and we ask no more than this.

Defines Britain's Duty.

"Britain's duty to herself and to the world is to stand up and fight the good fight. Will you lay your plans in close concert with us and send us in an ever-increasing flood machines and munitions of victory?"

Morrison said Germany now produces 42,000,000 tons of steel annually, as against the British empire's 19,000,000 tons.

"But remember," Morrison said, "the possibility that there may be added to Britain's 19,000,000 tons the 52,000,000 tons of American steel capacity."

CLASH THREE TIMES IN STRUGGLE FOR CONTROL OF THE MEDITERRANEAN SEA

London Says Shell Hit Capital Ship; 4 Planes Downed.

LONDON, July 10, Wednesday (A. P.).—British and Italian war fleets and fighting planes clashed today in a new battle of the Mediterranean, fighting fiercely for control of the vital sea routes from Gibraltar to the Suez.

Powerful naval squadrons thundered against each other for the first time last night in the blue waters in a smoke screened battle of long range shelling that lasted thru the night.

Today news agencies of both sides reported damage to the other fleet's ships—and each said the enemy squadron fled, hotly pursued.

Three Battles Reported.

Three separate engagements were reported—east of Gibraltar, just below the "boot" of Italy, and near the island of Crete in the eastern Mediterranean, south of Greece.

Altogether, the British claimed a long range shell hit an Italian capital ship and listed four Italian planes shot down and seven others badly damaged.

Reuters, British news agency, dispatches from Rome listed the Italian claims by the Italian Stefani news agency as one British cruiser sunk, a battleship and an aircraft carrier damaged, and other British warships bombed from the air.

Fight in Mid-Mediterranean.

Perhaps the most significant engagement was the action between units of the two fleets in mid-Mediterranean, off Cape Spartivento, extreme southern point of the Italian "boot."

The British admiralty said a British squadron encountered two Italian battleships (Italy has six) and several 8 inch and 6 inch gun cruisers and destroyers.

With details of the fighting still sketchy, the admiralty reported:

Waves of German Flyers Blast at English Towns.

LONDON, July 9 (AP).—Wave after wave of German flyers attacked the British Isles today and they were matched by British attacks on Nazi strongholds.

The German planes ranged over England, Scotland, and Wales. At least 10 persons were killed during the day and eight German planes downed. Six persons were killed in the southwest, two in the southeast and two in Wales.

Tonight, German planes skimmed low over the sea just off the southeast coast, while others, flying high, dived to 1,000 feet to drop "whistling" bombs on one town. Several buildings were damaged. Defending planes shot down a German seaplane. It was reported the "sky was alive with German planes."

Warned of More to Come.

The nation was warned by radio by Gen. Sir Hugh Elles, chief of the civil defense operations staff, that "something much more serious" is coming.

This evening enemy aircraft dropped a number of high explosive bombs on a town in East Anglia, some of which fell on buildings and in the streets. There were a number of civilian casualties, including some killed.

The air ministry reported "some damage was done to premises at a Bristol channel port [in the southwest] and a few casualties were caused."

British and German planes fought an air battle over southeastern England. Empty machine gun cartridges fell like hail on the town over which the battle was fought.

Attempt to Bomb Ships.

British bombers struck at German naval bases and airdromes all the way from France to Norway. It was said that bombs set fire to an ammunition dump at Bergen, Norway, and also damaged a ship and seaplane slip.

Aircraft lined up at Sola airport, Stavanger, were reported bombed There was strong opposition from fighter aircraft and ground defenses and seven British planes were shot down, it was admitted. The British said one enemy plane was downed and denied the German claim that all 12 British planes which attacked the airport were shot down.

British bombers were said to have made daylight raids yesterday on concentrations of enemy barges on Dutch canals at Zwolle, Harten, and West, and also near Elberg and Delft. "Many barges were sunk, wrecked, or set on fire," it was stated.

Active Off Denmark.

An enemy supply ship was bombed in the Danish harbor of Aalborg, and enemy patrol vessels were damaged off the coast. German occupied airdromes were bombed at Soissons and Douai, France. "Aircraft personnel and transport were damaged," it was stated.

The naval base at Kiel was attacked and damage done to the dockyards. Oil refineries were damaged at Hamburg and freight yards at Hamm. Airdromes at Rotterdam, Amsterdam, and Brussels were bombed.

German Report on Raids.

BERLIN, July 9.—Heavy damage to widespread military objectives in England and a steadily rising toll of British shipping in German air and submarine attacks were reported today by the high command.

The air force, it said, scored hits on British shipyards at Devonport, oil tanks at Ipswich and several places in Essex, explosive plants at Harwich, chemical plants in Billingham, and a cruiser, a destroyer and five merchantmen in the North sea.

Besides the British destroyer Whirlwind, which the communique said was sunk by a submarine, it reported a British patrol boat sunk by speedboats off the English south coast.

Two Nazi Warships Set Afire; French Liner Seized.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 9.—Great Britain tonight hailed new triumphs of the British navy and air force over a wide expanse of the globe from Alexandria, Egypt, to Singapore and the North Sea to West Africa and in addition to battles, which the navy was fighting in the Mediterranean, drew hope and courage from the bold strokes. These were the outstanding events:

1. British bombers pounced on four light cruisers or destroyers anchored at Wilhelmshaven, German naval base. Two warships were set ablaze by incendiary bombs and the dockyards damaged.

2. A daring motor boat crew and torpedo planes disabled the 35,000 ton Richelieu, France's newest and largest battleship, at Dakar, Senegal.

3. British authorities seized the Ile de France, the second largest liner of the French merchant marine, at Singapore.

4. British seamen were believed to have prevented the scuttling of the Pasteur, France's third largest liner, at a Nova Scotia port.

On Way to Australia.

The Ile de France, of 43,450 tons, was second only to the Normandie. It left New York on May 1 carrying a capacity shipment of planes, machinery, and other war supplies bound for Halifax for transshipment. It was on its way from Halifax to Australia when seized at Singapore. (The Normandie has been in New York since last Aug. 28.)

The 30,000 ton Pasteur, France's newest luxury liner, was reported to have been boarded by an armed British force last Thursday night just in time to close the seacocks, which the French crew had opened. The Pasteur went on to Halifax, where it discharged its cargo of war materials and is there at present. (Canadian officials were silent on the report of the attempted scuttling.)

French Fleet Again Reduced.

Britons were particularly cheered by reports that further units of the French war fleet had been demilitarized or disabled and thus rendered incapable of giving aid to the Germans and Italians, to whom they were conceded by armistice terms. A battleship, four cruisers, and other ships were demilitarized at Alexandria, Egypt.

The most thrilling action, to Britons, was the attack on the Richelieu. A. V. Alexander, the first lord of the admiralty, told the story to a cheering house of commons.

The Richelieu was struck first by depth bombs which tars in a motorboat dropped under the warship's stern to wreck her propeller and steering gear, but the coup de grace was delivered by

BRITISH WOMEN URGED TO TURN IN ALUMINUM TO AIRCRAFT INDUSTRY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 9.—Lord Beaverbrook, minister of air production, today urgently appealed to the women of Great Britain to turn in aluminum of every type and description which is badly needed if aircraft production is to continue at its present level.

"Every one who has pots, pans, kettles, vacuum cleaners, hatracks, coat hangers, shoe trees, household ornaments, cigaret boxes, or any other articles wholly or partly aluminum should hand them over at once to the local headquarters of the Women's Voluntary Services," his appeal said. "The need is urgent and imperative in the national interest."

France, now cut off from England, is the world's largest single producer of bauxite. The axis powers, with the occupation of France, now control more than 42 per cent of the world's aluminum clay.

aerial torpedoes dropped by British planes, Alexander disclosed. He said the Richelieu settled by the stern, listing heavily to port and lying in a heavy pool of oil.

Captain Delivers Terms.

Alexander said that on July 7 the flag officer entrusted with the Dakar operations sent one of his captains ahead in a sloop to present British terms to the commander of the Richelieu.

"On his arrival he was informed by French authorities that they would fire if the sloop approached close to port," Alexander said. "It was only after an interval that the French consented to receive the British communication by signal."

The terms were that the Richelieu sail with a reduced crew under escort to a British port; sail with a reduced crew to a French port in the West Indies where she would be demilitarized; be demilitarized in Dakar within 12 hours; or she would be sunk within a time limit.

French Fail to Reply.

The French failed to reply to the British conditions, Alexander said.

[A dispatch from Geneva said the French admiralty announced the British attacked at Dakar upon the refusal of the French admiral there to reply to "a shameful ultimatum." The French declared Dakar was bombed on Monday by airplanes from the British carrier Hermes and that French antiaircraft batteries "replied vigorously."]

Running the risk of blowing themselves out of the sea, British seamen took a small boat thru the outer defenses of Dakar harbor and dropped their depth charges. The airplanes carrying torpedoes attacked a few minutes later.

While the sloop still was in the harbor, Alexander related, her engines broke down and she lay helpless for a time, but the crew succeeded in getting one engine running just as they were discovered.

The boat was pursued, but managed to escape by crossing harbor defense nets which fouled the propeller of its pursuer, he said.

A 'Remarkable Achievement.'

Commons roared with laughter.

Aerial reconnaissance after the attack established that the Richelieu was listing to port, down by the stern, and surrounded by a large quantity of oil, he said.

"This is the greatest achievement in the history of naval operations—a remarkable tribute to the value of our seapower, a power which we do not intend to lose," Alexander told the cheering house.

The surrender of the fleet at Alexandria and its demilitarization for the rest of the war, plus the swoop on the Richelieu meant that only one French battleship remains to be disposed of.

It is the Richelieu's unfinished sister ship, the Jean Bart [presumably at St. Nazaire, France]. She cannot be of any use to the German conqueror of France for many months.

These successes cost not one British life, in contrast to the casualties suffered by French and British warships off Oran, Algeria, last Wednesday when the British began their worldwide campaign to keep the French navy out of German and Italian hands.

Disposes of 7th Battleship.

The Dakar attack disposed of the seventh French battleship. France had eight capital ships when the armistice was signed, Alexander declared, accounting for them thus:

Three in British control, one sunk, one badly damaged and immobilized, one driven ashore at Oran and incapacitated for months if not permanently, one which escaped to the French naval base at Toulon after being hit by a torpedo, and the Jean Bart.

Alexander disclosed that the British navy had engaged in two further operations since its attack July 3 on French units at Oran to insure that France's fleet be kept from German and Italian hands. One was a raid by British aircraft July 6 on the battleship Dunkerque.

It already had been disclosed that British flyers scored six hits on the damaged, grounded 26,500 ton French capital ship on July 6 and Alexander said the aerial attack would incapacitate her for a long time.

Decision at Alexandria.

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, July 9 (AP).—French naval authorities here agreed today to turn over the entire French fleet at Alexandria to the British. The French are arranging transportation to France of the crews of all the warships.

The French decision removed the possibility of another British-French naval battle here such as took place at Oran, Algeria, on July 3, and left the British fleet free to move more of its power against the Italians in the Mediterranean.

An official statement said the French Admiral Godfroy, commanding the ships at Alexandria, had agreed to put them in a condition so they could not go to sea, to demilitarize them by removing certain armaments and to reduce the crews to the men necessary for care and maintenance. Thus the ships will lie at Alexandria for the duration of the war; most of the crews will be returned to France and Britain has promised to return the ships when the war is over.

The French liner Athos, 15,726 ton vessel, which has been in port for several weeks, is expected to transport troops in event of major hostilities. The 12,000 ton French liner Providence arrived here last Thursday and also is in port. No definite time has been set for the departure of the Athos and the Providence.

A French steamer was reported already to have sailed with approximately 500 members of crews.

An undetermined number of French officers and seamen who elected to continue the fight alongside the British are staying aboard their ships awaiting orders.

Agreement With Admiral.

The following official statement was issued by British authorities on the surrender of the French ships:

"Consultations were held between the [British] commander in chief and [French] Admiral Godfroy, in the hopes that it might be possible to continue the fight side by side.

"When terms of the German-French armistice were made known, it became evident that a new situation had developed, and Admiral Godfroy was therefore asked to consider various proposals on the lines of those sent at Oran.

"Seeing that in a foreign harbor, in the presence of a greatly superior British fleet, there was no possibility of taking the French ships to sea, and that an attempt would only endanger valuable French lives, it was agreed by Admiral Godfroy:

"1. To put his ships in a condition in which they could not go to sea. This was done by reducing the oil on board so that there was sufficient only for harbor purposes.

"2. To demilitarize the ships. This was done by landing certain portions of armament and placing them under the care of French authorities ashore.

"3. To reduce the crews, in order to leave sufficient only for care and maintenance. This is being done now and crews who are leaving are being sent to Syria, to be sent to France later as decided by the French admiralty."

HITLER AND DUCE ARRANGE TRIPLE DRIVE ON BRITAIN

Pick Tasks for Battle Against Enemy.

ROME, Italy, July 9 (AP).—The axis allies have chosen their respective tasks for the battle of England, it was stated authoritatively tonight.

Their broad purpose—determined, presumably, during Foreign Minister Galeazzo Ciano's current trip to Berlin—was stated by the informed writer, Virginio Gayda, to be threefold:

1. Blockade the British Isles.
2. Break Britain's empire contacts.
3. Defeat her "at home, on the sea, and in imperial territories" to the extent necessary for ending the war.

Italy's part in this, according to Gayda, will be to strike at Britian in Egypt, the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, Kenya colony and British Somaliland; to harass British shipping from the Atlantic to the Indian ocean and, above all, to immobilize a large part of the British fleet in the Mediterranean.

[Altho Gayda did not say so, this would seem to leave the frontal attack on England entirely to Germany.]

Demand "Full Justice."

Gayda, who is editor of the newspaper Giornale d'Italia, and often speaks for Premier Mussolini, foreshadowed axis determination to exact "from the vanquished" a full measure of "justice" not only for Italy and Germany but also for "other friendly peoples."

Probably he meant Hungary and Spain. Fascists are hinting that while Ciano is in Germany the axis will sketch out a plan for the political setup of the new Europe, and that Hungarian statesmen now en route to Germany likely will sit in on part of this planning.

Spain Wants Piece of Africa.

Hungary has territorial demands on Rumania which Italy is inclined to support. [Spain, on the other hand, is letting it be known she wants a slice of French North African territory and, from time to time, has spoken covetously of Britain's Gibraltar.]

Broadly, there also were fascist hints of an axis "Monroe Doctrine" for continental Europe, after the war, to exclude all outside powers.

SOUTH BEND CHILD KILLED.

South Bend, Ind., July 9 [Special].—Karl Henry Braunsdorf, 10 week old son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Braunsdorf was fatally injured tonight when a car driven by his mother crashed into a utility pole on East McKinley avenue. According to police, Mrs. Braunsdorf took her eyes off the road to look at the child lying on the front seat and lost control of the car.

ITALIAN FARMER SOLDIERS GIVEN HARVEST LEAVES

ROME, July 9.—Italian military authorities today announced that agriculture leaves have been granted to a number of farmers under arms to attend to the harvest. Leaves will not be granted to more than 30 per cent of any single army unit, however, and all who receive them must be back by Aug. 15. The only exceptions will be for threshing machine operators, whose leaves may be up to 40 days. The number affected is estimated to be scores of thousands. Winter leaves for agricultural work last November affected an estimated 300,000 soldiers.

Report Ship Captured by British by their destroyers but before the enemy was obscured one hit at extreme range was obtained by one of our capital ships on an Italian battleship."

Implies Battle Continues.

The announcement added that the Italians were being pursued and it was implied that the action continued.

An Italian version of the same fight, reported by Reuters from the Stefani account in Rome, said the battle "raged" for five and one-half hours, then continued thru the night, with Italian ships chasing the British to the south.

The Italian source was quoted as saying the Italian ships were supported by wave after wave of planes which bombed the British with heavy explosives. The Italian ships were described as returning from a convoy to Libya.

To the west, the British admiralty reported, another British force swept eastward from Gibraltar toward the central Mediterranean. This force sighted no surface ships but was credited with bagging four Italian planes and damaging seven others.

Clash off Island of Crete.

The third engagement, Reuters said, was described by Stefani as taking place Monday off the island of Crete. Reuters quoted this Stefani account:

"On Monday an Italian airplane, carrying out reconnaissance work, reported that a British squadron was navigating in the Mediterranean near the island of Candia [Crete].

"The squadron was composed of one battleship, two cruisers and an aircraft carrier.

"Italian air formations, after a flight of 500 miles across the sea, reached the enemy and dropped heavy caliber bombs despite antiaircraft fire and an attempt by the enemy to put out a smoke screen.

"A battleship and an aircraft carrier were damaged and a cruiser was sunk."

First Sea Fight in June.

The fights came on the heels of the Berlin conference of Adolf Hitler and Foreign Minister Galeazzo Ciano of Italy which informed Italian sources said gave Italy the job of "mopping up" in the Mediterranean and North Africa.

There had been no hint that the maneuvering toward a Mediterranean sea test would come to a head so quickly except that contained in an Italian radio announcement yesterday. It said that units of the British fleet had headed westward from Alexandria, but no details were given.

ENGLAND GRANTS NEW WAR CREDIT OF $3,780,000,000

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 9.—Great Britain's war and civil expenditure will total 3,425,000,000 pounds [about $13,000,000,000] in the current year even if the present rate of spending is not increased, Sir Kingsley Wood, the chancellor of the exchequer, told parliament today. He asked for an additional credit of 1 billion pounds [about $3,780,000,000], the largest sum ever named in a single vote of credit. The house granted the vote of credit.

Sir Kingsley is expected to introduce another emergency war budget before the end of the summer. The April budget, framed to meet an expenditure of $10,080,860,000, already is $2,878,800,000 short of requirements.

The chancellor of the exchequer told commons that Britain is spending $36,000,000 a day on the war. He said that from a credit of $2,646,000,000 approved by parliament in March, $2,183,500,000 had been spent.

British Battle Cruiser Hood Damaged, Italians Report

New York, July 9 (AP).—The Italian government radio reported tonight that the 42,100 ton British battle cruiser Hood had gone into dry dock at Gibraltar for "urgent repairs" after being damaged seriously in the battle of Oran July 3. The Rome broadcast, heard here by CBS, quoted a dispatch from Madrid.

FRANCE VOTES BILL TO SET UP A DICTATORSHIP

Only Four Ballot "No" in Parliament.

VICHY, France, July 9 (AP).—France's parliament today signed the death warrant of the democratic third republic by giving Premier Marshal Henri Philippe Petain unrestricted powers to write a new totalitarian constitution.

The vote of the chamber of deputies and senate, born of defeat and desperation, gave the Petain government authority to frame its own laws and constitution and create its own national assembly to ratify them.

The measure, voted with only four negative voices raised against it, declared the new constitution "must guarantee the rights of labor, family, and country." The chamber vote was 395 to 3, the senate 225 to 1.

Complete Action Today.

After formal joint approval by both houses in a session at the Vichy casino tomorrow, Marshal Petain is expected to emerge as a figurehead ruler in a government dominated by a triumvirate composed of Gen. Maxime Weygand, former allied commander in chief; former Premier and Foreign Minister Pierre Laval, and former Labor Minister Adrien Marquet.

[Geneva, Switzerland, dispatches said Frenchmen in Switzerland reported that Germany let the Petain cabinet know it must form a totalitarian government or lose the right even to rule the unoccupied zone. The new parliament, the French added, will have one house based on professional, intellectual and economic groups and another formed by representatives of "corporate families."

The three deputies who voted against the bill were the Radical Socialist Margaine and the Socialists Jean Biondi and Leon Roche. The dissenting senator was the Marquis de Chambrun.

Many Are Absent.

The chamber vote showed that less than two-thirds of the chamber's normal membership of 618 took part. These ministers or former ministers were present: Camille Chautemps, Charles Pomaret, André Fevrier, and Albert Chichery.

Former Premier Paul Reynaud, whose leadership was discarded when France decided to sue for peace, also attended. His head was swathed in bandages. It was his first appearance in public since an automobile accident in which he was injured on June 28 near Montpelier.

Government Tells Aims.

In an outline to parliament of its plans, the government said:

"At the cruelest [moment] of its history, France must understand and accept the necessity of a national revolution."

The government must have all power, the declaration continued, to "decide, undertake, negotiate, and to be able to save what must be saved, destroy what must be destroyed, build what must be built."

What was interpreted as a warning to organized labor not to try strikes appeared in the declaration's statement that the government would "subordinate" the activities of social, family, professional, communal, and regional groups "to the general interest and common good."

France now is "integrated into the continental system of production and trade," the statement said, and it will therefore be necessary "to put an end to present economic disorder by a rational organization of incorporative institutions."

It was understood Jules Jeanneney, president and one of the senate's strongest leaders, refused to attend the session.

[Former Premier Edouard Daladier, former Marine Minister Cesar Campinchi, and former Colonial Minister Georges Mandel have not been heard from for more than a week. They sailed aboard the French steamship Massilia for French North Africa on June 16. Sources in Switzerland believe they are in an English port or imprisoned in Marseilles, France.]

London Aid Suspended.

Havas distributed a communique of the ministry of foreign affairs announcing that Roger Cambon, French charge d'affairs in London, who informed the British foreign office on July 5 that he could no longer hold the diplomatic post, had been "provisionally suspended." Cambon's request that he be placed on the retirement list was refused, Havas said.

His action came after he delivered to the British foreign office the French government's protest over the British naval attack on the French Mediterranean fleet.

Food Cards Planned.

BERLIN, July 9 (AP) [By Radio].—A Vichy, France, dispatch broadcast by the German radio today quoted Albert Chichery, French minister of food, as saying France will be obliged to introduce food cards in order to protect food reserves.

How Naval Powers Stack Up

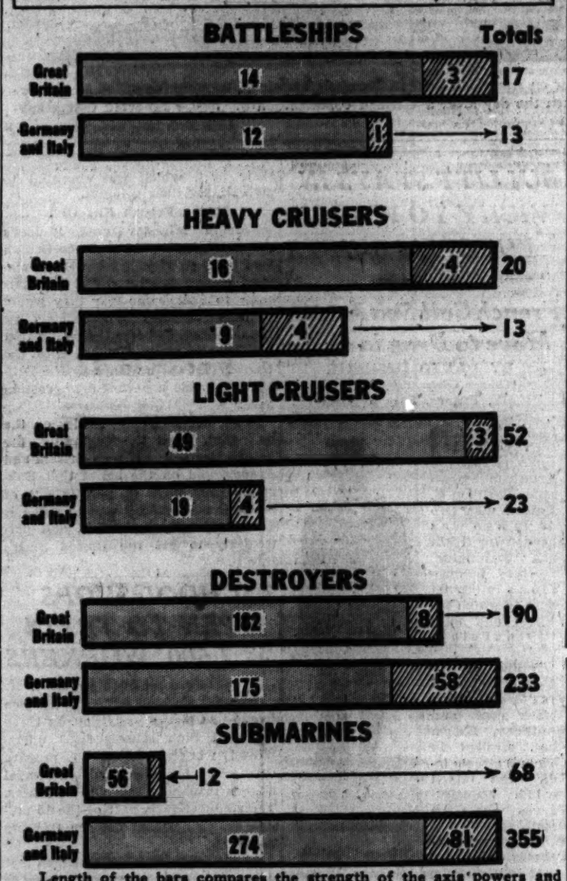
KEY: Regular Navy / Ships from France



Length of the bars compares the strength of the axis powers and Great Britain in the various classes of warships, since they have divided up the French fleet. The information on which the diagram is based is the best available, but is not final. Difference in the bore of guns and in equipment makes the value of the French warships to the British difficult to estimate.

FRANCE'S FLEET OUT; BRITISH KEEP HEAVY SHIP LEAD

Axis Powers Superior in Two Classes.

The breakup of the French fleet thru seizure and destruction of many warships by the British and German and Italian control of the remainder has altered the ratio between the great navies of Europe. Britain continues to predominate in sea fighting forces with respect to battleships and light and heavy cruisers, while the axis powers show superiority in submarines and destroyers.

Had France been able to turn over her fleet intact to Germany and Italy they would have had a big naval advantage over Britain. Conversely, had Britain received all the French ships her margin over her foes would be greater than it is.

Tables Show Strength.

The following tables were compiled from press dispatches since the British move against the French fleet. Some of the figures concerning the French vessels are necessarily approximate as the disposition of this fleet is not yet fully known:

GREAT BRITAIN.

	Own ships	Seized from French	Present strength	Building	Potential strength
Battleships	14	3	17	11	28
Heavy cruisers	16	4	20	0	20
Light cruisers	49	3	52	23	75
Destroyers	182	8	190	32	222
Submarines	56	12	68	10	78

GERMANY AND ITALY.
[Combined totals.]

Battleships	12	1	13	6	19
Heavy cruisers	9	4	13	2	15
Light cruisers	19	4	23	20	43
Destroyers	175	58	233	20	253
Submarines	274	81	355	65	420

Plane Carrier in Caribbean.

The French had two aircraft carriers when the war began. One, the Commandant Teste, was sunk by the British last week, and the second, the Bearn, is at Martinique in the Caribbean and is said to be expecting a British attack. The British have eight aircraft carriers and the axis powers have none.

The French had seven battleships in service and one building at the time of their armistice with Germany. The British seized three, one escaped and is now under German control, and the three others were damaged and are believed out of action. The eighth, the Jean Bart, is believed to be at St. Nazaire, but is unfinished and probably of no immediate value to the axis powers.

The British gained the four heavy cruisers yesterday when the French capitulated at Alexandria.

Several Ships Disabled.

The French light cruisers and destroyers were taken during the last few days by the British, who also incapacitated several French ships of these classes. In each instance, the ships remaining under French control are credited to the axis powers.

Of the 93 submarines owned by France when she asked Germany for peace, it is known that 12 have been captured by the British. One of these, the Surcouf, was the largest submarine ever built. The 81 other submarines are added to the axis total, even tho Germany and Italy may not yet control all of them.

Sea Strength of U. S.

	On hand.	Building.	Strength.
Battleships	15	8	23
Aircraft carriers	5	2	7
Heavy cruisers	18	0	18
Light cruisers	17	8	25
Destroyers	219	40	259
Submarines	95	19	114

Some of the United States war vessels, including three battleships, are over-age.

IRELAND WARNED NEXT BIG BATTLE MIGHT BE FOUGHT ON OWN SOIL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Ireland, July 9—The next great battle in the war might be fought out on Irish territory, Seam Lemass, Ireland's minister of supply, warned in a radio address tonight.

"We are in the center of the war area," he said, "and declarations of neutrality will not make us immune to attack. Invasion will be resisted and, apart from our own efforts, may produce counter-invasion [by Britian.]"

Lemass cautioned the public to stock up on food and coal.

Irish Coast to Be Mined.

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, July 9 (AP).—Irish coasts will be mined as a safeguard against any German attempt at invasion, it was reported today.

ASSAILS BRITISH M. P.'S WHO "RUN OUT OF ENGLAND"

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 9.—Members of parliament who have crossed the Atlantic recently "on missions invented by themselves" were criticized in the house of commons today by Mrs. M. C. Tate, a Conservative. She asked Clement R. Attlee, lord privy seal, whether these members, whom she accused of running away from England, "should forego forever the right to sit in commons."

Attlee did not answer, but to the persistent chorus, "Name, name," Mrs. Tate responded, "Marylebone," the name of the London constituency represented by Capt. A. S. Cunningham-Reid. Then she raised three fingers to indicate she had three members of parliament in mind.

Political correspondents said Mrs. Tate on Thursday will ask the government how many members of parliament have been granted exit permits in recent months and what they are doing abroad.

UNFOLD THRILL SHOW'S DRAMA IN REHEARSALS

Participants Go Thru Acts at Soldiers' Field.

BY WILLIAM MOORE.

The mighty drama of the Chicago Police and Fire Thrill show began unfolding in Soldiers' field yesterday when actual field rehearsals began.

Great aerial ladder trucks roared thru the gates, and picked companies of firemen demonstrated the spectacular feats they will present before a crowd of 80,000 in Soldiers' field next Sunday afternoon.

Final "Battle" Plans Laid.

Final plans for the police battle with outlaws were made by Chief John Prendergast of the city's uniformed police, Chief John L. Sullivan of the detective bureau, Chief Roger F. Shanahan of the park police, and Lieut. Kyran Phelan of the detective bureau robbery detail.

The giant aerial ladder fire trucks, designed for fighting skyscraper fires, shot their great ladders five stories into the air. And daring firemen scampered to the tops, to descend a moment later by ropes.

Hold Men Aloft with Poles.

Almost as fast as it can be told, his men hoisted ladders 66 feet into the air in what is called a church raise, and then scampered to the top. In this performance the ladders have no other support than poles in the hands of firemen on the ground.

The temporary six story building, in which the firemen will dramatize a battle against flames with their water towers and aerial trucks, arose as if by magic in the north end of the field. It is being built by James M. Gleason, engineer in charge of the department's maintenance and equipment.

Drummers and Buglers Drill.

The celebrated drum and bugle corps of the Police post of the American Legion was at its best.

Chief Prendergast will explain the work of the uniformed police and tell of their part in the show in a radio address over W-G-N at 3:15 p. m. today.

The Police and Fire Thrill show will be held at 2 o'clock next Sunday afternoon, under the auspices of the Chicago police and fire departments and the Chicago Park district, in cooperation with THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Seats will be 25 cents for adults and 10 cents for children. None will be reserved. Tickets are now on sale at the public service offices of THE TRIBUNE, in Tribune Tower and at 1 South Dearborn street, at The Fair, and at Gate 0, Soldiers' field.

FILIPINO SEEKS HELP OF U. S. FOR DUTCH E. INDIES

MANILA, P. I., July 9 (AP).—Assemblyman Faust Gonzalez-Sicco today said he would introduce in the Philippine national assembly tomorrow a resolution asking the United States to protect the Dutch East Indies and the French colonies in the far east.

The assemblyman said the resolution would set forth that the conquest of the Netherlands and France placed their oriental colonies in danger of occupation by other nations.

Their occupation by another power, the proposed resolution continues, would give that power "so much strategic advantage over the Philippines that it may neutralize and greatly weaken the help the American army and navy give the Philippines in case the islands are invaded."

CANADIANS OVER 16 TO REGISTER TO AID DEFENSE

OTTAWA, Ont., July 9 (AP).—Sometime next month, all Canadians over 16 years of age must register for possible home defense duty. The registration will be held around Aug. 14 on the pattern of a national election, with precinct registration places.

More than 7,000,000 of Canada's 11,000,000 population will be affected, officials estimated. Classifications will include sex, age, occupation, physical infirmities, military training if any, and racial origin.

Overseas service will remain on a voluntary basis. The maintenance of vital home industries also is a porpose of the program.

MAPS HUGE PLAN TO PROVIDE ARMY TANKS AT SAVING

Urges Mass Production at ¼ Present Costs.

BY FRANK CIPRIANI.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Peoria, Ill., July 9.—Sufficient tanks for any military emergency can be manufactured in a reasonable time and at a reasonable cost if the governmental authorities responsible for national defense pursue a sensible course in the procurement of armament needs.

This opinion was voiced today by Byron C. Heacock, president of the Caterpillar Tractor company, makers of tracktype vehicles on whose principle of operation the modern war tank is based. Heacock urged a three point program along these lines:

1. Let the army and not the politicians figure out what the army needs.

2. Concentrate the manufacture of tanks in plants devoted exclusively to tank manufacture.

3. Turn out tanks in mass production.

Heacock, a scholarly looking, forceful business man, who runs his vast tractor works with infinite precision, cited experience, facts and figures in support of his program. His comments were based on reports that the government is paying $25,000 for light tanks and $45,000 for heavy ones.

Blames Stupid System.

These costs are not excessive, he said, considering what he described as the stupid system of procurement for national defense needs. Considering circumstances, tank makers are not profiteering at the present time, he added.

But, he said, more production would materially cut costs. Requirements should be lumped, was the way Heacock put it.

Ten months ago, said Heacock, the government asked for bids on 400 light tanks and let a contract. Invitations are now out on a second bid for about 400 more light tanks, he said. These are the first tanks of any quantity to be ordered since the European war.

"However, these are just dabs," asserted the tractor company president. "Many, many more than these two orders are needed. If the cost is considered high, the fault lies in buying dribbles when multitudes are wanted. The army and not the politicians should figure out what the army needs. My criticism is of the master minding of the politicians running things; not the army."

Plant Costs Cited.

He illustrated his point. The government invites bids on tanks. The lowest satisfactory bidder gets the contracts. Unless he has an idle or empty plant, he must convert the plant he has. New technical personnel may be necessary. All this is costly. But he proceeds to make tanks. He completes his contract. But he has no assurance that he will get another contract, and thus he may be left in the hole, so to speak, with a tank making factory but no order to make more tanks.

"This system is wrong," said Heacock. "On the other hand, suppose the government gave a manufacturer an order for 10,000 tanks instead of 400. That would be entirely different and the manufacturer could, with such a big job, engage in mass production. Costs would drop."

He cited his own tractor plant to emphasize the point. "First of all, he said, bids on the light tanks ranged from approximately $18,000 to $30,000. The low figure got the job. Each tank weighed about 22,000 pounds, without the guns or engine.

Price Four Times Too High.

"In paying about $18,000 for a 22,000 pound tank, without guns or engine, the government is spending around 80 cents a pound for tanks," said Heacock. "Against this our company sells 33,000 pound tractors for 21 cents a pound—with engine included. To the government the price would be less than 20 cents a pound. The main reason for this difference is that we grind tractors out day in and day out. It is a case of large, concentrated, and specialized production against a system of loose production, so far as tanks are concerned."

The light tanks now wanted weigh 24,000 pounds, with guns and engine. The engines need not be expensive. After all, he said, tanks are only attacking gun mounts and have only to carry their own weight.

Motors Are No Problem.

The motors do not require terrific pulling power. Each of the tanks require about 2½ tons of armor steel, costing $60 to $100 a ton. The plate is ⅜ to ⅝ of an inch thick. The fabrication, welding and riveting, is expensive, however.

Heacock said his company was invited to bid on tanks but did not respond. To do so the company would have had to stop making tractors. Tractors, used to haul big guns and other military equipment, are as important in war as tanks, he pointed out. He said he has worked harmoniously with army ordnance officials at Rock Island and elsewhere and has found them alert and on their toes. It is his belief they would step up production if it were not for political master minding.

Report Demands on Rumania

With Germany and Italy reported to be demanding a part of Transylvania for Hungary, and Bulgaria pressing for the Dobruja, Rumania appeared to be facing a further partition following her loss of two provinces to Russia.

Bessarabia Absorbed by Russia in New Republic

MOSCOW, July 9 (AP).—Formation of a Moldavian republic in the soviet Russian union, composed of 2,000,000 Moldavians in Russia and in the province of Bessarabia recently taken by Russia from Rumania, was approved today and will be submitted to the supreme soviet of the soviet union. The move was initiated by the Moldavian autonomous republic and the Moldavian communist party in the Ukraine.

HITLER'S SCHEME FOR NEW EUROPE STIRS UP FRIGHT

Nations Seek to Please German Dictator.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, July 9.—With Germany and England engaged in last minute preparations for their final battle, western Europe, including France, Belgium, Holland, Norway, Denmark, and Sweden, and southeastern Europe, particularly Rumania, Hungary, and Bulgaria, are fearing what the Germans call the "greatest revolution of Europe."

In France a rump parliament is abolishing or, more accurately, "reforming" the French constitution according to the authoritarian pattern. Georges Bonnet, former French foreign minister, seeks to place the blame for the war on England.

But whatever French politicians who support the government of Marshal Henri Petain may attempt to do to please Berlin "comes too late," according to the Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung.

Says Arms Have Decided.

"Arms have decided," it said. "A life side by side between France and Germany cannot be part of the life of the new Europe."

The newspaper declares that the men who are patching together the new Vichy constitution are "the same old French democrats who now want to create an authoritarian government. This experiment comes too late for the new order in Europe. This new Europe will be the creation of the victor for whom Nazism and Fascism are not mere emergency creations but the expressions of revolutionary dynamics."

Reports about alleged ill treatment of German prisoners by the French is said to indicate that Germany is against compromise and wants to compel France to accept whatever position Adolf Hitler chooses to allot to France in his "creation of a new Europe."

The position of Scandinavia was elucidated by Alfred Rosenberg, the man who is responsible for the Nazi philosophy of life and its development, in a speech before the foreign press and diplomats today.

Takes a Dig at England.

"Fate has willed that the German empire take under its protection the entire area from which in the past the Germanic nations emigrated," he said.

Seeks Economic Unity.

Rosenberg emphasized the "important rôle of Germany in bringing about the unity of European economies."

"Germany is building up a gigantic system of canals which will connect the region of the North sea and the Baltic with the Mediterranean," he said. "The network of automobile roads will increase the possibility of connections between north and south, and airlines will bridge these areas. This creates a continental European sphere of interests, the foundation for a continental community of fate."

Connections between the regions of the Baltic and the Danube river can also be established "only thru the German reich," Rosenberg continued. "The present position compels all to reorganize their exports and to consider all possibilities to sell their goods in Europe itself."

Urge Close Coöperation.

In southeastern Europe Rumania's Iron Guard is clamoring for the overthrow of King Carol and for close coöperation with Germany.

Hungarian leaders are advocating close friendship with Germany and have been willing to make important concessions in order to obtain Germany's permission to seize Transylvania, now a part of Rumania.

Bulgaria has been profuse in her protestations of loyalty to Germany—if she gets permission to take part of Dobruja, also held by Rumania. Germany is mapping out a course which will enable her to make the best uses of this eagerness for authoritarian protection and to preserve peace in this area in order to safeguard the production of goods she needs from these countries.

FRENCH KEEP PLANE CARRIER NEAR SHORE IN MARTINIQUE PORT

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, July 9 (AP).—The 22,146-ton French aircraft carrier Bearn was reported today to be anchored so close inshore at Fort de France, Martinique, that it would be almost impossible to operate planes from her deck in case of a clash with British ships blockading the port.

In addition to French naval craft concentrated at Fort de France, it was reported that several heavily-gunned merchantmen were there.

The Bearn was understood to have been two days out of a Canadian port when France capitulated, and was ordered to proceed to Martinique.

Attack Feared Near.

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP).—Officials showed increasing concern today over possible naval action near the French island of Martinique in the Caribbean. Some reports were that British warships might act soon against French naval units there.

BULLITT STAYS IN VICHY TO WATCH EUROPE'S SHIFTS

French Call Sea Attack Move to Drag in U. S.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, July 5 [Delayed].—The European power realignments today took on such complex contours that the American ambassador, William C. Bullitt, who two days ago was headed for Spain and Washington, received instructions to remain here to watch political and military developments.

William C. Bullitt.

Bullitt, in his diplomatic suit of striped pants, black coat, and Anthony Eden hat, strolled in Vichy's streets today and talked with acquaintances whom he met.

French political circles consider that British Prime Minister Winston Churchill's order to the British navy to seize or sink the French fleet was one of desperation, and they compare it to the Norwegian expedition of ill fated results.

See Move to Get U. S. in War.

The conclusion is reached by some European observers that Churchill's action had more political than military significance and was aimed especially at precipitating the United States into the European war as quickly as possible.

The French insist that their fleet could have become in no circumstances any danger to England. They make a distinction between Churchill's and other British opinion.

What specially intrigues political observers here is how the decision of Berlin and Rome to revoke the armistice conditions providing for dismantling of the French naval bases in the Mediterranean will affect the situation. The French are furious at the British because of the loss of their fleet, which was essential to maintaining their colonies.

British-French Rift Old.

Foreign Minister Paul Boudol's statement indicating that the British held back on France from the beginning, fearing to let men and materials come to France for fear they would be needed at home for defense against the Germans, and also indicating that the French were dragged into the war against their wishes by the British, has made a powerful impression here.

It set the seal of authority on the fact that, from the beginning, the breach was wide between Britain and France, and on the belief that England's only hope of getting out of the war successfully was to make it as widespread as possible, and particularly to get the United States into it.

3 SCHOOL SHOPS OPEN TO TRAIN 1,500 WORKERS

National defense advanced on two fronts in Chicago yesterday. In three technical high schools 1,500 unemployed workers began to prepare themselves for jobs requiring special skill in machine shops and foundries. Their education is part of the 15 million dollar national defense training program.

At the same time business men met with officials of the army and navy at a conference arranged by the Chicago Association of Commerce for the purpose of coördinating the demands of the services with problems of supply faced by manufacturers.

A committee was named to organize and direct defense preparations in this area. Stanley P. Farwell, chairman of the association's subcommittee on training workers, is the head of this committee. Among those chosen to serve with him are Col. Donald Armstrong, procurement officer of the 6th corps area, and Commander Ralph D. Spalding, a staff officer of Rear Admiral W. C. Watts of the 9th naval district.

IF YOU FIND YOURSELF LOSING SALES BY QUITTING TOO SOON
—too much acid in your bladder may be a contributing cause. Right now, because of kidney sluggishness, the contents of your bladder may be so highly acid that they are constantly irritating those sensitive bladder linings. Such excess acidity can cause those "overwhelming" urges which make you get up at night and feel all-in the next day. It can also cause those burning sensations, itching, painful passages, backpains, pains in the lower abdomen and headaches. Under such physical handicaps and drains, you cannot be expected to have your full "fighting for business" powers.
Too much acid in your bladder can be due to the failure of your kidneys to sufficiently dilute the acids and the by-products of metabolism which are expelled thru your bladder. These by-products may reach your bladder in such a highly concentrated acid condition that they are literally torturing your bladder linings and causing those discomforts. For such a condition—
Take FOLEY PILLS—the three-way pills which stimulate sluggish kidneys, dilute and neutralize the over-acid contents of the bladder, and actually transform those over-acid contents into a bland fluid which soothes the bladder linings whose irritation may be causing those "overwhelming urges," backaches, getting up nights, etc.
For the sake of hitting the ball hard again, start taking FOLEY PILLS—the pills that stimulate, dilute, neutralize, and soothe. Quick results . . . quick comfort . . . quick satisfaction . . . or your money refunded. At your druggist.

TELLS HOW RADIO LINKED GERMAN FIGHTING FORCES

Planes, Tanks and Troops Able to Time Attacks.

BY LOUIS P. LOCHNER.

BERLIN, July 9 (AP).—The question I have been asked most frequently since returning from four trips to the zone of operations in the west is:

"How do you explain Germany's military success?"

Tho all of these trips were undertaken since the start of the great offensive May 10, invariably I must point out that I am no military expert. My views simply are those of an observing layman.

Yet it seems to me certain facts are obvious to any one who, like myself, could move freely among the troops, go to the very front lines, see what the retreating armies left behind and how they left it, and talk to prisoners of war.

Strategy Plays Leading Rôle.

In a nutshell, it can be stated that perhaps no nation ever was prepared more completely, more scientifically, and with greater attention to detail than was Germany. Strategy also played a leading rôle.

Beyond that Germany had the dreaded stukas [dive bombers], weapons for which the allied powers apparently had no match. It also seems German shells and bombs were filled with explosives more effective than anything the world had seen.

Tanks Use Wireless.

I shall try to develop more concretely various ideas gathered during my visits to the front:

Take, for instance, Germany's system of communications. Various officers agreed in telling me that, during the gigantic tank fights, every Nazi tank was connected with the surrounding ones and with the air force above by wireless.

This meant that the stukas' descent on the scene of a tank battle could be timed in such a way that the bombs fell at the critical moment and into the allied tank most dangerous to the German force.

During artillery duels, such as that which preceded the fall of Dunkirk, I noticed German scouting planes directed the Nazi artillery fire by wireless. The French, on the other hand, seemed content to fire antiaircraft guns at the German planes.

Again, in observing an encounter between English and German forces from the heights of Renaix on June 2, I noticed German planes directing the German artillery while, on the opposite side, no planes were visible in the air.

Infantrymen Have Earphones.

Communications also were maintained between the stukas and the lightninglike "blue devils," infantry on motorcycles which emitted a special smoke making them practically invisible. And I understand, tho I did not happen to see it myself, that even the infantry on foot had soldiers with earphones and radio equipment communicating as they marched along.

The German army stressed not only technical communication, but attached equal importance to connections with the rear. One of the strongest impressions I took with me from each trip was the smooth functioning of the reinforcement system.

Each unit's route of march and distance to be covered was stated precisely. On many occasions soldiers told me they had not slept for several days.

Road Builders Valuable.

"We know that if we don't arrive at such-and-such a place, our comrades will be left in the lurch while those following us will have their plans upset," they said. "So there's only one thing to do—get where we have been ordered to go."

Among the more important organizations insuring the safe movement of reserves were the so-called "O. T." men—battalions of road and bridge building experts who, in peace times, work under inspector Gen. Fritz Todt on Germany's automobile super-highways.

Whenever we followed the advancing army, we were sure to find "O. T." men ahead of us—repairing bridges, filling up holes on airfields, clearing roads of obstacles.

Equally ever present were German ambulances, ready to take care of the wounded immediately. Another organization much in evidence was the Nazi Welfare league, with soup kitchens, huge staks of bread and other edibles for civilian populations.

SHANGHAI JAPS POST BILLS, 'DOWN WITH AMERICA'

Seize British Vessel in Harbor.

SHANGHAI, China, July 9 (AP).—Handbills carrying the slogan "Down with America" were posted in Shanghai's streets today and a Japanese warship emphasized Tokio's attitude toward England by seizing a British steamer in Shanghai's harbor.

These manifestations of Japanese discontent with United States and British policies in the far east coincided with a Japanese protest against "mistreatment" of Japanese gendarmes arrested by United States marines on July 7 and Tokio's rejection of a British refusal to close the Burma supply route to China.

The anti-American handbills were posted by "indignant Japanese patriots," said the newspaper Tairiku Shimpo, which announced that a mass meeting of Japanese residents tomorrow would discuss the marines' "insult" to Japanese authority.

The gendarmes, armed and in plain clothes, were arrested after they appeared in the marine guarded zone of the international settlement.

American Apology Asked.

Maj. Gen. Saburo Miura, commander of the gendarmes, demanded an apology today from the commander of marines. He declared "speedy settlement of the incident is necessary or the matter is likely to take a grave turn."

Miura previously had apologized for the presence of the gendarmes in the American defense area. His letter today stated new facts had been discovered "revealing that the Americans insulted the entire Japanese army."

Col. DeWitt Peck, the marines' commander, who has denied the Japanese were mistreated, indicated informally that no apology would be forthcoming.

3,000 Ton Steamer Seized.

The British ship seized here was the 3,000 ton steamer Shengking. Domei [Japanese news agency] charged she was carrying munitions belonging to "a certain belligerent country" into Japanese occupied territory.

British sources said that the Shengking was carrying rifle ammunition from the French concession at Tientsin to the French concession here, and that Japanese had approved her manifest.

Reports from Tokio said Japan is prepared for military action against the British crown colony of Hongkong if Britain persists in her refusal to close the Burma road to supplies for the armies of the Chinese generalissimo, Chiang Kai-Shek.

Washington's Concern Grows.

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP).—A continuing controversy between American and Japanese military authorities in Shanghai was looked upon with growing concern in official quarters tonight, despite statements by both Secretary of State Cordell Hull and the Japanese ambassador, Kensuke Horinouchi, that the matter should be settled locally.

Fears were expressed in some quarters that the Japanese army might seek to fan the incident, which grew out of the arrest of Japanese gendarmes by United States marines, into larger proportions in an effort to create a sweeping Asiatic challenge to foreign powers.

Without indicating whether any instructions had been sent to Shanghai officials, Secretary Hull said he was inquiring into the incident and awaiting fuller information before determining what steps, if any, he would take.

With far eastern events taking a more serious turn generally, President Roosevelt said there were no present plans to move the main body of the United States fleet from Hawaiian waters. There had been speculation it might be sent to the Panama canal vicinity.

Chungking Suffers 20th Raid.

CHUNGKING, China, July 9 (AP).—Japanese planes raided this Chinese capital today for the 20th time this summer, flying over the American embassy section and dropping more than 200 bombs into the center of the city.

Many incendiary and detonation bombs exploded harmlessly on the river edge. Others smashed the central area, in which nearly half of all structures already had been ruined. All electric and telephone wires are down and many thorofares are blocked by debris.

Other Japanese squadrons flew past Chungking to the west, their destination unknown here.

RUMANIA BANS FOREIGN SALE OF OIL FIRM STOCK

BUCHAREST, Rumania, July 9 (AP).—A government decree prohibiting the sale outside this country of stock in any foreign owned Rumanian company was signed tonig t a few hours after reports had spread that the $100,000,000 British oil interests in Rumania might be transferred to soviet Russia.

Speculation that such a transfer was in prospect had arisen simultaneously with disclosures that British produced oil has been going to Germany. British and other foreign interests had been "forced by circumstance," the general manager of one oil company said, to send all their oil to the Nazis, save for small quantities to Jugo-Slavia, Hungary, and Bulgaria.

The war in the Mediterranean, he explained, had prevented British exportation. During the day armed soldiers appeared at offices of all foreign oil companies, including American concerns, to prevent the removal of records concerning the oil supplies which are so vital to Germany's army.

MOSCOW PICKS CANDIDATES FOR BALTIC ELECTION

Short of Reds, It Forms a Workers' Bloc.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, July 9.—Campaigns for parliamentary elections next Sunday are in full swing in Latvia, Estonia, and Lithuania. Until today the only candidate lists formed by the local communist party have appeared. Because of a shortage of communists, members of the communist internationale have been obliged to form a national workers' bloc and candidates for office include members of Baltic governments which were put into office by Moscow.

The Latvian communist party indorsed the published election lists and said:

"Candidates from the Latvian workers' bloc have been carefully selected from the ranks of the workers, farmers, and laboring intelligentsia organizations. Many of them were in prison during the recent dictatorship or were fighting secretly for liberty and democracy. The absence of a free press, speech, and the right of assembly and to organize explain why the names of the candidates are not better known to the nation.

Ban Personal Judgment.

"Therefore, workers' organizations can better decide whether they are useful representatives of the nation. In this election the voters must not look for names of persons widely known to the public, but they must, with discipline, vote for the program of the Latvian workers' bloc without exercising any personal judgment."

In all three Baltic countries the first action of the new so-called democratic governments was to place a more rigid control over the press.

Attack Old Governments.

The monopoly of the press by the Moscow controled governments has been used to propagandize the idea of a close political and economic union with Moscow. Previous Baltic governments have been furiously attacked.

The Latvian government tonight dissolved the civic guard, the "alzsagi," which in 1934 helped Karl Ulmanis achieve dominant power. The organization's weapons must be turned over to the army.

In Estonia the government announced that parliament hereafter would have only one house. The house of deputies was abolished and the single chamber will be called the state council. Compulsory school attendance age for Estonian children was raised to 16 years from 14.

Disputed Diamond

Package in which the stone, which is center of litigation, was mailed from England to New York for 70 cents.

New York, July 9 [Special].—The biggest uncut diamond in the world, the $700,000 Getulio Vargas, which has about the size and appearance of a glass egg, today was revealed to be in New York. This disclosure came thru cable dispatches that ownership of the huge stone is being contested in London courts by a firm of British diamond merchants and a Fifth avenue jeweler.

Triefus Brothers, the London merchants, sought an injunction to prevent Harry Winston of New York from disposing of the 726.60 carat stone. They asked damages for alleged breach of contract and an accounting of his profits in purchase of the diamond, which ranks as the fourth largest ever known and the largest ever found in Brazil. Winston denied entering into any contract with Triefus Brothers and said his counsel expects the British action will be dismissed.

FUSE OF MEXICAN REVOLT SIZZLES IN WAKE OF VOTE

Many Predict Rebellion if Almazan Loses.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, Mexico, July 9.—As the Mexicans themselves say it, "the fuse is lit, and thruout the republic, altho it is difficult to predict open rebellion, there are all the elements for some such action here."

Such are also the only possible conclusions of an impartial observer after a series of brief visits to towns and villages in a 200 mile radius of the capital, sampling public sentiment, and a study of expressions in dispatches to newspapers from various parts of Mexico.

Cardenas Holds the Key.

If President Lazaro Cardenas acts soon to indicate that he proposes to respect what many Mexicans here call a national demonstration of the people's will, the fuse will sputter out and no further disorders will occur. If he remains aloof and uninterested in Sunday's manifestation of public opinion they fear the country again, for the eighth time in 30 years, may be a civil battleground.

The sentiment expressed here and elsewhere in Sunday's presidential election in support of Gen. Juan Andreau Almazan, a conservative candidate who bucked the established political machine, is not dying, his followers declare, but instead seems to be gaining strength. Gen. Almazan yesterday made it clear that he believes he has been chosen president.

The administration, thru the leaders of the communistic PRM [Mexican Revolutionary Party] and the CTM [Mexican Workers' confederation], flatly denied this. PRM this morning published "unofficial, but complete" returns showing that Almazan received 943,452 votes thruout the nation; the PRM candidate, Gen. Manuel Avila Camacho, 3,108,197, and Gen. Rafael Sanchez Tapia, the alternate PRM candidate, 7,301.

Camacho Aid Concedes Nothing.

This afternoon a close friend and adviser of Gen Camacho, talking to this writer about the election, said, "We don't care what happened Sunday. We are conceding nothing. The vote will show that Camacho won. The Almazan people are a bootblack and farmer army. You can't fight with such troops."

However, talks with many junior army officers convince one that there is no unanimity of army opinion. It is clearly evident that the ranking officers are strongly for Camacho. The junior officers, from major down, and the rank and file favor Almazan. This was to be expected, for Cardenas, who is head of the PRM and a personal friend of Camacho, put trusted men in the important posts.

The position of President Cardenas in the current situation is peculiar. Studiously he has endeavored to impress the people of his impartiality, despite the fact that he organized and controls the PRM and the CTM. Since the election he has followed a course that will allow him to favor either candidate without apparent inconsistency.

URGE HULL TO LET WAR REFUGEES IN ON SPECIAL VISAS

30 Chicagoans Named to Help Place Children.

APPLICATION BLANKS.

Application forms now in use in Chicago for persons wishing to accept European refugee children for the duration of the war are available at the Chicago Tribune public service bureaus in the Tribune Tower, 435 North Michigan avenue, and at 1 South Dearborn street. Yesterday 164 calls were made to the bureaus in regard to these forms: 102 personal calls, 35 by telephone, and 27 by mail. In the three days the blanks have been available, there have been 333 calls for them.

To facilitate the entry of English refugee children into this country, Secretary of State Cordell Hull was urged yesterday to grant them special visas for the duration of the war. The appeal to Hull was made by Miss Sophonisba Breckinridge, director of the school of social service administration at the University of Chicago.

It was reported in New York late last night that the state department had agreed to let the young refugees into this country under visitors' visas, which would make inoperative the British monthly immigration quota of 6,500.

Miss Breckinridge explained that under immigration rules the children would have to satisfy the straingent requirements of the immigration law. Numerous affidavits would have to be obtained to prove mental and physical soundness.

30 Chicagoans Nominated.

Miss Breckinridge sent a telegram to Secretary Hull just before she joined in the nomination of 30 Chicagoans to represent the United States Committee for the Care of European Children which will find temporary homes for these refugees.

"If the children come in as immigrants much valuable time will be wasted because of red tape surrounding such entry," she said.

"We know that these children will not become citizens of the United States. They will be here only until their homes are in such condition that they may be taken back to them."

The Most Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, auxiliary bishop of the Catholic archdiocese, will fly to New York tonight to meet with other members of the American committee. He is the only Chicago member of the national group.

Name Reckord for Chairmanship.

Chairman of the Chicago group, according to nominations, will be M. K. Reckord, general director of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society. Wilfred S. Reynolds, director of the Council of Social Agencies of Chicago, was nominated secretary. Other nominations are:

Miss Edith Abbott	Pierce Atwater
James R. Douglas	Phillip Dodd
Miss Marie Youngberg	Miss Edna Zimmerman
Jacob Kepecs	Leo M. Lyons
Rev. Walter K. Morley	Herbert Kennedy
Mrs. Kenneth F. Rich	Magnus I. Rensing
Mrs. Otto Schmidt	Bishop B. J. Sheil
Miss Ethel Verry	Mrs. Amelia Tidball
H. S. Voorhees	Chauncey McCormick
Mrs. Edw. L. Brewer	Dr. Joseph Brenneman
Edwin H. Cassells	Mrs. M. Ogden West
Dexter Cummings	Joel D. Hunter
Lester Selig	Samuel A. Goldsmith
Rev. Paul Johnson	Rev. John Leslie

These nominations were made at a meeting held in the headquarters of the Children's Aid society at 208 West Washington street.

AMERICA GIVING AID

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 9.—The United States is exerting every effort to coöperate with the British government in bringing British children to this country, but is encountering difficulty in finding ships to transport the refugees, the White House said today.

No consideration has been given to relaxing immigration quotas thus far because Britain has not yet exhausted its quota, according to White House Secretary Stephen T. Early.

Under the present quota, 65,000 British citizens may enter this country in a year. Monthly immigration is restricted to 10 per cent of this number, so that it would be possible to bring 6,500 children into the country each month until the quota is filled.

There have been reports that the American state department was slow in granting visas to enable the removal of children from the war zone, but these were emphatically denied at the state department.

"As far as this government is concerned, the children are welcome and we realize that time is of the essence," Early said. "The government has taken every precaution and extended every effort to aid the refugee committees in New York and London.

"And I repeat for emphasis, if any bottleneck exists it is in shipping facilities coming this way."

The moment that the New York committee informs the state department that a certain number of homes have been pledged, the state department instantly cables America's London embassy clearance for an identical number of visas, Early said. This clearance is transmitted to the London immigration committee, and all barriers except transportation facilities are removed to expedite the transfer.

2 STRATOLINERS SET RECORDS ON HOP ACROSS U. S.

Fly at New Altitudes on Maiden Trips.

New York, July 9 [Special].—Two TWA stratoliners, speeding across the continent in opposite directions, set new records today for commercial planes.

The flights of the giant air transports inaugurated the Transcontinental Western Air line's coast to coast passenger trips at new high altitudes. The ships are designed with pressure equalizing equipment to enable them to fly to 20,000 feet without discomfort to passengers.

Makes One Stop.

The 2,608 mile flight from California to New York was made in the elapsed time of 12 hours and 14 minutes, bettering the old eastbound transport record by 3 hours and 28 minutes. The ship was an hour and 11 minutes ahead of its own schedule. It made one stop of 33 minutes at Kansas City.

A sister ship reached Los Angeles from New York about an hour after the eastbound plane landed here. It made the trip in 14 hours and 9 minutes, bettering the westbound record by 2 hours and 49 minutes. The plane carried 14 passengers and a crew of six.

Movie Actors Aboard.

The eastbound ship carried 15 passengers and a crew of six. Among those aboard were movie actors Tyrone Power, Paulette Goddard, Nancy Kelly, and Brenda Joyce and several movie company executives. The top speed of the trip was 248 miles an hour over Illinois and Indiana.

APPEALS COURT UPSETS INCOME TAX DECISION

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday reversed a decision of the federal board of tax appeals which held that four former Chicago taxicab operators owed the government $130,461 in income taxes for 1931. The action grew out of the sale in 1931 of the Checker Taxicab company for $837,500 in cash and notes.

The four officials involved were Robert E. McLaughlin, former president, now a saloon owner; Harry I. Gordon, now dead, who was vice president of the firm; Max Raifman, former secretary, and Attorney Joseph H. Roach, legal representative of the company.

In his plea to the higher court Attorney James O'Callaghan, representing the appellants, held that the company officials received only $475,000 in cash for the sale and that the balance in notes had no value. The tax appeals board had ruled that the notes were worth their face value.

SENATE AFFIRMS STIMSON FOR WAR POST IN CABINET

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 9.—President Roosevelt's appointment of Henry L. Stimson as secretary of war was confirmed by the senate late today after two days of furious debate on war intervention. The vote was 56 to 28.

Secretary Stimson.

The senate will act tomorrow on the President's appointment of Col. Frank Knox of Chicago as secretary of the navy. The Knox appointment is expected to be approved by substantially the same vote.

Today's full dress debate on the war intervention issue equaled the senate storm which broke when the Stimson and Knox nominations were received from the White House on June 20, four days before the opening of the Republican national convention.

Senators Assail Appointees.

Senator after senator took the floor to assail Stimson and Knox as the foremost interventionists in the Republican party and to warn that their confirmation means another long step toward involvement in war. Senator Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.] repeated his charge that the purpose of the appointments was not national solidarity, or the creation of a coalition cabinet, but the constitution of a war cabinet.

The only defense of the nominations came from Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, who closed the debate with what his colleagues described as an apology. Barkley maintained that thousands of Democrats are qualified for the cabinet positions, but that nonpartisanship is assential to the success of the nation's preparedness program.

Barkley said he certainly would disagree with Stimson's proposals—in a speech 24 hours before he was asked to take the cabinet job—that American ports be opened for the use of allied warships and that American munitions be sent to the allies in American vessels, convoyed by the American navy.

Applause Angers Barkley.

"Mr. Stimson's proposals were based on his conception of the best defense of the United States," Barkley told the senate. "Men may honestly disagree on that question. No matter how strongly he entertains those views he could not exercise them unless congress passed legislation authorizing such a course."

Barkley obviously was angered earlier in the debate when spectators in the crowded galleries vigorously applauded Senator Millard E. Tydings [D., Md.], who was speaking in opposition to the Stimson and Knox appointments. The Maryland senator's denunciation of the war intervention argument was challenged by Senator Claude Pepper [D., Fla.]. Tydings asked Pepper whether he favored an immediate declaration of was against Germany. When Pepper indicated that he did not advocate a declaration of war, Tydings asked him what he would have the country do "that is not already being done."

Would Demand Plane Output.

"For one thing," the Florida New Dealer replied, "I would have the congress pass a law which would authorize somebody for the United States government to make Henry Ford and anybody else make airplanes for Great Britain or anybody else they said to make them for."

"That is going quite away afield to have the congress of the United States pass a law compelling an American manufacturer to make arms for a foreign country," Senator Tydings replied. "I certainly feel that if we are going that far we might as well declare war and take the whole cake at one bite, because we would very soon be eating the last bite anyway."

Pepper asked whether it was not true that Great Britain's best chance to win the war was to have air superiority over Germany.

"I am not worried about Great Britain winning the war. I hope she does. What I am worried about is the United States of America," said Senator Tydings. The spectators gave Senator Tydings an ovation and Majority Leader Barkley leaped to his feet, his face red with indignation.

Mead Silences Spectators.

"I insist that the chair enforce the rule against demonstrations in the galleries," Barkley demanded of Senator James M. Mead [D., N. Y.], who was presiding. "If the rule cannot be enforced, a motion will be made to clear the galleries. Occupants of the galleries know the rules of the senate."

Senator Mead silenced the spectators and Barkley subsided.

Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] told the senate it was significant that Stimson was asked to take the war secretaryship just 24 hours after he made his war-like speech at Yale university on June 18.

"I am sure that Mr. Stimson would not have taken a position in the cabinet if he had felt that the President of the United States disagreed with his views," Wheeler declared, "and I certainly cannot conceive of the President taking him into the cabinet if he did not agree with Mr. Stimson's views.

"I believe that members of the senate, regardless of party, who believe that we should not get into war, ought to vote against the confirmation of the nomination of a man who has constantly advocated steps to get us into war. Consequently I shall vote against Mr. Stimson and I shall vote against Mr. Knox for the same reasons.

"In a speech before a bankers' convention in Grand Rapids, Mich., Col. Knox said that we should do everything to keep the battle going. What does he mean by keeping the battle going in Europe? Do the American people want to keep the battle going in Europe?

"Mr. Knox's whole attitude in his newspaper columns has been for doing practically the same things which are advocated by Mr. Stimson, altho he has not been as bold about it."

Senator Homer T. Bone [D., Wash.] told the senate that when President Roosevelt appointed Knox and Stimson he appointed their viewpoint.

Senator Robert A. Taft [R., O.], who supported the administration's arms embargo repealer last fall, announced his opposition to the Stimson appointment on the ground that Stimson advocates "a policy which amounts to war and would certainly lead to war."

CONGRESSMAN ROGERS LEADS 'ALFALFA BILL' IN OKLAHOMA RACE

Oklahoma City, Okla., July 9 (AP).—Oklahoma's nine congressmen—who campaigned from Washington because of the press of a national defense program—swept into a solid bloc into comfortable leads in unofficial returns from today's Democratic primary.

Representative Will Rogers, seeking a fifth term as congressman-at-large, galloped far out in front of former Gov. William H. Alfalfa Bill Murray and 15 other opponents. With 1,251 of 3,613 precincts reported, he had 48,997 to Murray's 35,589.

Representative Phil Ferguson was ahead in 86 of 494 precincts in the 8th district, with former Gov. E. W. Marland a poor third. Ferguson had 3,023 to 2,508 for Orville M. Savage, Perry. Marland had 546.

Representative Jed Johnson nearly doubled the vote of Toby Morris, Lawton, in the 6th, where 148 to 388 precincts gave Johnson 13,039, Morris 7,106.

In other district Democratic races, Representatives Wesley Disney, 1st; Jack Nichols, 2d; Wilburn Cartwright, 3d; Lyle Boren, 4th; Mike Monroney, 5th, and Sam Massingale, 7th, had safe leads.

CLEAN POLITICS BILL HEADS FOR HOUSE PASSAGE

Measure Is Revived After 4 Months' Delay.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 9.—After four months of delay since senate passage, the Hatch clean politics bill was taken up in the house today. Passage seemed assured by tomorrow night.

Republicans, who helped force the protracted session of congress, contended that passage of the Hatch measure alone will prove the desirability of keeping the two houses in Washington during the summer months. If adjournment sine die had been taken June 22, as urged by the Democratic leadership, the senate's action on the bill would have been nullified and the legislation would not have been applicable to the coming election.

Limits Campaign Funds.

The bill extends to federally paid state employés the same far-reaching restrictions on pernicious political activities which the 1939 Hatch act applied to federal jobholders. House amendments also limit to $5,000 the amount an individual may contribute to a political campaign in one year.

Another important amendment affecting the presidential campaign places a limit of $3,000,000 on the amount a political campaign committee can spend in a year.

The measure forbids state employés paid wholly or in part with federal funds to take an active part in political campaigns or political management. It will affect several hundred thousand employés in the various states.

Clamor Revives Bill.

The house judiciary committee once pigeon-holed the bill after it had passed the senate by a great majority. The pressure of public opinion forced a resurrection of the measure, however, and a special rule was granted for its consideration more than a month ago. When congress decided to recess over the period of the Republican National convention instead of adjourning, the opposition collapsed and it was permitted to reach the floor today.

When the bill reaches the amendment stage tomorrow, an altercation may develop over an amendment to be offered by Representative Lee E. Geyer [D., Cal.] which would abolish the poll taxes prevalent in eight southern states.

Practice Denounced.

Poll taxes, Geyer told the house, are intended to deprive qualified citizens from voting by reason of their poverty. The payment of poll taxes in a block by political bosses who thereby direct the casting of large numbers of votes is one of the most pernicious political activities of all, he asserted, and should be eliminated.

The main opposition to the Hatch bill came from a group headed by Representative Hatton W. Sumners [D., Tex.], chairman of the house judiciary committee, which assailed the legislation as an extension of federal powers over state, county, city, and village elections.

HAMILTON CLUB G. O. P. RALLY TO MARK 50TH YEAR

The Hamilton club announced yesterday it will celebrate its 50th anniversary tomorrow night with a Republican dinner and rally in the La Salle hotel. About 500 guests are expected to attend. The Republican candidates—state, county, and city—will be guests. Peters Lambros is chairman of the arrangements, and John T. Dempsey, Republican county chairman, will be toastmaster.

On the program are Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE TRIBUNE, chief speaker; Mrs. Bertha Baur, national committeewoman; Judge Oscar F. Nelson, candidate for state's attorney, and George Barrett, candidate for attorney general. Mrs. Dwight H. Green and Mrs. Wayland Brooks will be honored guests.

G. O. P. LEADERS HAIL WILLKIE'S CHOICE OF MARTIN

Action Wins Confidence of Entire Committee.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 9.—Wendell Willkie won the confidence of the Republican National committee today by his selection of Joseph W. Martin, Jr. as committee chairman and the appointment of John D. Hamilton, former chairman, to the new rôle of executive director.

The action was ratified at a conference with Republican leaders a few hours before the G. O. P. presidential nominee and Mrs. Willkie boarded a special plane for a Colorado vacation.

The appointments represented a compromise on Willkie's original plan to use a three man strategy board comprised of Martin, Hamilton and Russell Davenport, director of his pre-convention campaign. Willkie yielded to the advice of party heads to use the regular party machinery.

Hail End of "One Man" Rule.

In a statement authorized by the committee, Walter S. Hallinan, committeeman from West Virginia, who was named chairman of the campaign advisory committee, said:

"Wendell Willkie has coöperated splendidly with the committee and we have coöperated with him to bring about the result we all are striving for. His coöperation has indicated to us not only his desire to work in harmony with the party organization, but, more important, it indicates that his approach to the solution of the nation's grave problems will be conducted on a similar basis — by consultation and counsel with every group.

"With Wendell Willkie as President of the United States, we will not have a one-man show in this country, as we have had for the last eight years under the New Deal."

Martin to Retain House Post.

The selection of Martin, which had been forecast by THE TRIBUNE, was announced by Willkie at a press conference in the Willard hotel, at which the dynamic Indianan attracted more newspapermen than Mr. Roosevelt did at his semi-weekly press conference later in the day.

Martin will be the spearhead of the campaign leadership. Closely aiding him will be Hamilton, Davenport, and Oren Root Jr., grandson of Elihu Root, leader of the Willkie clubs.

Martin, who will continue as minority leader of the house, will serve as committee chairman without pay. Hamilton will continue to draw $25,000—$15,000 salary and $10,000 expenses.

Willkie again emphasized that youthful Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota will play a prominent part in the campaign as chairman of his advisory committee, to which he added the following members:

John E. Jackson of New Orleans, national committeeman; William Stern, Fargo, N. D., national committeeman; E. J. Bennet, Ogden, Utah, banker; Howard Lawrence, Grand Rapids, Mich., manager of Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg's preconvention campaign; Kenneth Simpson, New York; Miss Sophia M. R. O'Hara, secretary of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania; Roger Straus, New York, a Dewey supporter.

Negro Race Represented.

Two Negroes also were placed on the advisory committee—Thomas G. Nutter of Charleston, W. Va., and William King of Chicago.

The original members of the advisory group, named in New York last week, are: Gov. Stassen, chairman; David S. Ingalls of Ohio, who was Senator Robert A. Taft's preconvention manager; Representative Martin, Gov. Raymond Baldwin, Connecticut; Mrs. Ruth Hanna Simms, Dewey supporter; Representative Charles A. Halleck, Indiana; Gov. Ralph Carr, Colorado; Mr. Root; Mrs. Ruth De Young Kohler, Wisconsin; J. William Ditter, chairman of the congressional campaign committee; John G. Townsend, chairman of the senatorial campaign committee.

Vice Chairman Named.

The following four vice chairmen of the Republican National committee were announced: Sam G. Pryor, Connecticut; Walter S. Hallanan, West Virginia; Mrs. Grace B. Reynolds, Indiana, and Mrs. Elsie Fitz Simmons, Rhode Island.

C. B. Goodspeed, Illinois, was named party treasurer; Harold W. Mason of Vermont, secretary, and Henry P. Fletcher, Rhode Island, general counsel.

The executive committee of the national committee is to be headed by Sinclair Weeks of Massachusetts and includes: J. Russell Sprague, New York; Robert Burroughs, New Hampshire; Daniel H. Pomeroy, New Jersey; Mrs. Worthington Scranton, Pennsylvania; Mr. Ingalls, Ohio; former Senator Daniel O. Hastings, Delaware; Mrs. Bertha Baur, Illinois; Harrison Spangler, Iowa; Mrs. Horace Sayre, Oklahoma; William Knowland, California; Mrs. Chris Carlson, Minnesota; Ezra Whitla, Idaho; Mrs. Della Urquhart, Washington; Harvey Jewett, South Dakota; Harold Reece, Tennessee.

Greets G. O. P. Staff.

It had been reported that the nominee would go to the capitol and call on Senators Hiram Johnson, Gerald P. Nye, and Arthur Vandenberg, leading nationalists, to assure them that he is not the interventionist some people believe him to be and will not, if elected, continue the present administration's foreign policy.

Instead Willkie received callers in his hotel room, paid a visit to the Republican national committee headquarters, and went shopping before he left for the air field.

With Mrs. Willkie smiling by his side, the nominee boarded the plane at 2:40 p. m. Chicago time, 40 minutes late in his scheduled departure.

A crowd of several hundred persons was on hand to see him off and watched him have his picture taken on the roof of the airport gazing over the Potomac. He said he was getting sunburned from photographers' flashlights, but complied willingly with the orders of this hungry crew. Mrs. Willkie, who had arrived from New York at 2 o'clock, was happy and vivacious, tho slightly nervous.

Half an hour later, 10,500 feet above the humid heat of Washington and the political turmoil, the Willkies would be having luncheon served by pretty stewardesses.

Special Menu on Plane.

A special menu had been prepared for their trip. The dessert was chocolate ice cream elephants.

The Willkies planned to talk over their vacation plans during the plane trip. These still are flexible. Willkie said he wants to rest for the first week. The second part of the vacation will be devoted to hard work on his speech accepting the nomination. As to recreation, he says he is a fair-to-medium trout fisherman, a poor golfer, and not much of a horseman.

What both the Willkies prefer is to read. They stopped in a bookstore just before getting on their plane and bought copies of the following books: Carson McCullen's "The Heart Is a Lonely Hunter," a novel; "Too Big," by Morris L. Ernst, a book on the dangers of the bigness of business; "The Dissenting Opinions of Mr. Justice Holmes," Mason Wade's biography of Margaret Fuller entitled "The Whetstone of Genius," and "Capitalism the Creator," by Carl Snyder, the story of 150 years of industrial progress of the United States. Snyder is a former statistician of the Federal Reserve Bank in New York City.

WILLKIE PAUSES IN CITY ON PLANE FLIGHT TO WEST

G. O. P. Nominee Bound for Colorado Vacation.

Reaches Destination

Colorado Springs, Colo., July 10, Wednesday [Special]. — Wendell L. Willkie's special airplane, blazoned with his campaign shield, arrived here at 12:45 a. m. [Chicago time] after an 11 hour trip from Washington.

The Republican presidential nominee will stay approximately three weeks in various parts of Colorado for rest and campaign preparatory work, including conferences with leaders of opinion on questions of defense, preparedness, and the critical foreign situation.

Near the end of the 1,650 mile trip the airliner ran into an area of thunderstorms and seat belts were fastened for a bumpy ride. Several hundred were at the airport, headed by Gov. Ralph Carr. The Willkies went directly to their hotel.

BY PERCY WOOD.

Wendell L. Willkie, bound for a vacation in Colorado, stopped in Chicago for about 40 minutes yesterday on his first visit here since he won the Republican Presidential nomination in Philadelphia, Pa. He had a chance to stretch his long legs while the special plane bearing him from Washington, D. C., was refueled at Chicago airport.

Now that he has obtained the appointment of Minority Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts as his manager and has perfected the rest of the campaign organization, Willkie said he is finally free to get that "week's sleep" he was talking about in Philadelphia.

For a day or two he will stay in a hotel in Colorado Springs while he seeks some place in the mountains where he can relax and read and eventually write his acceptance speech.

Plans Speech in Elwood.

It may be two weeks before he gets around to that schedule of work, but he has to keep a more or less definite date to deliver the speech in his home town of Elwood, Ind., about Aug. 1. He will talk from the steps of the high school there.

"They kicked me out of that school twice," he told a W-G-N radio audience from the airport, "so now I want to go back and accept the nomination from the front steps."

While the nominee said he hadn't a thing on his mind to tell reporters, he soon found himself talking, and with some heat.

"Mr. Willkie," a reporter began, "Senator Guy Gillette of Iowa has been suggesting that an investigation might well be made of the telegraphic campaign in your behalf at Philadelphia. Any comment?"

Calls It Propaganda.

"Just this: as far as I am concerned he can investigate forever," Willkie shot back. "That's Democratic propaganda. They're trying to make something when there is nothing. You haven't heard of them investigating the Democrats, have you? You'd think some day they'd realize those things are really helpful to their opponents."

"It's a petty thing," he added, with some asperity. Then he smiled and remarked: "We have no nervousness, but you can always tell when the other side has the jitters."

Mrs. Willkie and two stewardesses were the only women on the plane, reporters filling all the other seats. As the party stepped to the ground, a group of relatives of Willkie pressed thru to greet them. Present were Mrs. Edward Willkie of La Grange, the nominee's sister-in-law: her son, Edward Willkie Jr., 10 years old; Edward's sister, Mariann Elizabeth, 15, and Mrs. Wendell Willkie's grandmother, Mrs. G. W. Hollingsworth of Long Beach, Cal.

Willkie Poses Patiently.

The nominee's wife was a little shy of the battery of photographers and dodged thru them to the La Grange Willkies after a shot or two. Her husband, however, continued to endear himself to the camera men, posing patiently before a crowd cheered him from behind the wire fence at the field's edge. Finally Willkie walked to the airport office and held an informal press conference.

"I'm going out to Colorado and get my bearings," he said. "I'm going to lie around, read some of the books I brought along, and take it easy. Then I'll write my acceptance speech."

In response to questions he said he hadn't decided just when to start his fall campaign and smiled at the suggestion he might be planning to use a trailer, rather than a train, once he takes the transcontinental road.

Democrats? It's Up to Them.

"It's not for me to say who the Democrats should nominate," he said in response to a question about the forthcoming Democratic convention, "but my own idea of White House occupancy is eight years."

Willkie strolled back to the plane, where he was met by Dwight H. Green, G. O. P. nominee for governor of Illinois, who hurried to the airport as soon as he heard the head of the ticket was in town. Green and A. K. Stiles, Willkie's pre-convention manager in Illinois, were the only politicians who visited him here.

"I've just been downstate, Mr. President," Green greeted Willkie, smiling, "and the reaction to your nomination is splendid."

"We're getting that everywhere," Willkie acknowledged.

"They're saying," Green continued, "that it's the greatest thing that has happened to the country in 20 years."

Willkie looked his gratitude for this remark, then the two fell to talking about Indiana, their home state. Green was born in Ligonier, about 70 miles from Elwood. He told Willkie that Illinois would send a "great delegation" to the notification ceremonies. Willkie asked about Wayland Brooks, Illinois G. O. P. nominee for senator, and Green said he was in Colorado on a vacation with his son, Russell.

Willkie then moved over for a brief visit with his relatives. Just before boarding the plane he said again that all questions on foreign or domestic policies would have to wait until his acceptance speech. When the plane was pronounced ready for resumption of the flight he walked back to the gangway with Green and Stiles, settling his blue summer suit and his plain straw hat—which he wore at a pronounced tilt—as he went.

Crowd Joins in Cheer.

Most of the crowd stayed for a final cheer as the big, specially chartered United Air Lines mainliner, with a "Willkie for President" sign painted on its side, left the ground.

The nominee granted his first radio interview since his nomination at the request of W-G-N. Staff workers brought a mobile transmitter to the field and close to the plane.

Willkie described his flight from Washington—which he said was so peaceful that he napped about half the time—and told his plans for the next three weeks in Colorado. He spoke shortly before 6 p. m.

MARTIN CERTAIN G. O. P. WILL WIN IF ROOSEVELT RUNS

Willkie "Very Strong" in South, Says Chairman.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 9.—The new chairman of the Republican national committee, Joseph W. Martin Jr., today forswore pretentious political claims in the first press conference held since his appointment.

The popular minority leader of the house confined his assertions to a confident prediction that the Willkie-McNary ticket would "unquestionably" defeat the Roosevelt New Deal ticket. He had no doubts whatever, he said, that the President would be the Democratic nominee and added that he preferred it so.

Shuns Any State-Claiming.

But when asked to go into detail concerning the states which Republicans would carry, Martin grinned and said frankly:

"Any claiming of states now is just conversation and you all know it. Why, the other fellows haven't even held their convention yet."

Martin did say, however, in response to a query concerning the possibility of Willkie breaking into the solid south, that the Republican candidate would be very strong in Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee, Missouri, Kentucky and Maryland. He refused to predict that Willkie would carry any of those states but indicated he had a good chance in each one.

He's Sure of New England.

In New England, Martin continued, the Republican ticket would undoubtedly win if the election were held today. Further than that, he refused to go.

He was asked if the Republican committee would make an effort to organize anti-New Deal Democrats.

"They won't be neglected," he remarked, smiling, "but those fellows don't need organization. They'll organize themselves."

"Will the fact that Willkie was once a Democrat hurt him with some Republicans?" he was asked.

"Those who voted the Republican ticket in 1936 and 1938 aren't going to change," he responded. "There's a time when every party hits bottom. That happened with us. Now we're going up."

Wants Congress to Stay on Job.

His new duties have not changed the minority leader's opinion that congress should stay in session during the summer, he said. Democratic leaders have come to him seeking a recess until July 29 instead of July 22, he remarked, but he refused to agree to the longer recess.

"The Democrats may want a longer time to get over the effects of their convention," he jested, "but we're giving them two days longer than we had for our convention."

TAMMANY READY TO WHOOP IT UP HERE FOR 3D TERM

New York, July 9 [Special].—Tammany leaders said today that every brave would be whooping it up for a third term for President Roosevelt at the Democratic convention in Chicago next week.

"We are going to insist on a fourth term, too," Bert Stand, secretary of Tammany, added facetiously. "And we are considering the idea of changing the rules to make the tenure of a president permanent under civil service."

Every Tammany politician hopes that the enthusiasm shown by the organization for Mr. Roosevelt will be sufficient to have a desirable effect on the distribution of patronage.

3,500 DELEGATES AND ALTERNATES COMING TO SEEK 2,500 SEATS

Many of the states are sending extra large delegations to the Democratic national convention. This is giving the arrangements committee a difficult seating problem. The convention has 1,094 delegate votes and the same number of alternates. Tentative lists at headquarters show 1,849 delegates are coming to get seats on the floor and to vote by fractions of a vote. This number does not include the alternates.

It appears probable that 3,500 delegates and alternates will seek seats in floor space allotted to about 2,500. Texas, with 46 delegate votes, is sending 132 to whoop it up for Vice President Garner; Montana with 8 votes is sending 32 delegates to shout for Senator Burton K. Wheeler.

One Mississippi district, with 2 delegate votes, has a list of 54 delegates. The outlook, according to committee officials, is that a considerable number will have to be content with seats off the floor.

WARD LINEUPS ORDERED TO BUY CONVENTION ADS

Every Democratic ward organization in Chicago has been ordered to buy a full page ad at $500 a page in the souvenir program being printed for the Democratic national convention. In addition, according to Barnet Hodes, corporation counsel and program committee chairman, business houses, manufacturing firms, and labor groups are buying advertising space.

Hodes said yesterday that letters and phone calls already have sold $50,000 worth of ads in the 150 page book, which will be peddled to convention visitors for 50 cents.

Articles about the city government and a roster of Chicago attractions, as well as a list of convention sessions, will be printed along with the ads. Proceeds go to the Chicago convention committee.

ALL THIRD TERM QUERIES PARRIED BY ROOSEVELT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July. 9.—President Roosevelt today emerged unscathed from a barrage of questions concerning the third term information he gave Postmaster General James A. Farley under a pledge of secrecy at Hyde Park, N. Y., Sunday.

The President, in high good humor, dodged one question after another. At the end of the questioning he not only held his secret, but also had refused to give any hint as to when he will break his silence—before or during the Democratic convention at Chicago.

Asked about his plans for the coming week-end, he said he had no plans except to go down the river aboard the presidential yacht Potomac and come back Sunday night.

among the NEW BOOKS

A collection of salty stories told by a ship surgeon of the early nineteenth century . . . the story of a woman whose husband went blind . . . an unusual mystery romance told with a light, humorous touch . . . these are among the new books reviewed and commented on today in the Tribune book department on Page 12.

STADIUM, CIRCUS MECCA, PRIMPS FOR CONVENTION

Workmen Put Intricate Machinery in Shape.

The Chicago Stadium, which has housed six day bicycle racers, boxers, hockey players, circus elephants, and Sonja Henie, is being made ready for its second Democratic convention. This task—plus maintenance during meeting days—will consume 62,024 man work hours, employ 1,246 persons and cost $220,857.60.

These facts were included in statistics obtained yesterday from foremen working in the Stadium and from Thomas Garry, city superintendent of sewers and head of the work of refurbishing the meeting hall.

On the basis of a normal five day convention, it was estimated that 20 radio announcers will speak 612,000 words into microphones of the three great broadcasting systems. These announcers will represent W-G-N and Mutual network, National Broadcasting company, and the Columbia Broadcasting system.

Radio Cost Put at $42,000.

It will cost these chains approximately $42,000 to set up the broadcasting facilities and report the convention. A total staff of 90 persons will be engaged in this work.

Readers of 3,250 newspapers thruout the world will be bombarded with an estimated 12 million words from the convention hall.

In order to make this possible, the Illinois Bell Telephone company, the Western Union, and the Postal telegraph companies have strung 719 miles of wire about the Stadium and from there to the loop. They will employ 375 workers, operating 18,520 man hours, and incur an expense of $110,000 in this task of transporting the stories of 1,900 working newspaper men.

75,000 Hot Dogs.

The chore of feeding the hungry Democrats and spectators, expected to total 117,500 persons during the convention, has been assumed by J. G. Grouzard Jr., a concessionaire. He expects the Democrats to consume 75,000 hot dogs, 125,000 bottles of pop, and 100,000 bottles of beer.

This is not an abnormal taste among Democrats for this type of victual, Grouzard said, estimating the same number in any meeting would take aboard a like load. Other items he expects to sell to the convention gathering are: 30,000 gallons of draft beer, 20,000 ham sandwiches, 10,000 roast beef sandwiches, 5,000 cheese sandwiches, 75,000 ice cream bars, 25,000 bags of peanuts, 25,000 bags of popcorn, and 150,000 cups of coffee.

Plans to Sell 20,000 Souvenirs.

Grouzard expects the convention crowds to purchase $89,250 worth of tidbits and also plans to sell 20,000 souvenirs. These include badges, pictures of President Roosevelt, donkeys, the American flag, and ash trays.

Grouzard's cost of stocking up and preparing for business was approximately $20,000. Grouzard will employ 200 persons who will work 12,000 man hours to satisfy the appetites of delegates and spectators.

Decorations in the Stadium, which will call for 612 American flags and 3,000 yards of bunting, will cost Chicago $3,900, including the cost of labor for putting them up.

The new loud speaker system, a three ton affair, which will hang over the speakers' platform, cost $9,550 with installation labor. This mechanism is designed, according to Jack Burnett, Stadium publicity man, to do away with playbacks. A playback is the echo which at previous conventions has made speakers sound as if they were concealed in a barrel.

Floor Broadcasting System.

In addition to the new loud speaker system the convention will have a floor broadcasting system with a microphone for each state delegation. This will cost $5,000 before it is ready for its five day operation, and with the loud speaker system utilized eight miles of wire in installation.

A total of 70,000 feet of lumber is being used in construction of the speakers' platform, radio booths, and press headquarters. This cost hardly anything, Garry said, and estimated the expense at $250. Most of it, he said, was demolished lumber, and the new boards will go back into city yards.

Twenty-nine carpenters are busy putting the 70,000 feet of lumber in place. They will use approximately 4,944 work hours and get paid $8,157 for the work. They are aided by 20 laborers who will draw $2,100 for the convention period.

Andy Frain's ushers, 400 of them, will seat the convention visitors and will be paid an estimated total of $10,000. The convention maintenance staff will include 26 watchman, working 60 hours, at an expense of $780; two engineers, three switchboard operators, three electricians, 40 janitors, and 10 laborers.

Al Melgard, the Stadium organist, hasn't been idle, either, during the convention preparations. He has written a convention song. The name of it is "Here Comes an American," and he plans to play it first chance he gets when the convention gathers He suggested "Happy Days Are Here Again" for the 1932 convention theme song, Burnett said, and every one liked it.

They've even had a practice demonstration at the Stadium, according to Burnett. He said 350 delegates to the Firemen's and Oilers' convention dropped in the other night and paraded around the hall and shouted. Sixty of them are convention delegates, Burnett said, and they seemed to enjoy it.

Costs of Political Convention

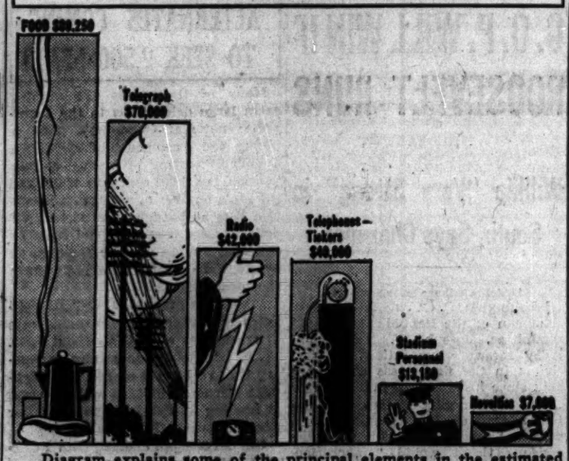

Diagram explains some of the principal elements in the estimated cost of the Democratic convention, including what the crowd will spend for food and novelties, and amounts for reporting the convention, for radio time, and looking after the hall.

JIM FARLEY SAYS HUSH, LET'S NOT SPOIL BIG SHOW

But Belief Grows That Roosevelt Will Run.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Postmaster General James A. Farley still held tight yesterday to the secret whispered in his ear by President Roosevelt Sunday night on whether he intends to run for a third term. Meanwhile, among arriving Democrats and observers the conjecture grew that the President will accept renomination by the national convention which meets Monday in the Chicago Stadium.

Mr. Farley as national chairman of the Democratic party came to town to begin final preparations for the conclave. At a press conference in the Stevens hotel he said he would keep the President's views confidential. On the third term question he was mute as an oyster. At one point he did unbelt a remark that to some seemed luminous.

"If you got the answer today," he said, "the convention wouldn't have much interest."

If Third Term Is Refused.

Some of the soothsayers and minor prophets interpreted this as meaning something on the ground that if a third term is refused, the convention would have plenty of interest in a wide open battle for the nomination.

"The trouble with you fellows," said Farley, "is that you want to read the last chapter before the rest of the book. We're going to have a convention and I hope it will be an interesting one from every point of view."

Asked whether his name would be placed in nomination before the delegates, Chairman Farley remarked:

"My position remains unchanged." He declined to amplify this, saying that interpretation was in the province of the reporters.

Farley, in his usual smiling, urbane form, said the convention might last six days, and finish its deliberations by Saturday night.

Bankhead to Speak Monday.

He announced that Speaker William B. Bankhead would make the keynote speech Monday, and that Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, the permanent chairman, would speak Tuesday night. In a comment on reports that Barkley, who was keynoter in 1932 and 1936, might omit the usual address, Farley remarked with a grin:

"I don't think he'd miss the opportunity to make a speech. I think it is essential that he make a speech; the country it waiting for it."

The platform, Farley said, might be adopted Wednesday, and the nominations for President would come Thursday.

Senator Robert F. Wagner [D., N. Y.], who is slated to head the resolutions [platform] committee, is expected to arrive today, and a preliminary meeting of the committee is expected Friday.

At the headquarters of Vice President John N. Garner in the Hotel Sherman and of Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] at the Congress, the managers expressed emphatic belief that the President will not seek a third term. Both Garner and Wheeler have announced their candidacies for the presidential nomination.

PLANS ARE LAID FOR POLICING OF THE CONVENTION

Arrangements for policing the Democratic convention next week were made yesterday in the office of Commissioner Allman. Col. Edwin A. Halsey, sergeant at arms of the party's national committee; Darrell St, Claire, deputy sergeant, and Cliff Scott, doorkeeper of the convention, represented Democratic headquarters. Halsey, who is secretary of the United States senate, served in a like capacity at the 1932 convention here.

Commissioner Allman has detailed 446 men to duty. Chief John Prendergast of the uniformed force will be in charge of police at the Stadium, with Supervising Captain John Stege having general supervision. A headquarters staff at the central police building will consist of Capt. Harry Fullmer, Lieut. Peter C. Dunnion, and Sergt. F. A. Neiligan.

Inside details will be in charge of Capts. Ray Crane, John Horan, Frank Reynolds, and John Egan. Outside details wil lbe under Capt. David Flynn, chief of the traffic division, and Capts. Eugene Barry and George Homer.

The Better Way to Correct Constipation

One way to treat constipation is to endure it first and "cure" it afterward. The other way is to avoid having it by getting at its cause. So why not save yourself those dull headachy days, plus the inevitable trips to the medicine chest, if you can do it by a simple common-sense "ounce of prevention"?

If your trouble, like that of millions, is due to lack of "bulk" in the diet, "the better way" is to eat Kellogg's All-Bran. This crunchy, toasted, ready-to-eat cereal has just the "bulk" you need. If you eat it regularly—and drink plenty of water—you can not only get regular but keep regular, day after day and month after month! All-Bran is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is chronic, it is wise to consult a physician.

AMERICAN LABOR PARTY SUCCUMBS TO RED CONTROL

Communists Use Setup as Outpost of Moscow.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 9.—The American Labor party, which was formed in 1936 to pool the radical vote for President Roosevelt, today is under complete control of the communist party in New York City. The Reds are using the party as a political fulcrum.

Alex Rose, who resigned as New York state secretary of the American Labor party several days ago, charged the communists were resorting to all "the subtle trickery and cruelty characteristic of the fifth column" in their seizure of power in the organization. They are serving as "parachute troops for Adolf Hitler," he declared.

Take Orders from Moscow.

Before Hitler and Stalin got together the American Labor party was fighting Fascism hand in hand with the communist party. But with the signing of the pact the Moscow branch in this country turned a somersault and began attacking the capitalist democracies.

When the clasped hands within a cogwheel, American Labor party emblem, first appeared on the voting machines in 1936 the party polled 274,924 votes for President Roosevelt. Next year the party gave 482,790 votes to Mayor Fiorello La Guardia. In 1938 the party mustered 419,979 votes in the state for Gov. Herbert H. Lehman when he was reëlected by a narrow margin over District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey, his Republican opponent.

Original American Labor party sponsors, principally garment union leaders and Socialists, envisioned a great independent third party rising in the nation from the nucleus in New York. But they made the mistake of welcoming the Reds into the fold.

Seize Key Positions.

Rabid members of the communist party, whom Lenin once called "professional revolutionaries," swarmed into the party camp, applying their organizational and propaganda talents in the expanding party. They scrambled for key positions in the party organization.

Anti-Stalinites still control the state party structure, but this is merely an empty shell. There are five committeemen elected from each of the 63 assembly districts in New York City and the same representation from each of the 87 upstate districts. Thus the non-communist element in the less sparsely settled upstate communities dominates the state organization.

The state structure does not present the true picture because of the 150,000 registered American Labor party voters, 136,000 reside in New York City, where the communists control the county organizations. There were 350,000 American Labor party votes cast in the city for Lehman last time. Nine-tenths of the party membership is in the city.

Oppose U. S. Rearmament

Eugene P. Connolly, leader of the left wing communist forces, captured the position of New York county chairman o. the American Labor party in April. Since then the city organization has followed the party line laid down in Moscow and opposed preparedness ih the United States.

Congressman Vito Marcantonio, New York radical, has been applauded by the American Labor party in the city for voting against defense appropriations.

One of the supporters of the communist faction is Michael J. Quill, head of the C. I. O. Transport Workers union, which embraces the subway workers, bus operators, elevated and street car men.

ADMITS $4 ROBBERY.

William Caprio, an unemployed musician, admitted to Warren avenue police yesterday that he and a companion robbed Ernest Grennan, 2120 Washington boulevard, of $4. Caprio, who is 33 years old and lives at 3513 Flournoy street, said he did not know the name of his accomplice.

★ TODAY IS POST DAY

"Read all about it!"

[America is the only country where you can]

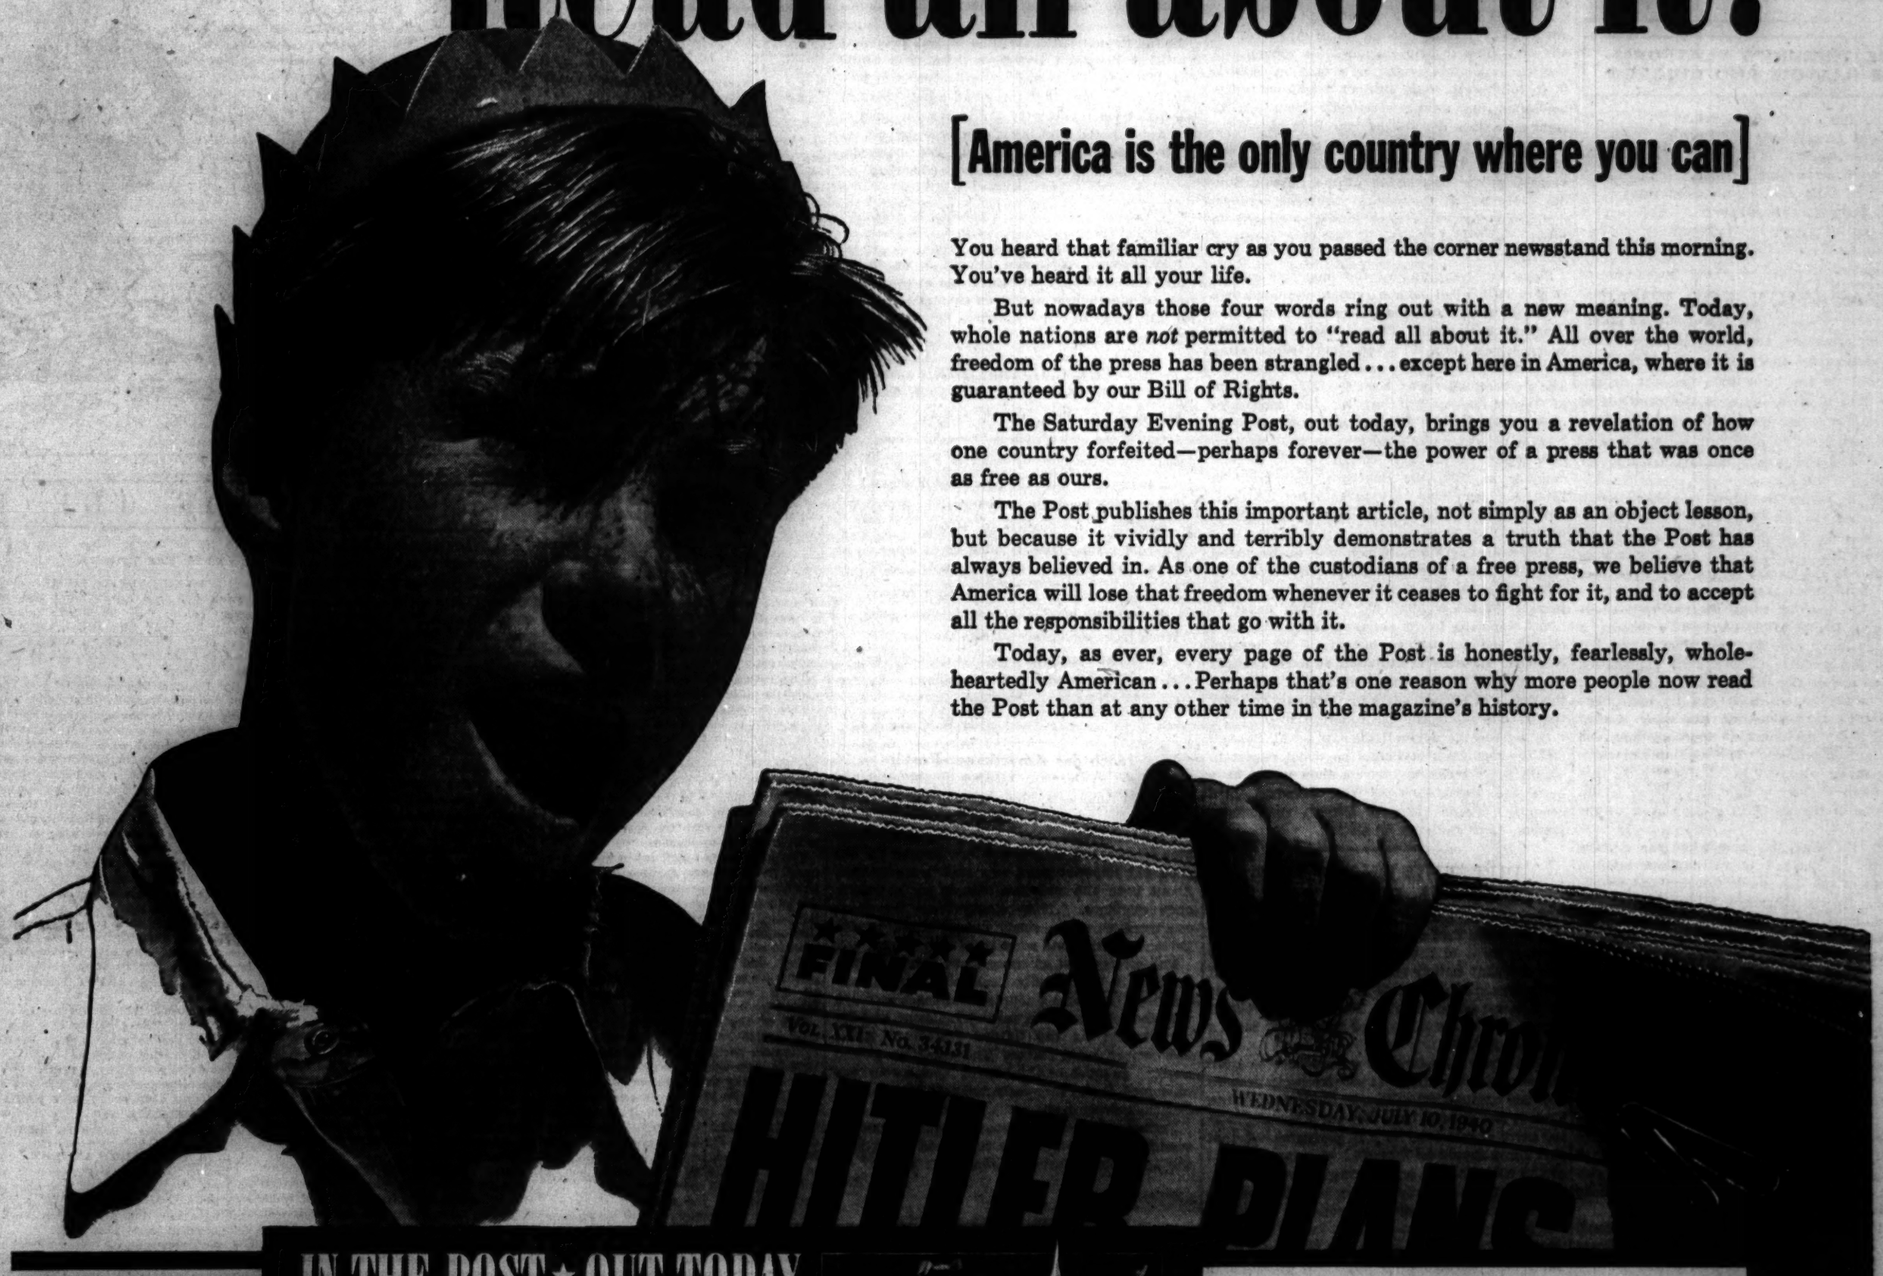
You heard that familiar cry as you passed the corner newsstand this morning. You've heard it all your life.

But nowadays those four words ring out with a new meaning. Today, whole nations are not permitted to "read all about it." All over the world, freedom of the press has been strangled . . . except here in America, where it is guaranteed by our Bill of Rights.

The Saturday Evening Post, out today, brings you a revelation of how one country forfeited—perhaps forever—the power of a press that was once as free as ours.

The Post publishes this important article, not simply as an object lesson, but because it vividly and terribly demonstrates a truth that the Post has always believed in. As one of the custodians of a free press, we believe that America will lose that freedom whenever it ceases to fight for it, and to accept all the responsibilities that go with it.

Today, as ever, every page of the Post is honestly, fearlessly, wholeheartedly American . . . Perhaps that's one reason why more people now read the Post than at any other time in the magazine's history.



IN THE POST ★ OUT TODAY

How Hitler stole the free press that could have destroyed him

Nazism was impossible while Germany had a free press. How did a minority party destroy it? How did Hitler connive to "buy" the House of Ullstein, the world's largest publishing enterprise, for one-fourth its real value—and then confiscate all of that? . . . Here is required reading for those who take freedom of the American press for granted. A fearless exposé of Nazi treachery, as revealed by the former head of the great Ullstein company himself. Turn to page 9 of this week's Post.

PREPARATION FOR WHAT?

The present congress has appropriated 5 billion dollars for armament and has been informed by the administration that another 5 billions will be needed. At the same time the war department is said to have approved the principle of the Burke-Wadsworth conscription bill, requiring the registration of all men between the ages of 18 and 65 and compulsory military training for some or all of them.

Nobody in Washington seems to have bothered to ask what we are preparing for. This is curious, because it is obvious that the nature of our preparation ought to bear the closest kind of relation to the nature of the war we expect to fight or think we may have to fight.

There has been a great deal of talk about the Monroe Doctrine and hemisphere defense, a two ocean navy and an irresistible army, but none of the speeches offer a clear explanation of the nature of the threat which confronts us or the means by which it can be met. The lack of such an explanation has made it easy to demand the maximum of appropriations and the fullest conscription. The assumption which appears to be accepted in Washington is that we are likely to have to fight the massed armies and navies of the world in every corner of the world.

Plainly, the time has come when the country is entitled to demand of its administration a statement of the dangers it foresees and wishes to avert. Nearly everybody is agreed that our defenses have been neglected and must be strengthened and nearly everybody is willing to make very substantial sacrifices to repair the damage. There is no such agreement, however, on the conscription bill and on some of the other aspects of the administration program.

The army some months ago was talking intelligently about a mobile force of from 250,000 to 500,000 men, highly mechanized and available for any kind of emergency duty. If there were an attack upon North America, such an army, together with the navy and a fleet of long range bombers, was believed to be sufficient to hold off the attack and enable the country to organize for defense. Such a force was also deemed adequate to discharge any obligations which would fall to us in this hemisphere.

This idea now appears to have been abandoned, tho no explanation has been offered to indicate why it is inadequate. Of course, if this country is to send an expeditionary force to Europe or Asia, or to both, half a million men might not be enough. We sent 2 million to Europe in the last war and had another 2 million under arms when the armistice was signed. To raise armies of such size conscription is probably required. Perhaps the administration wants conscription with a large scale war, to be fought on foreign soil, in view.

Otherwise the proposal makes little sense at this time. We haven't the equipment for a modern army and our officers do not know how to fight a modern war. Until they get the equipment they cannot learn. Soldiers can be trained far more rapidly than officers can be qualified to lead them. Naturally the military men in Washington favor conscription because, as the army is expanded, the number of good jobs in the service increases, but if the war in Europe has taught anything it is the lesson that mere numbers of soldiers do not win wars. The quality of equipment, of generalship, and of morale are factors of immense importance. If we adopt conscription now it is certain to augment the prevailing confusion of purpose, give a false sense of security, and divert the attention of the army from the more important tasks of obtaining equipment and learning how to use it to the less important task of drilling vast numbers of recruits.

The first question to be answered is what are we preparing for? When that has been formulated, there should be little difficulty in deciding what steps are to be taken to achieve the goal in the shortest time.

MEXICO HAS AN ELECTION.

A Mexican general election, described by Wayne Thomis of THE TRIBUNE, is apparently something of which our own Jake Arvey could take a piece and the old Capone gang another. The late Huey Long could not have embellished it very much, and California ham and eggs would not have found it strange. Harlan county, Kentucky, Tammany, New York, and Chicago's 24th ward seem to have contributed something to it, with the Mexicans adding native touches of their own.

The party which captured the polling places did the voting. The other partisans could do the shouting and the shooting. The counting will begin when the central authority gets around to it, and the result will be announced when an announcement seems advisable. Both Gen. Almazan and Gen. Camacho have won and each has been defeated by fraud, violence, and perfidy. Neither will accept the result which each knows is in his favor. He will be cheated.

One peculiarity, however, is all Mexico's own. Now that the votes have been taken, President Cardenas and his aids are canvassing the sentiment of the people as it is expressed in demonstrations. From the volubility of the partisans they expect to learn what ought to be in the ballot boxes. Presumably that will be found there.

FRANCE JOINS THE AXIS.

What is left of France is rapidly disposing of what is left of the third republic and the constitution of '75. The self interests, and consequently the sympathies and patriotic pretenses, of the men surrounding the old Marshal-Premier Petain at Vichy naturally send them into the Hitler-Mussolini camp, and when the national assembly has abdicated it will have produced a fascist document for a fascist government.

Reports from Berlin which should be, in the main, dependable, say that with the old man as a figurehead there will be a government which Mussolini might recognize as his own and Hitler approve. In this accomplishment the architects of it may think that by joining up with the prevailing and victorious form of government France can salvage something out of the defeat and arise as a modest associate of the new régime, joining Paris to Rome and Berlin.

It would seem to be an attempt to form a government strong enough to stop revolution and with allies to help put down the communists because revolution is the next step in France, if it follows its best line of traditions. The pendulum has swung erratically from left to right ever since the first overthrow of monarchy. In a strange mood, with a still stranger German collaboration, the French will observe the anniversary of the destruction of the Bastille Sunday, July 14. If the new government arrangements go thru, this anniversary, dedicated to liberty, will find France in another revulsion from it.

Since the beginning of the moderate revolution in 1789, when French republicans undertook to create a constitutional monarchy with a free constituent assembly, France has tried nearly every known form of government, inaugurating some of them with prolonged and bloody terrors. The first republic was born in 1792; the Reign of Terror destroyed it in '93; the moderates were back again in the national convention in '94; the directory was governing in '95; Napoleon was regent as the first consul in '99; he was emperor in 1804; the Bourbons were back in 1814; Napoleon was back in 1815 for 100 days, after which Waterloo returned Louis XVIII. to Paris.

These are gyrations which are to be found repeated later. The revolution of 1830 produced Louis Philippe, the bourgeois king; the revolution of '48 threw him out; the coup d'etat of Louis Napoleon in '51 annulled the constitution of '48; the senatus consultum of '52 created Napoleon III.; the capitulation of Paris brought the uprising of the commune in '71; and now the defeat of France, again by Germany, destroys the third republic and the constitution of '75.

By joining the Berlin-Rome axis Laval, Bonnet, and the men back of Petain no doubt expect to obtain peace terms less severe than would have been the expectation of the defeated third republic. France accepts Hitler's continental system—until the next revolution.

PUT THE ENGINEERS BACK IN THE ARMY.

The highest ranking graduates of West Point still have the first option on service in the engineering corps of the army. Those officers who exercise that option spend most of the rest of their lives dredging creeks to gain votes for some pork barrel congressman. Their military education is lost to the nation and must often seem a mockery to them.

West Point was founded as a school to train engineers for the army. It was for many decades the only engineering college in the United States. Thus it was natural both that the army engineering corps should take its star graduates and that that corps should be intrusted with management of the nation's civil engineering projects.

Today there are any number of state and privately endowed engineering colleges that turn out better civil engineers than does West Point. This is only natural, considering that their graduates have devoted their undivided attention to civil engineering subjects, whereas those subjects form only a part of the West Point curriculum. When the army wants specialized training it sends its own officers to these civilian colleges for graduate study.

But while the pork barrel rivers and harbors projects no longer require army engineering supervision, the army itself has greater need than ever before for its own engineers. It has increasingly difficult military engineering problems. It also has need of increased intelligence in all its officers. It can no longer afford to divert the brightest of the West Point graduates into civil engineering activities.

Mechanized warfare puts a tremendously greater burden on the engineering corps. It must not only find, maintain, and fortify the roads and bridges for the advance of its own forces, it must also be skilful at demolition to stop enemy mechanized units. Demolition is an art for which there is no use except in war. It can only be studied and carried out by the engineering corps, and then only if its officers are freed from duties that civilians can perform equally well and allowed to devote themselves to the profession for which they were educated.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

"TO BE OR NOT TO BE—"

What did President Roosevelt whisper to Postmaster Farley? Perhaps he said it in three classic words: "Barkis is willing." [If this allusion means nothing to you, look up the furtive wooing of Peggotty by Barkis, a bashful carter, in "David Copperfield."]

The only aspirants to third terms, until the enigmatic present, were Grant and Theodore Roosevelt. A strong faction in the Republican party placed Grant in nomination before the convention of 1880. Their argument was that four years had elapsed since he had retired from his second term, and that he was, therefore, practically a new man. This movement was led by Roscoe Conkling, whose nominating speech for Grant contained the sentence:

"He will hew to the line of right, let the chips fly where they may."

In the Republican convention of 1912 President Theodore Roosevelt became a third term candidate. To defend him against antithird term feeling, it was argued that three and a half years of his first term represented the unexpired term of the assassinated McKinley, whom Roosevelt, as Vice President, had succeeded. The delegates failed to succumb to this casuistical reasoning.

"Was the crown offered him thrice?"

"Ay, marry, was't, and he put it by thrice, every time gentler than other; and at every putting by mine honest neighbors shouted. . . . But for all that, to my thinking, he would fain have had it."

THE GALLOWS BIRD.

[François Villon, 1431-14—.]

On guard! A villain poet has escaped
Out of the underprivileged caves of crime,
And stolen the flute while all of Paris gaped;
Outbragging braggadocio in tones
So skilfully harmonious and strong
The old régime must tremble in its bones,
The new delight to crown a robust song.
How bright a flame is passion's when sincere,
How freshly jeweled the muddy edged gown,
When heart courageous silences the fear
That flesh corrupted draws the spirit down.

Hoch das Amerikaner-Fest!

Stuttgart in Germany [450,000 inhabitants] has or had an American colony which, together with some of the bürghers who had affiliations with the United States, founded an Amerikaner-Klub. The celebrations of the glorious Fourth in the good old imperial days, say 1893, were unique. About noon the members entered horse drawn, open carriages, driving slowly from the royal courtyard thru the shady avenue down to the kursaal at Cannstatt, some three miles away.

The cortège had as many as 60 carriages; the first one in line proudly displayed a huge American flag. Next came a four-in-hand coach crowded with the bandsmen of a cavalry regiment, and did they tootle! At the Garden restaurant lunch and supper were served. The speeches gained impetus as much of the famous Neckarwein was consumed. Early, very early, the next morning the cavalcade drove home amidst much singing.

Father, after one of these somewhat strenuous sessions, used to say: "It is a good thing that the Amerikaner-Fest comes but once a year."

Uncle Sam Drops a Hint.

Look, World! Our American system of government may be all wrong, but if your much censored newspapers have published the fact you have probably learned that we have 80 per cent of the available supply of gold. That much gold will buy a great many things, World. It may be used to buy whatever is needed to make men better; it may be used to destroy men; in fact, it might even be used to buy the souls of men in every nation on the face of the earth to form a fifth column of our own. Of course, there are those who say that gold is no longer important in the affairs of man, that it has lost its place in the wealth of nations. Perhaps they are right. I am more inclined to believe, however, that gold has appealed to men too long to be suddenly discarded. We have the gold, World, and we can keep it on deposit or use it. The final use will depend on you, World, so tread lightly.

VACATIONISTS! SHUN RAW MILK.

MANY warnings have been sounded against drinking raw or unpasteurized milk at any time. The fact is that during the warm months—with so many vacationists abroad in the land—we may be tempted to let down the bars. We argue that the cows appear healthy—in "top hole" condition and the pasture on which the animals feed looks so rich and green.

Unfortunately the appearance of the herd will tell us little or nothing about the presence of what is known as Malta, or undulant fever. The causative organism is widespread in this country and is readily conveyed to human beings thru the milk or uncooked meat of infected animals. With thousands of cases occurring each year in the United States we can scarcely realize that our first notice that the disease existed in our midst came in 1924. At that time only a few infections were reported but the dissemination of the malady is now nation-wide.

Unfortunately the infection is difficult to banish once it has fastened itself upon an individual. The fever runs its course in two or three weeks, for example, and the victim thinks that he is well on the road to recovery when lo! and behold! it returns in full force and the same symptoms must again be combated perhaps for even a longer period.

While some are but mildly ill—regarding the malady as a manifestation of the grippe—others will show a daily variation in temperature of three or four degrees. This means that strength is sapped, resistance destroyed, and the ailment may settle down into a semichronic state.

Fortunately we can identify the culprit by means of certain bacteriological tests and no physician need be long in doubt as to the nature of the trouble. There are today, however, thousands of persons who probably harbor the causative organisms but in whom the disturbance is of such low virulence that—other than fatigue—there may be but few manifestations. But it does create a half poisoned condition which destroys zest, energy, and spirit.

The patient will complain of debility which is quite foreign to his natural inclinations—and occasionally the diagnosis of a nervous breakdown may be made. The reason is that the germs may survive in the intestine for long periods of time, migrating at intervals to other tissues and organs of the body. There may be no appreciable rise in temperature but instead a state of depression which stops all activity. In turn the nervous system is injured and weakened.

The job then is to get rid of every last invader. Much like the bacteria of typhoid fever, the organisms may hide in the gall bladder where they may remain for years, a potential source of trouble. The object then is to place the digestive tract in such a situation that the "bugs" cannot and will not grow. In other words, we may attack the problem much as we would intestinal intoxication caused by bacterial activity.

One of the common remedies is sour milk which contains active cultures of lactic acid bacilli. Feeding these organisms in large quantities plus the addition of some bulky material such as agar [sea weed] may be helpful. Some physicians have employed kaolin [clay] as a means of transporting the lactic acid forms deeper along the alimentary canal. We must not forget, however, the importance of sulfanilamide or some derivative of this drug, which seems to discourage the propagation of the undulant fever microbes. In fact, many cases of the chronic type have yielded to this compound.

The least we can do is to avoid raw milk or contact with the raw flesh of animals used for food. Should a case develop in the family we must remind ourselves that it can be spread via discharges from the bowel and the patient should be managed just as tho he were suffering from an acute contagious disease. During the fever period, good nursing—including sponge baths—will add much to comfort and a liquid buttermilk diet will be of value.

Perhaps physicians should suspect this infection more frequently than they do. In a sense it has replaced typhoid fever among our strength sapping and efficiency destroying afflictions.

AFTER THE LAUNDRY.

Mrs. C. A. writes: Every time I do the family laundry my hands become fiery red, itchy, swollen, and tender to the touch. What can I do to prevent this condition?

REPLY.

You are undoubtedly sensitive to soap or to some washing compound. Before undertaking the task coat the skin of the hands and forearms generously with cold cream. Then don rubber gloves that fasten snugly about the wrists.

STIFF KNEES.

M. H. writes: Can you suggest anything for knee joints that get stiff once in a while?

REPLY.

Probably a mild arthritis. Light, exercise, heat, and massage will all help. The general health may need some attention, with the elimination of existing pockets of infection.

HOW MANY CELLS?

M. B. writes: How does a person know when he has too many white corpuscles and too few red ones?

REPLY.

He doesn't know until he takes a count. A small instrument, called the hemocytometer, provides an accurate method of taking a census of the blood cells.

Test Your Facts

Below each of the following questions are listed three answers. Make your choice, turn to page 29 in the Want Ad section for the correct answers, and mark your score:

1. What name is given to the present royal house of Italy?
[a] Bernadotte; [b] Savoy; [c] Bourbon.

2. What is the line that follows "Lives of great men all remind us"?
[a] "Excelsior should be the aim"; [b] "Footprints on the sands of time"; [c] "We can make our lives sublime."

3. How much salary does a congressman receive annually?
[a] $5,000; [b] $10,000; [c] $15,000.

4. From what common beverage is tannic acid obtained?

GETTING THE HOST READY FOR HIS PARTY

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, THE TRIBUNE.

THE CAUSE OF THE JITTERS.

Chicago, July 6.—It is not the fear of war which gives this country the jitters today. We have faced that prospect before without flinching. But never in our whole history has this country been confronted with a crisis when our leadership at Washington was so fumbling, bungling, so hopelessly chaotic. Nero, fiddling while Rome burned, was only a local incident. Today, with the whole world ablaze, the President of these United States pursues the only vocation he ever learned—the pursuit of votes. Votes, votes, always votes. Every plan, proposal, or project is measured in terms of votes. And still some people ask, "Will he run again?"

D'AR.

PUBLIC INTEREST IN TAXES.

Park Ridge, Ill., July 6.—In today's TRIBUNE [financial section] you publish a list of 183 companies and, among other figures, the total taxes and net income for 1939.

Few people are interested in reading these figures, and fewer will get excited about them. For what reason? Many have the idea that corporations and the rich should pay high taxes, the more the better, believing taxes should be applied on the basis of ability to pay; and others know that the companies do not pay most of these taxes, but merely act as a collection agency for the government, collecting same from the consumer of the goods and services they sell.

Every business must figure on adding taxes to the cost of goods and services and to include same in the price of what they sell; no company not doing this will stay in business long.

It is futile to publish statistics of this nature; nothing is done about them, as evidenced by the heading, "Government Gets Most of Industries' Profits and Prepares to Take More."

ARTHUR PHILIP ANDERSON.

FRONT DOOR AND BACK DOOR.

Chicago, July 7.—Yesterday as I was coming up my front stairs I heard a rasping, high pitched voice say: "The next time you deliver packages you see to it that you deliver them at my back door!" I had seen the boy enter the building with an immense package and as I passed him I said: "And when you deliver packages to me see to it that you ring my bell and come up the front way." He smiled, tipped his hat, and said, "Thank you, I shall."

When I think of these boys climbing step after step, usually the back way, and finding no one at home, then searching around for some one with whom to leave the package, I wonder if people realize how hard they have to work. I cannot remember when a package of mine has not been delivered safely. And now, with hot weather coming on, why should these boys not be permitted to ring the front door bell? Then they can be assured that their party is at home.

Those people who take the stand that all packages should be delivered at the back door should get out and try to take over the job.

MABEL B.

WILL BE A CLEAR-CUT FIGHT.

Chicago, July 5.—Regardless of whom the Democratic party nominates for the presidency, the people of the United States will have an opportunity to decide whether they wish to return to an orderly, free and impartial representative form of government or continue under the New Deal Socialist, regimentation dictatorship. The Democrats' choice will be dominated by well entrenched political groups striving to maintain their individual power.

In selecting Wendell L. Willkie as their standard bearer the Republican party has turned the tables on the professional politicians. Willkie, a sound, determined American, will reintroduce into our government a truly representative and democratic American system.

DANIEL J. MCGRATH.

ONE READER'S VIEWS.

Evanston, July 7.—I do not like, and never have, THE TRIBUNE'S attitude toward Roosevelt and, while I agree with some of your criticisms, I disagree with most and do not like the way in which they are made.

But I am writing this to let you know that you have recently been doing something I think is fine and I hope you will keep up. I have always thought that there were enough people criticizing, and that a word of commendation when something good is done is far better. I refer to your policy [or is it a policy?] of moderation in your attitude toward the war, and what seem to be efforts to alleviate some of the propaganda that is flying around now. Your editorial of this morning on the danger of an inefficient and backward military machine is another instance of your ability, at least in this area, to see clearly.

I should like to see some of the stories of German activities in the Americas either verified with indisputable facts or refuted or, perhaps even better, some facts on the activities of England and America there.

I have always thought there were some good things THE TRIBUNE did, such as the Music Festival and, in spite of rather evident distortion of the news and a medieval social philosophy in spots, you will win the respect of a lot of thinking citizens if you keep on in your efforts to keep us out of this war.

JAMES N. MORGAN.

A TAXPAYER'S LAMENT.

Chicago, July 5.—How about a new deal for the poorer people who keep getting the taxes socked to us? How about making a law that each person working should get at least $25 a week?

I and thousands of others along with me have to pay rent, eats, heat, clothes, furniture, gas, and lights on $14 or $15 a week. How would some of you big shots of the New Deal gang like to live like that?

I, for one, think it's high time we cleaned house here in these good old United States.

A TAXPAYER. [Aren't We All?]

HEALTH BOARD IGNORES HIM.

Chicago, July 5.—I have been trying for four years to get my neighbor to fix his drain pipe. It is full of holes, and when it rains the water fails thru as if somebody were pouring buckets of water over my sidewalk. Have reported matter several times in last two years to the health department without result.

FELIXA ANISKO.

REFUGEES HAVE THEIR USES.

Chicago, July 5.—The words of Dr. Shailer Mathews on the so-called refugee problem, as quoted in THE TRIBUNE, should receive wide applause. His viewpoint is shared by farsighted Americans who have not succumbed to the theory that a large proportion of European refugees are taking the jobs of our citizens away.

On the contrary, as Dean Mathews pointed out: "Refugees have created hundreds of jobs for American technicians and workers. . . . More than 200 noncompetitive new businesses have been established by refugees."

In fact, many techniques hitherto unknown in this country are being introduced with beneficial results for our economy, techniques which would otherwise have accrued to the totalitarian nations that are cutting off their noses to spite their faces.

Albert Einstein's example, who recently became a full fledged United States citizen, will be emulated by the later arrivals among the bona fide refugees; however, we ought to be on our guard lest any "fifth columnists" be admitted, whose sole purpose is to wreck American democracy.

GUY D'AULET.

GOD ALREADY HAS BLESSED US.

Chicago, July 7.—I have been waiting for some one more important than I to protest against the singing of "God Bless America" at civic affairs. It seems to me that at this stage of intelligence we should know better than to try to tell the Almighty what to do. Furthermore, God has blessed and is continually blessing America and all we have to do is realize it and "praise Him from Whom all Blessings Flow." I have never yet heard a large [or small, for that matter] gathering of our inhabitants sing any of our national songs intelligently. "God Bless America" has the tempo of a dirge. Awake, Americans, and praise ye the Lord!

M. K.

THE "CASUAL" MOTORIST.

Chicago, July 7.—Of all the "ginks" whom I would dearly love to drag out of his automobile, and implant my footprint on the seat of his breeches, is the "harebrained" driver who has one hand on the steering wheel and the other dangling out of the window or supporting the roof of his "jaloppy." One of these dopey guys nearly sidewiped me this morning. Even with both hands on the wheel there is plenty of danger. The police should call a halt on this sort of driving.

SEWERS INSPECTED.

Chicago, July 3 [Friend of the People].—Our basement gets flooded every time we have rain. It seems like all the sewer water backs up. Not only is it smelly and dirty, but it is a nuisance in a place of business like ours is. If a petition is required I will get all the neighbors to sign one, because all of their basements get flooded also. Something is wrong with the main sewers.

M. B.

Please be advised that a thoro investigation was made at the above location on June 13 which discloses the main sewer and catch basins adjacent thereto to be in good order. This basement is low and during heavy rainstorms the main sewer is temporarily overtaxed, thereby causing water in the basement. We have received no complaints from the residents in this block during recent years.

REMOVAL OF LIEN.

Chicago, July 3 [Legal Friend of the People].—Some time ago some one sued us for $25 and when the papers were issued we paid the creditor, but have learned that a judgment had been secured and there is still a lien against our business. We have the receipt for payment.

Kindly advise how the writer can go about having the lien removed?

O. P.

If the judgment was obtained in the Municipal court you should get from the clerk's office a form entitled "Satisfaction of Judgment," have the creditor execute this, and file it in the office of the clerk of the court.

WOODRING GIVES HIS VIEWS ON U. S. WAR MEDDLERS

Ousted Secretary Urges Minding Own Business.

Topeka, Kas., July 9 [Special].—Harry H. Woodring, who resigned as secretary of war on June 20 to make way for Henry L. Stimson, tonight gave his views on the subject of United States intervention in European affairs.

Woodring spoke at a chamber of commerce dinner welcoming him and his family back to Kansas after seven and one-half years in Washington. His talk was broadcast over a national radio network.

Woodring made no mention of his letter of resignation to President Roosevelt, a communication the White House said was "too personal" to release, but made it plain that his views on America's war position differed radically from those of some administration members.

Always a Noninterventionist.

"I always have been, I am now, and I expect to remain a noninterventionist," the former secretary declared. "If the reaction from my leaving the war department as a known noninterventionist has caused modification of some policies and sobered some of those provocative and meddling advisers of the administration who would strip our own defenses, then I regret that I had only one set of guts to sacrifice on the altar of public service.

"I am a strong advocate of keeping this country out of recurring European wars. I hold it is not necessary for America to provoke antagonisms with any peoples because their nation chooses one form of government over another.

"We naturally believe in and are sympathetic to the democracies of the world. But as they wage war, our aid should not be determined upon the issue of whether it be a defensive war to maintain their war-won empires; or an offensive one to maintain a European balance of power; or even if moral or social problems of European peoples be involved; our aid should be generous and upon a strict basis of cash and carry—wheat, pork, arms and airplanes alike—but aid only to the point that the sale does not jeopardize the defenses of our own country.

Would Mind Own Business.

"There need be no first line of defense beyond our own possessions if we refrain from provoking belligerency with any of the warring nations of this world.

"What is our quarrel with any power in the orient, the far or near east, Europe or Asia? We have all we can do to mind our own business, and prepare like hell to insulate this hemisphere from war.

"A neutral America, with a friendly attitude to all nations, backed up by a powerfully prepared army and navy is an America that has anticipated the path of wisdom and the path of peace."

Woodring voiced his approval of Mr. Roosevelt's moves to accelerate national defense preparations, citing the program as "proof that our democracy works."

"In the hour of great need for accomplishment," he said, "the wisdom of President Roosevelt in calling to Washington the Knudsens, Stettiniuses and other successful men of industry will be proven.

Favors Military Training.

"As an advocate of peace, I have consistently in the last eight years in Washington been an advocate of preparedness. You will recall that in January, 1934, many who now offer criticism for failure to prepare are the same ones who wanted to hang my hide on the fence because I wrote an article for a national magazine suggesting that boys in CCC camps receive elementary military training.

"If my suggestions had been followed, we would have today more than 1,500,000 trained young men as reservists."

"Now, as a private citizen, I continue my plea for preparedness by advocating that we all serve. As taxpayers we must all dig a little deeper. Our young men must face the problems of real training. Some of our industries must turn from making the comforts and luxuries of ordinary life to fabricating instruments of destruction."

Lashes Out at Tinkers.

"Simply because it was done in the name of the Democratic party," he explained, "I have not approved many of the methods used in Washington to reach objectives and do not approve of some of the brainless, impractical advisors that think our democracy must be tinkered with or made over. . . .

"With increasing public debt and large annual deficits, it is imprudent and unwise to further introduce new reform projects. Further reform legislation, when men need jobs and homes, is like caviar to the hungry."

Of President Roosevelt's proposed Pan-American cartel, Woodring asserted:

"I agree that measures must be taken to prevent economic penetration of South America by nations whose purposes and economic policies are inimical to ours.

"We should not, however, be a party to any cartel or other proposal which will sacrifice the interests of the middle-western farmer. . . ."

Mrs. Vivian Jones.

Elizabethtown, Ill., July 9 (AP).—Vivian Gladys Jones, now serving a life term for the poison pill slaying of her husband, Noah, repudiated all her previous testimony today, declaring that Vernon Snow gave her husband a fatal dose of poison last Feb. 19.

Brought into Circuit court here from Dwight women's prison as a state witness at Snow's trial on a charge of murder in the death of her husband, Mrs. Jones told Circuit Judge Roy E. Pearce, who is hearing the case, that Snow put the poison in a glass of whisky which her husband drank.

When Mrs. Jones pleaded guilty to murder last Feb. 27 she told Judge Pearce no one else participated in the death plot.

Mrs. Jones said she began working as a housekeeper for Snow, a Rosiclare carpenter, in July, 1939, and admitted being intimate with the defendant on several occasions between then and the following February, when her husband died.

CASSIDY URGED TO INVESTIGATE RELIEF FRAUDS

Marion, Ill., July 9 (AP).—A special grand jury in circuit court here today asked Attorney General John E. Cassidy to conduct an investigation into alleged relief frauds in which seven persons have been indicted.

Impaneled yesterday at the request of States Attorney J. C. Gallimore to investigate charges of fraud which have been filed against Mrs. Ethel Webb, discharged negro relief worker, the grand jury reconvened today of its own accord.

Circuit Judge Loyd Bradley of Carbondale later disclosed he was asked by the grand jury to select a special prosecutor to take Gallimore's place, but that he declined until the attorney general had been given an opportunity to take charge.

Judge Bradley said members of the grand jury told him they did not believe the relief situation had been thoroly investigated.

This development came as Mrs. Webb's trial began in Circuit court in an indictment returned last May, Mrs. Webb and Mrs. Lizzie Sterns, a white housewife of Colp, conspired to defraud the county of $3,000 in relief funds.

Does Your Breath Shout 'FALSE TEETH'?
Stera-Kleen Prevents False Teeth Odor—Cleans Without Brushing
"False teeth odor" is the curse of denture wearers. Ordinary brushing or antiseptics often will not remove scum and food particles that collect on your plate or bridge. This uncleanliness gives off the most offensive of breath odors—you do not know if you have it—but others do. Prevent this odor by using STERA-KLEEN and make sure of absolute cleanliness. STERA-KLEEN dissolves scum and food particles from the tiny crevices of your plate that brushing does not reach. It is safe—economical—easy to use. Place your bridge or plate in water, add a little STERA-KLEEN, leave for a few minutes or overnight—can't harm. Rinse, and it is purified and clean, ready for use without brushing. Daily use prevents "plate teeth odor." Get STERA-KLEEN today. Only 30c a package at any drug store.

MILK DISPUTE ARBITRATION TO START MONDAY

Arbitration of the wage dispute between the Milk Drivers' union and the Associated Milk Dealers will begin Monday. Attorneys for both sides have prepared volumes of statistics to support their claims.

The agreement to arbitrate was made after the second milk strike ended on May 27, when the men returned to work under their old $48 basic weekly pay. This scale is to continue during the arbitration, and any revision is to be retroactive to June 1.

The arbitrators will be Paul Potter, secretary of the dealers' association; Thomas Haggerty, secretary-treasurer of the union, and Msgr. Dennis J. Dunne, who will be chairman.

Lightning Strikes Twice in Same Spot at Esmond

Sycamore, Ill., July 9 [Special].—Lightning struck a second time on the H. Phelphs farm, four miles northwest of Esmond, and destroyed a new $5,000 barn today. It was the third barn to burn on this farm.

ILLINOIS YOUNG DEMOCRATS TO GATHER TODAY

Springfield, Ill., July 9 (AP).—Illinois Young Democrats will converge on the state fairgrounds here tomorrow for their annual barbecue and rally.

Fred M. Ryan, general chairman, predicted several thousand persons would attend the precampaign gathering at which Harry B. Hershey, party nominee for governor, and Senator James M. Slattery will be the principal speakers.

Two Relief Clerks Jailed for Theft of $100 in Food

Judge Erwin J. Hasten in South State Street court yesterday sentenced Patsy D. Barassi, 1752 North Austin avenue, and Henry Woods, colored, 2840 Federal street, relief clerks, to 10 days in the Bridewell. They were convicted of stealing about $100 worth of food from the relief station where they were employed at 1461 Chestnut street.

Houghteling Resigns Post as Chief of Immigration

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP).—James L. Houghteling today announced that he had resigned as commissioner of immigration and naturalization, effective July 31. Houghteling, for many years a Chicago newspaper executive, was appointed commissioner by President Roosevelt in August, 1937. He said he plans to take a rest, but that he expects to return in the early fall to work elsewhere in the government. The immigration service was transferred from the labor department to the justice department last month.

Following our usual Summer custom, our stores will close at 1 P. M. on Saturdays through August 24.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

James Norman Hall, half of the famous Nordhoff-Hall collaboration which has written such thrillers as "Mutiny on the Bounty" and "The Hurricane," now for the first time publishes a book alone. "Doctor Dogbody's Leg" is a collection of 10 yarns with a fabulous one-legged character, Doctor Dogbody, as chief spinner.

They are all tall tales—very tall ones—of sea battles and adventures in far places, and in each one of them Doctor Dogbody tells with the most convincing details how he lost his leg. But there is nothing monotonous about that tale, for each time the circumstances are different and the geography as far apart as the seven seas on which sailed this Munchhausen of the taproom of the Cheerful Tortoise, Portsmouth, England, "now that Napoleon has been safely exiled to St. Helena."

The veracity of each tale is proved either by some one who was present at the crucial moment or by some tangible memento of the occasion which the clever old ship's surgeon slips out of his pocket at the psychological moment.

James Norman Hall.

Once it was a gigantic Indian, full feathered, that sliced the leg off with a cutlass in a fight at sea between the British and the Yankees. Another time the leg was guillotined off when Dr. Dogbody was about to lose a more vital part of his body, and he awoke from the shock to find a decapitated man beside him, his exact duplicate. Still another time the old sea surgeon—not so old then!—was riding thru Russia with no one less than Catherine the Great when he voluntarily leaped into the midst of a pack of wolves to save her life.

Another time, after having lost his leg by the scratch of a cock, and having been the first to use "vulnerary" water, he was the recipient of a beautifully mechanized hollow leg fabricated by none other than the famous Dr. Benjamin Franklin himself. Another time a tiny venomous water worm was the cause of the leg's loss on an island somewhere in the Atlantic, where he had put in with a shipload of slaves.

Still another time the little doc was riding on an ostrich near Capetown, South Africa, and was shot in the leg by a poisoned arrow. Again while he was performing an operation during the battle of Copenhagen under Nelson his own leg was shot off by a ball. In another tale it was "lopped off with as pretty a left-handed swing with a two-handed sword as was ever made with one hand by a six foot Sikh."

The tale of the leg's loss in each case is a mere adjunct to as fine a piece of high class spellbinding as most of us could ask to encounter.

Adventure Mystery

"Adventure-Mystery-Romance" proclaims the jacket of this tale, and the operations of a clever rogue and a beautiful female psychopath.

The hero is a young newspaper man who unexpectedly inherits York place in Maryland, the family seat of a long line of Davenans warring among themselves. The heroine is [you guessed it] a girl so beautiful that it is hard for any one to believe that she is a criminal, altho it looks dangerously as tho she were. The hero has a wise-cracking friend, and his own conversation is on the quip side, which adds color to the book, and the old Maryland manor house background is unusual and convincingly pictured. Otherwise "The Bones of Napoleon" is mine-run light "adventure-mystery-romance."

Renaissance Artist

"Michelangelo," by Marcel Brion; translated by James Whitall. [Greystone, $3.50.]

From the pen of a French literary artist ironically comes this biography of one of the world's greatest artists who also saw his country swept by ravaging enemies, who turned his talents in his middle life to its defense. Michelangelo watched a whole culture dissolve before his very eyes and a new national psychology grow in its place, but when he died at the age of 90 he could look back over a life spent unwaveringly devoted to beauty, unswervingly true to his ideals.

The Renaissance, too lush, died of its own richness before his eyes and at the end of his days the world was a different world, but during that upheaval, he did what was his share of the work of every day defense and remaking, and the artist in him never died.

As biography, this is of the popular brand. There is no deep scholastic marshalling of argument about his controversial life. There are no thus just about covers the matter. There is a hint of historical mystery—that possibly Napoleon was buried not in Paris but in Maryland—but the real mystery has nothing to do with the title. It is concerned with minuatae of detail and little intensive criticism of Michelangelo as painter, sculptor, poet, or architect, but broadly, against the years of a changing world, a shy, sad man lives as a great artist.

Popular Light Novel

"Something Special," by Faith Baldwin. [Farrar & Rinehart, $2.]

One of the season's most popular light novels tells of a marriage that had "something special" about it, but which, for all that, just didn't survive. The hero and the heroine apparently have everything they ought to have to make a happy marriage, including two charming children, and, as it eventuates, love, altho for almost 300 pages neither husband nor wife realizes it, and devoted admirers, beautiful young actresses, the charms of keeping a decorating shop and of cruising about waters and on land kept them apart. Faith Baldwin is one of the most popular of today's romancers, and why is obvious. There is always "something special" about her love stories.

Two Books Make Worthy Additions to Annals of West

"Tixier's Travels on the Osage Prairie," translated from the French of Albert J. Salvan by John Francis McDermott. [University of Oklahoma Press, $3.]

An old western expression is used to describe a man as trustworthy and wise, fearless and determined. It is: "He'll do to ride the rivers with." Frazier Hunt applies this phrase to Ad Spaugh, the hero of his latest book. It might also apply to Mr. Hunt, for he takes us, in this true, but dramatized story of a cowman's life, across many a river of history, turbulent and exciting. He guides us up the Chisholm trail, into roaring Dodge City, and thru some of the west's most colorful history. From the mechanical alchemy of Hunt's typewriter this story comes out human, real, informative, and stirring.

Scholarly, and with less of the charm and virility that abound in Mr. Hunt's book of the west, "Tixier's Travels" has more of a contribution to make to the history of our west. It is an edited volume of translations from the personal journals of a young Frenchman who joined the Osage Indians for a buffalo hunt. It is a rare item of Americana. W. D.

A Trio of Current Novelists

Marital Woes Supply Theme for Two Tales

"Kind Are Her Answers," by Mary Renault. [Morrow, $2.50.]
"Full Meridian," by Naomi Jacob. [Macmillan, $2.]

BY EDITH WEIGLE.

Here are two novels by English writers that have a similar theme: Problems of marriage after love has died.

Mary Renault, who wrote "Promise of Love," tells in her new novel of the clandestine romance of a hard working doctor in a provincial English town. Kit Anderson's wife, Janet, became a complete hypochondriac after the death of her first baby. She is an utterly self-centered person, the type that would make a saint rebel.

While ministering to a wealthy old patient, Kit falls in love with her great-niece, a gay, attractive, generous hearted girl called Christie. She brings him the first kindness he has known in years.

Because a divorce or any hint of scandal would ruin his medical practice, they meet in secret. Too late Kit learns Christie amuses herself with other companions while he is apart from her. Finally, she tells him she is to marry one of them.

Meantime Kit's wife has become engrossed with the Oxford movement and has gone to South Africa, apparently for good. Kit is left quite alone after the death of his partner, John Fraser, and fate arranges that Christie return to him. At their first meeting he realizes that nearly all the ups and downs of their previous days would reoccur. Disillusioned, he nevertheless loves her, and the old cycle is started once more as the story ends.

"Full Meridian," by Naomi Jacob, is the tale of an aggressive, realistic woman who strives to shape her own destiny. Married to a man she has come to loathe, she turns all her mind and energies to rearing her three children and to managing her husband's store, Harringtons'.

At his death she is dismayed to find he has bequeathed this establishment to their ne'er-do-well son, Foster, instead of to her. She leaves England and visits her two daughters, one in India, the other in New York. In the end she falls in love with a man whose tastes are more like her own than her first husband's, and as the story closes she is once more in possession of Harringtons', which she determines to build up again for her grandson.

South American Jaunt.

"The East Coast of South America," by Sydney A. Clark [Prentice-Hall, $3], takes the reader on a modern travel jaunt to Rio, Santos, Montevideo, and Buenos Aires.

Helen Hull Gives a Deft Touch to an Unusual Story

"Through the House Door," by Helen Hull. [Coward-McCann, $2.50.] Published Monday.

"Through the House Door," Helen Hull's 10th novel, is an exceptional piece of work in the field of the light novel. It is written with the delicacy, deftness and sensitivity that justify comparisons of Miss Hull's work with that of Willa Cather.

Helen Hull.

This is the story of a woman whose husband goes blind. In the long run, it could be the story of any marriage that, torn either by circumstance or by misunderstanding, seems on the verge of crumbling. Miss Hull attacks with perception the problem of the man, his pride hurt when he becomes dependent, who withdraws into himself, and that of the wife who toys with a passing fancy for another man.

A few of the situations seem a bit fantastic, but as a whole the book is excellent, both scintillating and provocative. M. W.

From Rio Grande to Panama Along the Pan-American

"The Pan-American Highway," by Harry A. Franck and Herbert C. Lanks. [Appleton-Century, $5.]

Harry A. Franck, who has visited Mexico several times and written three books about it, again crosses that country, from north to south, over the Pan-American highway. This time he has the advantage of having Herbert C. Lanks, expert cameraman, with him on his land cruise. Mr. Lanks contributed 150 photographs, probably as fine as any ever taken in Mexico. About half of the trip was thru Mexico—the remainder across the six countries of Guatemala, Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua, Costa Rica, and Panama. The book should be must reading for prospective visitors to these countries south of the Rio Grande. A decorative end paper map by Gladys C. Lanks is a feature. A. C.

Good Reading in This List of Current Plays

"Margin for Error," by Clare Boothe. [Random House, $2.]
"The Male Animal," by James Thurber and Elliott Nugent. [Random House, $2.]
"The Philadelphia Story," by Philip Barry. [Coward-McCann, $2.]
"Ladies in Retirement," by Edward Percy and Reginald Denham. [Random House, $2.]

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.

These plays include some of the best reading in contemporary drama:

In "Margin for Error" Miss Boothe has full play for her satiric brilliance on the up to the minute issue of Nazism in this country. The German consul in a large city is found dead in the midst of a room full of people. Every one there, from the Jewish policeman to an attaché whose Aryanism is in doubt, is a suspect. The dialog has a tendency to repeat itself in the second act, but the play is well knit.

"The Male Animal" is a really funny comedy of the mild professor who throws off the yoke of academic persecution. He is on the spot for wishing to read an excerpt from a Vanzetti letter to his class. His pretty wife adds to his troubles by becoming interested in an old admirer who has returned for the homecoming football game. A drunk scene in the second act is uproarious.

In "The Philadelphia Story" Philip Barry is back in the metier which brought him recognition as one of America's foremost playwrights in the comedy of manners. He has forsaken the metaphysical ramblings of "Hotel Universe" and "Here Come the Clowns" and takes up again the mood of "Holiday" and "The Animal Kingdom"—with great success. This play, with Katharine Hepburn in the leading rôle, was recently popular in Chicago. It tells the story of a young woman who would live in an "ivory tower"—aloof from the madding world—until surprisingly she realizes that she can be "the golden girl, full of love and warmth and delight."

"Ladies in Retirement" is hailed as one of the best of the English murder melodramas and has done well in New York. It is written with simplicity and mounting suspense, with horrible death moving about an old house on the marshes.

Among Current Mysteries

Artfully Designed Plot

"The Whispering Cup," by Mabel Seeley. [Crime Club, $2.]

The tenacious ability of a small town to demoralize its enemy by innuendo and whispered accusation forms the background of this adept mystery novel. The cup is a small Minnesota town, and its whispering when Solveig Nayes comes back home involves her in two murders and finally mounts to a veritable hurricane that threatens to destroy her and the man whose love she had recaptured. The plot is artfully designed and a set of satisfactorily recognizable characters keep the book moving smoothly to its climax. W. D.

Anthology of Crime.

"Some Like It Gory," by John Kobler. [Dodd-Mead, $2.50.]

"Some Like It Gory" is called "a postgraduate course in the art of murder, with practical demonstrations by the world's master technicians." John Kobler has written a sanguinary anthology of crime covering four centuries and ranging over two continents. It's recommended to the mystery fan who prefers actual to fiction slaughter. A. C.

CHARGED WIRE UPSETS PRISON BREAK; TWO DIE

Escaped Convicts Try to Free Pals; Guard Slain.

Fort Madison, Ia., July 9 (AP).—Robert Hart, Iowa state penitentiary guard who was shot as he held the wall in an unsuccessful prison break last night, died today. He was the second victim of the escape attempt in which three other fugitive convicts were believed to have aided from outside the prison.

William Cunningham, 30 years old, of Sioux City, Ia., convict who led the unsuccessful break, killed himself when he found his way to freedom blocked by an electrified fence. Two other fleeing convicts were rounded up quickly.

Serving Robbery Terms.

They were listed by Warden Glenn C. Haynes as William O. Kunce, 24, Omaha, Neb., and Detroit, Mich., and Wilford Sampica, 43, of Cedar Rapids, Ia. Both were serving 25 year terms for robbery with aggravation. Cunningham was serving a life term for participation in the $5,000 robbery of the Lemars, Ia., Savings bank May 11, 1935.

Guard Hart had been shot in the neck by a man who fired from the outside. Warden Hayes said he believed three men who broke out of the penitentiary on June 22 were the outsiders who tried to free their friends on the inside.

The three still at liberty are Ival Sullivan, 28; Lowell Haenze, 27, and Forrest Estes, 36. Search for them was concentrated in the vicinity of Alendale, Mo., after a group of farmers in that area reported sighting three suspicious men in an automobile.

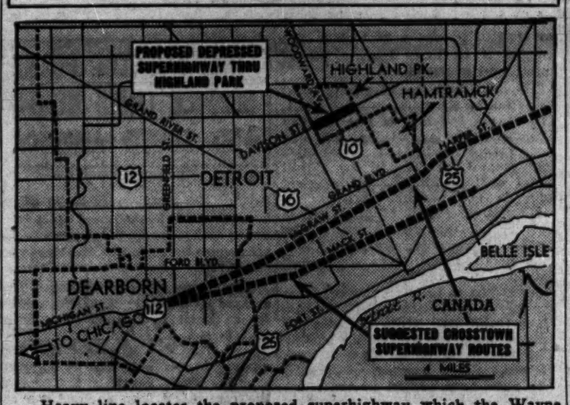
Two Were Close Friends.

Cunningham and Sullivan were close friends, the warden said, and inquiry revealed Sullivan had told Cunningham he would come back and help him escape. The unsuccessful dash for liberty began when one of three men who had been seen outside the prison walls shot Hart as the guard walked along the top of a wall.

The assailant then threw a shotgun over the wall and ran with a companion to a nearby car, where a third man was waiting, and the three drove toward Burlington, Ia.

Prison authorities said that as the shot was fired the three convicts inside shouted "Let's go." Cunningham picked up the shotgun and the three prisoners ran toward a point where a new prison wall was under construction. There they were halted by the electrified fence, and Cunningham turned the shotgun on himself, while the other two surrendered.

Detroit to Eliminate a Bottleneck



Heavy line locates the proposed superhighway which the Wayne county road commission has decided to build thru Highland Park, to accommodate Detroit traffic passing thru the suburb. Broken lines indicate two routes proposed for crosstown superhighways.

DETROIT WILL DIG A HIGHWAY UNDER SUBURB BARRIERS

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., July 8.—To break a suburban bottleneck—a traffic problem common in all metropolitan areas—the Wayne county road commission has decided to build a superhighway thru the town of Highland Park here with complete segregation from the village streets. Highland Park, with a population of approximately 50,000, five miles northwest of the central business district, is surrounded by Detroit.

This suburban project is separate from the 50 million and 72½ million dollar superhighway programs proposed for this urban area by the county and by the Michigan highway commission. County Engineer Leroy C. Smith hopes to complete the Highland Park job next year.

Typical Metropolitan Situation.

"This is a typical metropolitan situation," Smith said. "Big city traffic is going thru a little city. The little city doesn't want the traffic. It's a nuisance and a hazard. The little city can't afford to accommodate the big city's motor travel. There's no place for a bypass. You have similar problems in your suburbs surrounding Chicago.

"Functionally, under our present plans, the big city traffic is going to underpass the entire small city. The design calls for a depression of the pair of express pavements for the entire 1.25 miles across the village. The cost is estimated at 3¾ million dollars.

All Stops Eliminated.

"Our surveys show that 94 per cent of the vehicles using this thorofare do not wish to stop in Highland Park. Using this improvement, there will be no stop.

"The right of way is being widened to 210 feet by acquiring the lots and houses on one side of the street. Highland Park refused to contribute to the cost, the city fathers pointing out that in this widening they were losing $800,000 of assessed valuations, a tax revenue of $20,000 a year.

"This shrinkage in taxable property must be considered in any superhighway planning. It's a weakness of the depressed type of design. However, the elevated type, requiring less right of way, isn't as desirable in neighborhoods of single family residences.

Cross Streets to Stay at Grade.

"Two slabs, each 33 feet wide, each accommodating three lanes of traffic, will pass under the seven cross streets, which will remain at their present grade. The cross streets will be carried on viaducts with sidewalks and roadways of present widths.

On each side of this open cut will be a 28 foot roadway at grade, adequate for two lanes of local traffic plus curb parking.

"The local traffic, parking and pedestrians will be freed of the annoyances and risks imposed upon the present street by thru travel. Thru travel will be expedited with safety. Cross traffic, including busy Woodward avenue, will no longer be stopped at Davison. No surface street widening could obtain these happy results."

RETIRED CHICAGO POLICEMAN DIES IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Michael Keough, 60 years old, 213 South LaVergne avenue, a retired Chicago policeman, was killed yesterday in an automobile accident three miles east of Ottawa, in La Salle county, when the car in which he was riding skidded, sideswiped another car and crashed against a telephone pole. Four other passengers were hurt. They are Lieut. James J. Donlan of the traffic detail, Donlan's wife, Louise, 5077 Monroe street; Donlan's sister-in-law, Mrs. Mary Donlan, 5092 Monroe street, and William O'Malley, 5055 Monroe street, also a retired policeman.

Edward Sullivan, 32, of 1532 Washburn avenue, was killed on U. S. highway 30, half a mile east of Hanna, in La Porte county, Indiana, when his car ran into a bridge abutment last night.

Edward Mervicker, 55 years old, 6631 South Carpenter street, a plumber was killed when he was struck by an automobile while crossing Ashland avenue at 64th street. George Ringberg, 316 West 59th street, was the driver.

John Jackson, 70 years old, 1951 Cuyler avenue, died in County hospital yesterday after he was struck by an automobile at Lincoln and Cuyler avenues. Mario Adelchio, 25, 450 North May street, was the driver.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday, 437 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 331 were killed in Chicago, where 11,657 were injured in traffic accidents during the same period.

JUBILEE RECALLS DARING SPIRIT OF EARLY CHICAGO U.

First Fund Drives Inspire 50th Year Campaign.

That spirit of old Chicago which dared to challenge the monopoly of the east as to great universities was vividly recalled yesterday at a luncheon opening the 50th anniversary celebration of the University of Chicago. Many leading citizens attended the meeting at the Chicago club.

The university is determined to raise $12,000,000 in connection with the Golden Jubilee, which will continue for 15 months, climaxed by a four day academic festival in September, 1941.

Recalls Early Day Drives.

Reminiscences giving point to this campaign were told at the luncheon by Edgar J. Goodspeed, son of Thomas W. Goodspeed, first secretary of the board of trustees.

Goodspeed, a distinguished scholar and author and professor emeritus of biblical and Patristic Greek, recalled how his father solicited aid from John D. Rockefeller and how the oil king pledged $600,000 on two conditions: That Chicagoans contribute $400,000 and that nothing be said of his help until the decision to establish a college had been made.

"The campaign for that $400,000 began with my father and Frederick T. Gates, corresponding secretary of the Baptist Education society, walking the streets to raise money," Prof. Goodspeed said.

Marshall Field Aids.

"In three months they raised $200,000 from Baptists and decided that it would be necessary to approach other citizens for aid. They went to Marshall Field, who gave them one and a half blocks of land. Then they were able to go back to business men and get the money."

Dr. William Rainey Harper was elected president of what was then thought of merely as a college in September, 1890.

"Dr. Harper knew that money was available only for a college," Prof. Goodspeed said, "but he refused to think in such terms, dwelling instead on the work to be done by a great university in research."

Satisfied that Chicago was in earnest, Rockefeller gave an additional million dollars. Marshall Field declared that Chicago must meet this gift with another million dollars. He gave the first $100,000, and within 90 days the sum had been raised.

Crowd Injures 2 Policemen After 2 Women Are Seized

Policemen John Nolan and John Casey of Commissioner Allman's office were attacked by a hastily formed crowd early yesterday after they had arrested two colored women, alleged to have been soliciting on the streets, at 3012 Indiana avenue. In the struggle that ensued Casey was slugged and Nolan was shot in the left hand. The women escaped. Nolan was under treatment last night in the Little Company of Mary hospital. He and Casey are assigned to vice investigations.

KELLY IN CAPITAL TO PUSH CHICAGO BID FOR U. S. CASH

Talks for Plane Plant and Lake Front Airport.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 9.—Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago visited several administrative departments today seeking federal funds for Chicago.

He called at the war department on Assistant Secretary Louis Johnson to recite the advantages of locating the proposed airplane engine research laboratory in the nation's aviation capital, Chicago. He also argued that Chicago is a logical place for the government to urge material manufacturers to remove their plants from exposed seaboards.

During the conference with the assistant secretary, who is in charge of industrial mobilization, Mayor Kelly sought to enlist army support for the proposed 25 million dollar lake front airport for Chicago as an aid to national defense as well as to commercial aviation.

WPA Grant Being Sought.

This project also was the subject of a conference with Deputy Commissioner of Public Works Howard O. Hunter. Chicago is and has been seeking a 25 million dollar WPA grant and loan for the project.

The mayor had a third conference with Jesse H. Jones, federal loan administrator, seeking approval of a 25 million dollar loan to enable the city to complete its subway and traction unification project. The application for a loan has been pending for several months.

"I was favorably received everywhere I went and am hopeful of success in all three of my quests," the mayor said at the end of a busy day. "Approval of such projects takes time and all I can do for Chicago is to keep plugging away."

Doubts Early Decision.

The mayor said Jones did not indicate when a decision will be reached on the traction loan, but he did not feel that an immediate decision will be made.

Kelly plans to leave here tomorrow for Chicago. He will meet with other officials in pursuits of his objectives. He has not decided whether he will go by plane or train.

The mayor would not discuss reports that he may be named chairman of the Democratic national committee should Postmaster General James A. Farley resign to run the New York Yankees. He said he did not come to Washington for political reasons.

FOUND HANGED IN ROOM.

FIX TRIAL JURY HEARS JUDGES AND ATTORNEYS

A parade of character witnesses testified yesterday in the Criminal court of Judge James Fardy in behalf of Sam Orlando, Democratic precinct captain of the 11th ward, and Attorney George Crane. Orlando, Crane, and two others, John Howe, discharged state policeman, and James Creed, former court bailiff and now superintendent of city dumps, are charged with trying to fix a jury which acquitted Orlando and Joseph Vinci last winter on vote fraud charges.

Among those who testified for Orlando were Attorneys James M. Burke and Harry Bush. Judges John Prystalski and John Rooney, Attorney Thomas Nash, and other political and legal notables appeared to vouch for Crane's character.

Orlando denied he had attempted to influence any of the jurors in their deliberations. He said he never had met either Creed or Howe before the vote fraud trial.

DRUNK DRIVER GETS TEN DAYS; 2D FINED $100

Judge Gibson Gorman in Safety court yesterday sentenced Walter Tholl, 43 years old, 3306 North Harding avenue, to 10 days in the county jail for driving an automobile while intoxicated. His driving privileges were suspended for 60 days. Tholl's car collided with another on Feb. 14 at Kimball and Diversey avenues.

Frank Lask, 50, of 11029 Avenue L, was fined $100 and costs and deprived of driving privileges for 60 days. He also was charged with driving while drunk. On June 18 he sped past a red light at 29th street and Michigan avenue and was caught by the police after a chase on South side streets.

RECOVER RIVER VICTIM'S BODY.

Coast guardsmen early last evening recovered the body of a man about 40 years old from the north branch of the Chicago river. He leaped from the Kinzie street bridge. Cards in the man's pockets indicated he was Charles Meminger, 639 Weed street.

Beam Falling in Blaze Injures Eye of Fireman

Does Your Breath Broadcast—"I WEAR FALSE TEETH"?

Play Safe—Be Sure—Use Polident

People who wear plates or bridges often suffer from a special kind of bad breath. Dentists call it—"denture breath."

You won't know if you have it—but it can spoil your happiness. Friends will shudder—people avoid you! And the worst of it is that ordinary brushing may not prevent it. Neither will mouth washes. For the odor comes from a mucin-scum that collects on plates and bridges. This scum soaks up germs and decay bacteria and causes a vile odor that you cannot detect.

One thing that definitely stops "denture breath" is daily use of Polident! This new brushless cleaner has won the approval of thousands of dentists and users. Polident not only purifies false teeth—but also removes all stain, tarnish and food deposits. Makes breath sweeter—plates look better and feel better. Costs only 30¢ at any drug store and lasts for many weeks. Money back if not delighted.

Cleans, Purifies Like Magic
Do this daily: Add a little Polident powder to ½ glass water. Stir. Then put in plate or bridge for 10 to 15 minutes—Rinse—and it's ready to use!

DISCOVER MILES OF NEW TRAILS IN MAMMOTH CAVE

4 Guides Open Up More Scenic Treasures.

Mammoth Cave, Ky., July 9 [Special].—Discovery of miles of hitherto unknown avenues in Mammoth cave was announced yesterday by the national park service.

Four guides—Carl and Pete Hanson and Leo and Claude Hunt—found the underground network as a result of an expedition along Roaring river in search of eyeless fish. Days of exploring narrow crawlways leading from the river channel resulted in opening up a new world and revealing scenic treasures never seen before.

News Is Withheld.

News of the discovery has been withheld ever since the four men entered the first main avenue under Lee ridge on Oct. 10, 1938. For 20 years explorers had sought in vain to get beneath this structure. Because of its proximity to Mammoth Cave ridge, and its similarity in size and topography, they were certain that underneath it lay another network of channels.

Years of disappointment in this search made the discoverers cautious about announcing their find. They confided at first only in Martin L. Chariet, cave manager and veteran of nearly 40 years of experience. Since then, park officials and engineers have followed the twisting, tortuous trail of the four explorers. For months these officials have been surveying and checking, and today they pronounce the find the greatest made hereabouts since Mammoth itself was discovered in 1799.

Gypsum Flower Gardens.

Outstanding phenomenon in the network, aside from the miles of main avenues, is the labyrinth of gypsum flower gardens. For hundreds of feet many thorofares are literal arbors, with the ceiling, walls, and even the floor covered with the stone floral blanket.

There are three main avenues. The largest extends fully 7,000 feet. Unequaled by anything previously know equaled by anything previously known, it is more evenly cut, in straighter lines, and holds its vast dimensions more consistently, than Mammoth cave's great Broadway avenue. Thruout its length it maintains an average width of 50 feet and a height of 30 to 35 feet. Its walls and ceiling glisten with flaked gypsum and gypsum crystals.

Fossil avenue, so called because masses of crustaceans are imbedded in its walls, is distinctive for the uniformity of its carving and coloring. It runs for nearly a mile at right angles to "Big" avenue.

Shorter; More Beautiful.

Another link, tentatively called "Onyx" avenue because of its stalactite and stalagmite formations, is only about 1,200 feet long, 12 feet high, and 15 feet wide. But, in the opinion of many geologists—including Dr. J. Harlen Bretz of the University of Chicago—it is the most beautiful of the lot. There swirling currents once etched out intricate patterns in the chalk-white limestone.

Public showing of the newly found treasures will not be possible for at least two years. R. Taylor Hoskins, acting superintendent of Mammoth Cave National park, said today that upon completion of the work entrance, expected in about three months, officials will begin extensive scientific and other investigations, looking toward a more complete understanding of the phenomena hidden here for eons. Until this work is finished, it will not be possible to open up the avenues to tourists.

Cavern Wonders, Ages Old

Michigan Plants Trout in Beaver Isle Streams

St. James, Mich., July 9 [Special].—Nearly 400 legal size adult brook trout have been planted in two of the streams on Beaver Island. The streams are difficult to fish, but abundant in natural cover and food, and have yielded a number of limit catches.

JULY 4 SETS NEW TOURIST RECORD IN MINNESOTA

St. Paul, Minn., July 9 [Special].—The Fourth of July week-end this year saw more tourists visiting in Minnesota than ever before in the state's history.

This is the consensus of reports received by Victor A. Johnson, director of the state tourist bureau, from resort operators and other sources.

A number of resorts sent word that they had been forced to turn down requests for holiday reservations. Others predicted that the volume of traffic would be even larger for the next few weeks.

CHICAGO ANGLERS STRIKE IT LUCKY IN NORTH WATERS

Wall Eyed Pike and Bass Biting Furiously.

BY BOB BECKER.

Chicagoans have been getting their names in the angler's "success book" in the last few weeks.

Reports from many parts of Wisconsin, Michigan, and Minnesota tell how the fishermen connected with wall-eyed pike, bass, and muskellunge. The late spring and cool weather apparently has kept the bass in shallow water longer than usual, with the result that many excellent catches have been made.

The small mouthed black bass fishing in Green bay, out from Door county, Wisconsin, has been tops this season. Since July 1, opening day of the season, the fighting small mouths have been in shallow water around the islands and reefs in the bay, so that sportsmen could catch them on artificial lures.

3½ Pound Bass Caught.

Hays MacFarland of 1430 Lake Shore drive, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Wade or 3240 Lake Shore drive, and R. E. Pattison Kline of Wilmette were among those fishing out of the town of Fish Creek, in the Door county peninsula. In MacFarland's string of nine small mouths was one 3½ pounder. All were caught by casting along the shoreline with underwater, artificial lures.

Clyde Helgeson of Fish Creek reported that Mr. and Mrs. Guy C. Smith of 1120 Lake Shore drive also made a good catch by trolling and casting for the small mouths in the waters of Green bay. Some of the bass in their string weighed between 2½ and 3½ pounds.

Residents of Chicagoland are well represented in the Eagle River chain of lakes. One caught a 4½ pound small mouth bass from Cranberry lake. Several muskies also have been hooked.

35 Inch Muskie.

Altho Dan Vickers, postmaster of Park Falls, Wis., told us, when we saw him a few days ago, that the muskies in the Fifield-Park Falls area had been sulking, A. F. Lauffs of 6829 Osceola avenue managed to get one of these temperamental fish to strike. It was a 35 incher. He caught it in Long lake, about 12 miles west of Fifield.

The pike and the bass have been as active as the muskies were quiet. William A. Maxwell of the Chicago Railway exchange needed just one hour to get his limit of seven walleyes from Long lake, in the Mason chain west of Fifield. All weighed between three and five pounds.

Charles B. Smith of Maywood is another who has scored against the muskies this season. He fished Clear lake in the Manitowish chain, and caught a 19¼ pounder.

According to the latest report from the Manitowish waters, the pike continue to hit well, altho the bass are not performing as well as they should. The largest taken to date is four pounds. Small mouths twice that size have been caught in the Manitowish waters.

Crystal lake, not far from Beulah, Mich., has been producing some nice strings of small mouthed black bass for Chicagoans. In three hours of casting Victor Pring hooked sixteen and landed ten small mouth bass running up to 3½ pounds in weight. All were taken by fly casting shallow water over rocks.

On our recent scouting trip thru the Aitkin and Park Rapids, Minnesota, fishing country we found the guides complaining about the late spring and cool weather. This, they said, was holding back the bass in some of the larger lakes.

With the arrival of warm days the fishing was expected to take an upturn.

THREE GIRLS MAKE MEXICO CITY DEBUT AS BULL FIGHTERS

MEXICO CITY, July 9 [Special].—Three girls have made their debut in the bull fight arena here. All three are competing against Mexico's best male matadors, and sometimes against one another. They are appearing each Sunday afternoon this summer.

They are Conchita Cintron of Peru, winner of the Covadonga medal for the best matador in Tampico; Juanita Cruz, a Spanish gypsy, and Maria Cobian, a young Mexican who is just beginning to win fame as a bull fighter.

Señorita Cintron is an expert horsewoman and a rejoneadora—which means that she fights the bull with a spear, Portuguese style, both mounted and afoot. The tiny Señorita Cruz, using the traditional Spanish methods, wears a high-crowned hat and leather chaps.

FIRST NONSTOP PLANE SERVICE LINKS NORTH AND SOUTH AMERICA

Miami, Fla., July 9 [Special].—As a part of the program to bring about a more unified western hemisphere, faster and more frequent commercial air service between the Americas was started last week.

The Pan-American Airways increased its schedule of weekly sailing from Miami to Buenos Aires from four to six.

Last Thursday it opened the first nonstop service between the two continents. Each Thursday the first of the company's four engined, "overweather" Clipper ships will leave for a flight across the Caribbean to Barranquilla, Colombia.

QUEBEC RAISES SPEED LIMIT TO 50 MILES AN HOUR

QUEBEC, July 9 [Special].—Fifty miles an hour on Quebec's hard surfaced roads is the new speed limit announced by the provincial government. Simultaneously, highway department workers have begun removing the old 30 mile an hour signs.

The higher limit, it is explained, has been made possible by the improvement in the province's network of highways.

CLOCK OF AGES RUNS BACKWARD IN OLD ANTIGUA

Historic Guatemalan City a Tourist Rarity.

BY FREDERIC BABCOCK.

ANTIGUA, Guatemala [By Mail].—Guatemala City, capital of this land where time stands still, has about the same number of people it had a hundred years ago, when Chicago was in its swaddling clothes.

But in Antigua the clocks haven't been stopped. Rather, they've been running backward ever since 1773. In that year an earthquake wrecked what was then the Guatemalan capital. The city has never recovered.

Guatemala City is modern enough, as Latin American standards go, but Antigua is still living—or at least existing—in its faded glories. As a tourist haunt it's unbeatable; as a place in which to try to get somewhere in business or professionally we wouldn't recommend it. It has too many reminders of a dead past.

A Trip You Dream About.

The auto ride from the present capital to the old one is one of those things you read about or dream about, but never expect to take.

We leave Guatemala City, with its suggestions of Athens' Acropolis, and head toward a town [name forgotten] that boasts of a ceiba tree which would just about cover a city lot in our Chicago suburb. Underneath it is the town's outdoor department store, with special bargains and everything except a bargain basement on market day. Beside it is a 400 year old Spanish church which looks its age, if not more so.

We pass Lake Amatitlan, which sits at the base of the Agua volcano. Agua is 12,350 feet high, and from its peak you can see the Atlantic, the Pacific, and Mexico. Its interior is, of course, an inferno, and part of its hellfire has its influence on Amatitlan. At one place in the lake, we are told, the water is so hot that you can boil an egg in it.

We pass endless processions of Indians, all going to market and all weighted down with produce. The Indians are mostly of small stature and even the children look old.

The Guide Hurries One On.

We come to Santa Maria de Jesus, a town sticking up, at an altitude of 7,300 feet, on the side of Agua. Because of—or perhaps in spite of—its name, it looks to be worth a trip of exploration, but the guide says we'll have to hurry on.

We stop at a collection of shacks and find their walls made of cornstalks and their so-called thatched roofs made of hay. The floors are of earth, with an occasional mat for cleanliness.

A little boy, chasing a pig back into its pen in front of a shack, takes time off, first to bid us welcome, and then to bid us good-by. In Guatemala, it appears, the signs are reversed. The boy waves us away when he asks us to come into his house and beckons to us as he gives the farewell sign.

Peasants Have Acre Apiece.

The peasants have an acre apiece, granted by the government. Some of them have cows, but they don't drink the milk. Instead it is taken to the nearest town, where it is churned into butter.

The tiny farms give way to big coffee plantations as we drop down from the side of the mountain to the valley in which is Antigua, 5,000 feet above sea level. The view from the hills is one of sheer beauty.

Antigua, our guide lets us know as we skim thru the outskirts, was once the third largest city in the new world. It was exceeded only by Mexico City and Lima. It was the capital of Central America. On the day of the quake in 1773 it had 80,000 people. On the following day it had only the members of 15 families. Today its population is about 12,000.

We speed past ruins, overgrown with lush vegetation, as we make our way to the Hotel Aurora. The ruins are to be visited on the morrow; right now the main object in life is to get under a shower and get rid of the Guatemalan real estate we have accumulated along the way.

Hay Fever Refuge to Keep Pollen Count This Summer

Frankfort, Mich., July 9 [Special].—This resort, proud of its reputation as a haven for hay fever victims, will keep a record of its pollen count this summer. The state department of health is coöperating in the count.

Travel Queries Answered

What's your travel problem? Address queries regarding where to go, how to get there, costs, and accommodations to the Travelers' Guide, Chicago Tribune, inclosing stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Where is Frank Lloyd Wright's estate, "Taliesin?" P. R.

Near Spring Green, in Sauk county, Wisconsin.

Please tell me something about the Indiana-Michigan dune country. L. D. F.

The dunes stretch along the shores of Lake Michigan from a point just east of Gary, Ind., to South Haven, Mich. They may be reached from Chicago by railroad, auto, bus, or great lakes steamer. The area has attracted scientists and nature lovers from all over the world. They were drawn to it by the curiously beautiful combination of water, cliffs, shifting sand, and forest wilderness. The phenomenon is said to be duplicated in only one other place—along the shores of a lake in Russia. Formerly the dunes were frequented chiefly by geologists and naturalists; today they have become one of the great summer playgrounds of America.

Can you give me the dates of this year's Indian Days celebration at Banff, in the Canadian Rockies? C. J. M.

July 18 to 21.

How big is the Grand Canyon of the Colorado? A. W.

It is 17 miles wide and more than a mile deep.

July 22 to 25.

I have been told that there is a city in Mexico where the walls of some of the buildings are made partly of silver. What information can you give me on the subject? B. H.

Many of the older buildings in Chihuahua contain enough silver in their walls to make their demolition and reduction a profitable undertaking. Now an industrial city, Chihuahua was an important mining center in the days of the Spanish conquerors. Their method of extracting silver ores was so crude that much rich material was thrown away with the dross. This slag, mixed with silver scoriae, was widely used in building.

Where is Paw Paw lake? W. B.

Passion Play Opens in Black Hills Amphitheater

Spearfish, S. D., July 9 [Special].—The Black Hills Passion play has opened for the summer in the large amphitheater near this city. Last year nearly 35,000 persons saw the portrayal of the life of Christ. This year the attendance may go above the 50,000 mark. The performances will continue until Sept. 4.

TOURIST LINER BOOKINGS SHOW BRISK INCREASE

New York, July 9 [Special].—The Grace Line's passenger bookings for the second quarter of 1940 increased considerably over the corresponding period last year. In the Caribbean service the increase amounted to 23 per cent. The South American service was up 30 per cent.

W. B. Wheeler, passenger traffic manager, said advance bookings in both the Caribbean and South American services promised a continuance of heavy traffic.

"This summer," he said, "undoubtedly will be what we in the transportation industry call a 'late' season. This results in part from the practical elimination of spring, owing to inclement weather which prevailed thruout the United States. This factor obviously has had a bearing on travel and will, I believe, result in a heavy demand during the summer."

Indian Population Increasing in Montana

Helena, Mont., July 9 [Special].—Montana's Indian population is increasing. The 1940 federal census reveals that there are now more than 15,000 men, women, and children living on this state's seven reservations.

PASSPORTS NOW ARE NEEDED TO VISIT BERMUDA

HAMILTON, Bermuda, July 9 [Special].—Effective yesterday, passports are now required of Americans entering Bermuda. Visas, obtainable from British consulates in Chicago, New York, Boston, and San Francisco, also are required.

The ruling is of special interest to honeymooning couples, who comprise a large percentage of the islands' summer visitors. Kenneth F. Trimingham, chairman of the Bermuda Trade Development board, said today that the newlywed Americans should obtain separate passports before marriage or a joint document after marriage. In the latter event, one visa is sufficient.

Soaring School Opens in Frankfort, Michigan

Frankfort, Mich., July 9 [Special].—The Frankfort soaring school opened Sunday. Last year the school trained pilots from a dozen states, along with a special group sent here by the federal government. This summer members of the Frankfort Soaring society have been attaining altitudes of almost 3,000 feet.

HARDWICKE FLIES TO CITY FOR ROLE IN W-G-N DRAMA

British Actor to Appear in Tom Brown Play.

Sir Cedric Hardwicke, British character actor, arrived by plane last night from New York for rehearsal for the radio premiere of "Tom Brown's School Days" which will be presented on the second broadcast of "In Chicago Tonight" over W-G-N and the Mutual network from 9 to 10 p. m. tomorrow.

Sir Cedric Hardwicke

Sir Cedric will be joined today by Freddie Bartholomew, British juvenile actor, who is flying from the west coast for the radio preview of the movie version of "Tom Brown's School Days," in which both are headlined.

Cast As School Master.

The W-G-N preview was arranged with R-K-O Pictures corporation. "Tom Brown's School Days" was adapted for the movie and for radio from Thomas Hughes' novel about the famed Rugby school in England.

Sir Cedric appears in the radio show as Dr. Matthew Arnold, the beloved English school master, the rôle he takes in the picture. In both the picture and on the air Freddie takes the part of East, friend of Tom, played in the movie by Jimmy Lydon. In W-G-N's version Tom will be played by Donald Kraatz, a young Chicago actor.

They will be supported by a cast of Chicago's finest actors including Bret Morrison, Stuart MacIntosh, Frances Carlon, Virginia Payne, Cornelius Peeples, Melvyn Thorne, Lucy Lancaster, John Goldsworthy, Stan Harris, Belvyn Torme, Cleveland Towne, Dolph Nelson, Bob Elliston, and Bob Jellison.

Bacher Directs Production.

The adaptation and production of "Tom Brown" is directed by William A. Bacher, chief of programs and production at W-G-N. The musical background will be provided by the W-G-N orchestra directed by Henry Weber. The musical score of the movie has been lent to W-G-N by R-K-O and will be adapted for the radio première.

"In Chicago Tonight" features many kinds of entertainment. It will present, according to Bacher, stars of the stage and screen, news, entertainment from the night clubs, visiting celebrities as they pass thru this gateway between the east and west, prominent writers and their stories, the latest in music, and "firsts" of many kinds.

ORDER CHEMICAL TEST IN DEATH OF R. E. SCHMIDT JR.

Chemical tests were ordered yesterday to determine the cause of the death of Richard E. Schmidt Jr., son of the city building commissioner. Schmidt, who was 42 years old, died Monday night in the apartment of Miss Mary Faulkner, a graduate nurse, at 1117 North Dearborn street after he had been given medicine prescribed for him by Dr. Gerald M. Greenspahn.

Dr. Albert Vanderkloot, who said he had been treating young Schmidt, signed a certificate saying death resulted from heart disease.

Coroner Brodie said he wanted to satisfy all persons concerned and directed that the organs be given a chemical analysis and that the medicine also be tested. An inquest was then called but was continued until July 25.

It was announced that the funeral would be held at 3:30 p. m. tomorrow from the chapel in Rosehill cemetery. Besides his father and uncle, Schmidt is survived by a sister, Mrs. Carl Gallaher of Milwaukee.

UNION OFFICIAL GETS JAIL TERM AS GUN TOTER

Municipal Judge William V. Daly yesterday sentenced William J. Ross, official of an independent sign hangers' union to 90 days in the County jail and fined him $100 for carrying a concealed weapon.

Ross, who lives at 2835 Lincoln avenue, was arrested May 26 while working on a sign at Milwaukee avenue near Cicero avenue. Police said a .25 caliber revolver was found on Ross after a quarrel with three rival union members. Judge Daly granted a 60 day stay, pending an appeal.

Sam O. Stella, 2835 24th street, a tile contractor, was fined $10 by Judge Daly on a charge of disorderly conduct. Additional charges of assault with a shotgun and carrying a concealed weapon were dropped. Stella was arrested May 2, he is said to have brought a shotgun to a construction job at 42d street and Kedzie avenue during a dispute with workmen employed by another contractor.

Rock Island Turns Down Federal Housing Proposal

Rock Island, Ill., July 9 [Special].—A federal housing project, proposed as a means of providing living quarters for the influx of workers at the army arsenal here, was rejected last night by the Rock Island city council. The council held that no housing emergency exists at this time, and that such a project would be unfair to local builders and landlords. The living units were to have been erected in apartment groups.

WOMAN SUES JUDGE HOLLY IN CAR CRASH

A suit demanding $25,000 damages from Federal Judge William H. Holly was filed in the Circuit court yesterday by Mrs. Rose F. Odlum of 831 Michigan avenue, Evanston.

Mrs. Odlum and her husband, William H. Odlum, were injured July 29, 1938, when the automobile in which they rode was struck by another driven by Judge Holly at Howard street and Western avenue. Her suit charged that the accident was the fault of the judge.

Judge Holly, it was reported at the time of the accident, was learning to drive and was being instructed by a garage mechanic.

Actor Granville Bates Dies on Eve of Triumph

Hollywood, Cal., July 9 (AP).—Granville Bates, 58 years old, veteran character actor who in two days was to begin the biggest part in his 40 year career, died today. Critics several weeks ago adjudged Bates' part of the judge in "My Favorite Wife," with Cary Grant and Irene Dunne, one of the best bit comedy performances in months. On the strength of it he was to start this week in the rôle of mayor in Frank Capra's "Meet John Doe." His first movie experience was with the old Essanay studios in Chicago about 1910. Following services here his body will be taken to Chicago, his birth place, for burial.

Lake Geneva Plans Bigger Flower Show

BY JUDITH CASS.

ONE of the most popular and widely attended flower shows of this area, the annual Lake Geneva Garden club show, is to be a larger and more interesting show this year than ever before. It also will last longer, as it is to be a three day event instead of two. The dates that have been chosen are Aug. 2, 3, and 4, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.

The show never has been open on a Sunday before, so attendance records undoubtedly will be broken. Mrs. Robert Tarrant is chairman of the undertaking. Her committees will be appointed at a meeting of the club, today at Wakewood the home of Mrs. Arthur W. Wakeley.

Included in the entertainment at the show will be a silent illustration on the art of arranging flowers. Marc Leeds, who believes that actions speak louder than words, will be the lecturer—or perhaps he should be called a demonstrator. He will fill containers of various sizes and shapes with assorted blossoms. The show always is held in Horticultural hall.

Rain Can't Stop Benefit for Lake Bluff Orphanage.

No matter what the weather, rain or shine, members of the Lake Bluff Orphanage are going ahead with plans to hold a benefit for the Orphanage at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Lake Forest home of Mrs. T. Philip Swift, 810 South Ridge road. In case of showers, Mrs. Lithgow Mitchell and her committee have planned to hold the fashion show and tea part of the program indoors instead of in the garden.

The benefit will start with a lecture on bridge by Mrs. Catherine Lewis at 2 o'clock. Children will be welcomed, as Wednesday is traditionally "nurses' day out," and for their entertainment there will be a puppet show, pony rides and refreshments. Modeling in the fashion show will be Miss Caryl Harrison, Miss Edith Cowles, Miss Marie Louise Hulburd, Miss Grace Shumway, and Miss Barbara Hixon and Miss Adrienne Ely, debutantes of this season, among others.

Among those who have taken tables for the bridge lecture and demonstration are Mrs. Edward F. Swift Jr., Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, Mrs. Russell Lord, Mrs. Dexter Cummings, Mrs. Clarence Prentice, and Mrs. Farwell Winston. Ponies will be supplied by the George Voevodskys, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reynolds, and the Roy Carneys.

Yale Club of Chicago Holding Party Friday.

Another outdoor party is to be held by the Yale Club of Chicago on Friday at Onwentsia. There will be a buffet luncheon, golf, tennis, dinner, and baseball. "Bud" Fairman is in charge of the golfing events. "Franny" Stanton will look out for the tennis players. Lester Armour is president of the club.

Saturday, Dec. 28, will be THE highlight of the winter debutante season as the Princeton Triangle club will appear that night. Its annual performance will be given at the Civic Opera house. Charles C. Fitzmorris Jr. is chairman of the Chicago committee for the show. Assisting him are two former Trianglers, William A. Cremin and Arthur M. Wood.

Added to the summer residents of Oconomowoc, Wis., are the Maurice P. Geraghtys and their two daughters, Betsy, 4, and Helen, now 8 months old. Mrs. Geraghty, the former Helen Tieken, is directing "Wake Up and Live," the play that will open the summer season at the Coach House theater in Oconomowoc next Monday. Mrs. Loyal Davis is returning to the stage in this comedy. Her daughter, Miss Nancy Davis, will

Ideal for Hot Weather

Smart summer alternate for dull black is this dress of navy blue linen sharply accented with three horizontal bands of snowy white. Flared simple skirt contrasts the defined waistline, and either white or navy blue costume accessories make such a model the ideal hot weather outfit for any daytime occasion.

White Quilted Coat Perfect Evening Wrap

BY REA SEEGER.

If the word glamorous didn't have a tattered sound after weeks of overuse, we'd climb right out on the end of a limb and acclaim a new white quilted coat the most glamorous creation that ever came to town.

Designed for decorative house coat duty, worn with negligees, hostess gowns, and house robes, any one with a nickel's worth of imagination sees it as the perfect summer evening wrap. The silk is thin, dull white crepe. The quilted padded effect is achieved with inch squares, stitched and then used as a diamond shape effect. Down the front edge is a tiny edging of gold kidskin. The sleeves are simple, wide and loose, to reach the wrists, and there's patched-on pocket of the same quilted stuff.

It looks like a very glorified mandarin coat in simple white, a stunning evening wrap for summer night concerts, for Ravinia of a chilly night, or dining on sky roofs. It's particularly lovely with liquidity clinging jersey gowns, with classic shirred chiffons or with slinky tailored crepes and ravishing taffetas. It's the most feminine thing to be found in town.

In the same shop are superfitted long torso evening and daytime jackets in bengaline—stunning affairs for dinner costumes. All bear amazingly low price marks. Navy and black go out with daytime dresses as well as evening clothes. There's a lipstick red model and some bonbon pinks and blues. Long sleeves are sharply fitted streamline and an air of dash that only tailored swank can manage mark these trim finds ready for summer and early fall.

Ravinia Gives Warm Greeting to Rodzinski

Concert at Ravinia park, Tuesday evening, July 9, 1940, by the Chicago Symphony orchestra, Arthur Rodzinski conducting.

The program:

Overture, "Leonore," No. 3.....Beethoven
Symphony No. 1, C minor.....Brahms
Tone Poem, "Death and Transfiguration".....Strauss
Symphonic Prelude, "Polonia".....Elgar
[First time in Chicago.]

BY CECIL SMITH.

A crowd much larger than any ordinarily seen early in the week welcomed Arthur Rodzinski, conductor of the Cleveland orchestra, back to Ravinia last evening. Both the size of the audience and its enthusiasm were tokens of the esteem in which, in his third season, Ravinia concertgoers hold him.

On Tuesday and Saturday evenings during his fortnight's engagement Mr. Rodzinski is mixing a small Brahms festival in with a variety of other music. The first symphony of Brahms, on last night's program, was the first work in a cycle that will include the other three symphonies, the violin concerto, the Haydn variations and the Academic Festival overture.

Beyond debate Mr. Rodzinski inspires the members of the Chicago Symphony to their livest and most vibrant playing, and the Brahms symphony was full of the excitement superb orchestral playing always engenders. But this version of the symphony was by no means a definitive or revealing one. Its virtues were mostly sensory and muscular, and any listener on the lookout for clarification of the symphony's design and structure was left without much help.

The performance was characteristic of Mr. Rodzinski's temperament as I have seen it these three summers. It moved along energetically, robustly, sometimes aggressively, sometimes merely fast. Whenever a dramatic impulse dominated the music the conductor was quick to sense it, with many effective crescendos, sharp accents and quickly controled pianissimos.

There was, however, no real serenity of melodic line, for melodies seemed to exist primarily to reach their climaxes. And there was little indication of large plan, or of the relation of one musical section to another, so that each movement proceeded episodically, if sometimes with impressive outward effect.

The second half of the program, I am told, was planned as a unit, with Strauss' "Death and Transfiguration" as an elegy over prostrate Poland, and Elgar's "Polonia" as a closing patriotic affirmation. The Strauss score is as close to Mr. Rodzinski's kind of musical feeling as the Brahms is remote from it, and the performance was dramatically telling and tonally superb.

At its close the conductor required the audience to refrain from applause. Elgar's trite occasional piece unfortunately came as an emotional anticlimax, but the audience was glad to take Mr. Rodzinski's intention, a noble one, at face value, however, and sent him away with immense applause.

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., July 9.—Separations out here are more fun than favors at a children's birthday party—you know: The kind that pull apart with a loud bang.

The score in a recent few days: Wayne Morris from Bubbles Schinasi; Lana Turner from Artie Shaw; Gene Markey from Hedy Lamarr. Messrs. Morris and Markey took it on the lam, with Markey going home to father. Miss Turner was the lamester in the Shaw case, heading for Hawaii.

The old family lawyer, who may have been hired for the week, always announces that the separation is on account of incompatibility. Nobody has yet left a lifetime helpmeet on the grounds of nincompoopability, so far as this investigator has been able to learn. Some day a couple of movie stars with brains and imagination are going to separate on the grounds of compatibility and make it stick. "We get along too well," they will argue. "Never a cross word between us. Never any reason for jealousy. No trouble with in-laws. Not one of the chatter columnists has ever hinted at a rift in the lute. What fun is there in all this? Life is too bloody dull this way and the hell with it."

A baseball fan from Ebbets field or St. Louis or wherever, will notice a couple of odd things when he goes to see the Hollywood Stars play a night game at Gilmore field. The price, for instance, is 80 cents, tax included, instead of a buck ten, and it would be best to count your change before leaving the ticket window. Score cards are a dime instead of a nickel—but they give you a pretty red pencil with "Hollywood Stars" on it. The local Harry Stevens outfit purveys the usual hot dogs, candy, coke, Dr. Pepper, and cigarets—and an extra added attraction. One guy comes around with a fancy gadget like a drug store pump that squirts hot coffee. Hot coffee is very good for a night game, and you also see fans going around in straw hats and tan plush wrap-around overcoats.

A Los Angelean, or Angeleno, who figures that Hollywood is on the wrong side of the railroad tracks [there are several thousands of these astonishing people], says he thinks the Hollywood Stars are in a bad way. They have been treated to too much movie glamor and the ordinary fan resents it.

This may be a too-prejudiced notion, but I did notice one thing. Almost all of the boxes at Gilmore field, which is sizable and a good ball park, were filled—and the general admission seats contained a pitiful few stragglers. The boxes, I am told, are largely held by movie folk.

The 10 cent score card lists the management and stockholders of the club.

One of the head men is Robert H. Cobb, who is also head man of the Brown Derby. His wife, Gail Patrick, is mascot of the team, which for this reporter's money is a master stroke. Stockholders—for $500 or more, I'm told—include Barbara Stanwyck, Cecil B. De Mille, H. M. Warner, Robert Taylor, Bing Crosby, Gary Cooper, William Le Baron, William Frawley, Burns and Allen, Gene Autry and the Otto K. Oleson Illuminating company. Mr. O. K. Oleson lights up everything from grocery store premieres to world's fairs and it's a safe bet that he lighted the ball park.

As of yesterday, the Holloywood Stars stood sixth in the eight team Pacific Coast league, and it may well be this instead of the movie colony boxholders which dampens the ardor of the general admission customers.

One of those astonishing California bathing girl pictures has just hit the papers and roto sections—a shot of a young lady astraddle a large fish which is leaping gaily thru the waves. It is a typical publicity stunt by Eyre Powell, whose duty it is to make this part of California attractive to tourists.

Powell doesn't frame up a stunt and ask all newspaper and picture service boys to attend. He works it out and then covers it himself, and the production is usually worthy of a movie setup. Two years ago I mentioned the fact that his equipment includes portable palm trees which he can "plant" on beaches. Long ago he learned that nature has a bad camera eye and is always putting trees in the wrong places.

The girl-on-whale picture was the start of the campaign for the Mardi Gras at Venice—a local, six beach Coney Island—on Aug. 8. It began when Powell noticed in a warehouse an old papier mache whale which had been used two years before in a carnival float. The brain began to buzz and he worked out a scenario.

It took three days to make the picture. The first day they located a good, surf swept beach spot, brought out high pressure hose lines and jettied two tall poles into the ocean bed. From these they suspended the fish, after dousing it with linseed oil to make it wet. The second day they brought on their blonde model and made test shots. Everybody got soaked and sunburned. That night they developed the test shots, learned that the wires suspending the whale didn't show in the pictures, and learned that foreshortening made the model's legs look too big.

On the third day they revised the bathing girl's pose to counteract the foreshortening, waited for hours for a few waves to roll up—and finally made the pictures you'll be seeing soon.

Young Coloratura Soprano Captures Concert Audience

Virginia Haskins, the flyweight coloratura soprano, who made a successful debut with the Chicago Opera company last season, appeared for the first time in Grant park last night as soloist with the opera orchestra under Leo Kopp's direction.

She was not terrified by the limitless Grant park acres any more than she had been by the vast Civic Opera house. In the polonaise from "Mignon," the "Caro Nome" from "Rigoletto," Delibes' "Maids of Cadiz," and an arrangement of "Tales from the Vienna Woods," she sang with the easy fluidity of style and with the air of quiet command that distinguished her operatic debut. The voice seemed even rounder and more sympathetic last night, and in florid passages it still retained its delightful sparkle.

Mr. Kopp conducted a quiet program which gave him many opportunities for the gracious, lyrical effects which he handles so well. Debussy's prelude to "The Afternoon of a Faun" was a delicate and evocative piece of work—or would have been if a wandering airplane had not chosen this as the proper time for a cruise over the band shell. The Fate of the Darmenys

By Elizabeth York Miller

[Copyright: 1940: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

SYNOPSIS.

Madge Darmeny, knowing she has but a few months to live, gathers her family about her so she can select the most deserving heir, unbeknown to them. Amelia Pennyfather, a distant cousin, lives with her, but Leda, Madge's own niece, is her nearest relative. Next in line are Frank and Geoffry, her husband's nephews. Leda is married to Frank but is in love with Geoffry, who is Madge's favorite because he continuously plays up to her. Frank has an 8 year old daughter, Betsy, by a former marriage. Shirley Westall, Madge's secretary, has been given charge of Betsy while they are all staying at the Darmeny estate. Madge, anxious for Geoffry to settle down, suggests he marry Shirley, and he, becoming tired of Leda, approves of the idea. Shirley, devoted to Betsy and knowing of Leda's and Geoffry's affair, sympathizes with Frank and soon finds her sympathy turning to love. Frank sees the sweetness of Betsy's mother in Shirley and finds himself falling in love with her. Neither declare their love for each other, but Shirley repulses the advances of Geoffry, which infuriates him. Leda goes into a number of fits of rage because she is jealous of Geoffry's attention to Shirley. Madge at last sees things in their true light and decides to change her will. Amelia eavesdrops and hears of Madge's illness and of the new will. She tells Geoffry, and he steals Madge's keys to her safe and reads the old and new wills. In the old version, he would inherit the estate. In the new one, Frank will get the bulk of things. The new one has not yet been signed. Geoffry goes on a rampage, meets Frank in the woods and tells him he will get Shirley as he got Leda. Frank knocks his teeth out, goes home and confronts Leda with Geoffry's accusation. Leda admits to both Madge and Frank her love for Geoffry. Geoffry has gone to the dentist in the city and Madge waits up for him that night to have a talk with him. He arrives late and is insulting to Madge. She gets upset, asks him to get her medicine. He, knowing she is to sign the new will the next day, gives her an overdose which kills her. Amelia is watching from the library cupboard, the Geoffry is unaware she is there. The doctor signs the death certificate as heart failure, but Amelia is too afraid of Geoffry to tell on him. But he becomes suspicious of her and threatens to commit her as insane.

INSTALMENT XXXIX.
DIFFICULT RELATIVE.

Geoffry tried to remember exactly what Madge Darmeny's last words to him had been. She had cried out something about his having killed her; yes, she had used that expression. And Amelia Pennyfather must have heard those words.

What was happening downstairs? What was that doctor up to so long in the study.?

Geoffry paced the room with nervous strides, and then suddenly he caught sight of himself in a mirror. The shock of his ruffianly appearance helped to sober and steady him. He looked like a murderer, and a peculiarly brutal one at that, with his bloodshot eyes, his ugly, and swollen mouth and unshaven face which already was showing the dark mask of a beard.

So while Dr. Jelks was inquiring about him from Frank, Geoffrey Darmeny was pulling himself together with a hot bath and an icy shower. He shaved and dressed carefully and very slowly, giving some special attention to his mouth with hot compresses and a lotion the dentist had prescribed, and was hunting for a black necktie when Gibson came to tell him that Mr. Barnes had arrived, and that breakfast was being served.

Gibson's announcement sounded so ordinary that Geoffry took heart of grace.

The only thing to do was to go downstairs and behave normally.

Of course, he couldn't assume a dictatorship over Alfred Barnes until after the funeral and, as Leda had warned him, the decencies between him and Frank would have to be preserved also until Aunt Madge was safely laid away in the tomb of her ancestors. That is, supposing that all went as it should and Amelia Pennyfather didn't work up any funny business.

Geoffry wondered if he should adopt a daring policy about Amelia and more than hint that she was that and charged her with insanity before she had accused him of murder, she had only in self-defense to confess her eavesdropping and point to that concealed cupboard as her witness.

No, no, it would be too dangerous.

Amelia hadn't accused him; she had gone further and assured him that she would not do so. She had even volunteered the assertion that she had heard and knew nothing.

But how far could he trust her?

If only there was some way he could dispose of her half as easy as getting rid of Aunt Madge had been.

He found the black tie ultimately and adjusted it with the same care he had bestowed on the rest of his toilet. His mouth had responded to treatment and, he was relieved to observe, was hardly swollen at all now. His teeth wouldn't show, for certainly there would be no occasion for him to smile.

Majestically he stalked downstairs, to outward appearances almost himself again.

Nobody could have guessed, with the exception of Amelia Pennyfather, how his heart was quaking.

Gibson met him in the hall just as he was squaring his shoulders to make an impressive entry into the dining room.

"If you please, sir," Gibson whispered, "the undertaker's men from Canterbury are waiting, and Mrs. Broom is here."

Mrs. Broom was the district nurse and as much in demand at death as at childbed in the neighborhood of Crane's Wood.

Geoffry felt as tho a heavy load had slipped from his shoulders. They were getting on with the job. Obviously nothing had happened to put obstacles in the way of it.

"I see," he said. "Who—er—I mean, was Dr. Jelks qualified to issue the certificate?"

"Mr. Barnes brought the certificate, sir. He got it from Sir Mostyn Powell in London. Where would you like them to lay dear madam, when Mrs. Broom has finished?"

Geoffry was feeling better and better. Obviously Gibson had recognized the fact that he was the new master. He had to remember quickly to keep a long and solemn face.

"Where do you suggest, Gibson?"

"I would suggest, perhaps, her bedroom, sir. That is, if you and Mr. Frank agree."

Geoffry glowered. What had Frank got to do with it—with anything?

"Yes, her bedroom, by all means," he said, his voice surly at the thought of Frank.

"Thank you, sir. And if you will be so kind, please keep them inside the dining room until I give you the word. They'll be moving her presently."

"Very well," Geoffry said.

He entered the dining room and Gibson closed the door behind him.

Betsy was being kept upstairs by Shirley who shortly would be taking her into the grounds for a walk, but Frank and Leda and Amelia were there, and, of course, Mr. Barnes.

The dining room looked ordinary except for the vacant chair at the head of the table. The whiskey decanter, which Geoffry had all but emptied, had been removed from the sideboard which now bore its usual array of silver dishes on the hot plate, flanked by the egg boiler and a cold ham. Tea and coffee were in their respective urns.

"Good morning," Geoffry said. He spoke to Alfred Barnes, pointedly ignoring the others.

Mr. Barnes got up and Geoffry and he shook hands with formal solemnity and muttered words suitable to the occasion.

Well, they had got thru that all right.

Frank Darmeny looked quite shocking in contrast to Mr. Barnes, who also had thought to put on a black tie and was in morning dress equally suitable for attending a christening, a wedding, a funeral, or a race meeting. Frank had on about his shabbiest tweeds and his tie was yellow with little Sealyhams' heads splashed all over it. In fact, it was an uncommonly sporty looking tie even for Frank, whose tastes were somewhat loud and careless.

Leda, too, had attired herself carelessly in what had first come to hand. It was the backless linen dress that Frank did not like, but it had a jacket and she had put that on.

Geoffry went over to the sideboard to get himself some food, and Amelia rose in a timid fashion and began to sidle toward him. He recoiled with the frozen look of one expecting a tiger to spring.

"Geoffry dear," she whined, "let me help you. Do you want tea or coffee? The toast is quite fresh."

"No—no, get away. I can wait on myself," he rasped out, backing away from her.

"O, Geoffry, don't speak to me like that! Whatever have I done? I only wanted to—to show you that I'm fond of you."

Amelia burst into tears and brought out her black-bordered handkerchief.

"O, now that poor Madge is gone, I haven't a friend in the world!" she sobbed. "I counted on you for a friend, Geoffry. I truly did."

"For heaven's sake, shut up," Leda said sourly. "You can make more fuss over nothing than anybody I know, Amelia."

"The woman is quite potty," Geoffry muttered.

"You'd better come back and finish your breakfast," Frank told her.

"No—I'm going to my own room. I couldn't eat a thing after Geoffry's speaking to me like that. He'd no reason to. I never said anything and I'm not going to say anything. I'd cut out my tongue."

Geoffry turned deathly pale and the plate he had picked up to get a slice of ham fell to the floor with a crash.

"It seems to me you're saying plenty," drawled Leda. "I believe you could gabble even without your tongue. It would be interesting to find out."

"O, I know—everybody hates me," wailed Amelia.

"Come—come, Miss Pennyfather," admonished Alfred Barnes, "surely you exaggerate."

GASOLINE ALLEY—PORTRAIT OF A VACATION

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: The Court Jesters

Here Is Sandy Again to Tickle and Thrill You

"SANDY IS A LADY."
Produced by Universal.
Directed by Charles Lamont.
Presented at the Oriental theater.

THE CAST.

Baby Sandy	Baby Sandy
Mary Phillips	Nan Grey
Joe Phillips	Tom Brown
P. J. Barnett	Eugene Pallette
Felix Lobo Smith	Mischa Auer
Billy Pepino	Billy Gilbert
Pat	Butch
Mike	Buddy
Officer Rafferty	Edgar Kennedy
Marie	Fritz Feld
Millie	Anne Gwynne
Philip Jarvis	Richard Lane
Nick Cass	Joseph Downing
Sergeant	Charles Wilson

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

KIND: Comedy! With the sort of situations that made "Safety Last" [with Harold Lloyd, remember?] such a goose pimple raiser.

ACTING: The sort such a vehicle cries for. Baby Sandy is a real trouper and her chuckles and quiet clowning enchant her audiences. She is surrounded with a cast of folks who know what to do about babies—which makes it nice. Especially apt and at home with the wee lady is roly poly Eugene Pallette. You'll love their scenes together.

DIRECTION: Excellent.

PHOTOGRAPHY: Okey.

STORY: About the adventures of a lost baby whose toddling feet, gregarious nature and roguish smile lead her into strange and exciting predicaments.

AUDIENCE APPEAL: Well—those shrieks of laughter issuing from the Oriental are NOT synthetic. And the chills that race up and down your spine as Baby Sandy et al. cavort along the girders of a skyscraper in course of construction are a heap too real for comfort!

"MAD MEN OF EUROPE."
Produced by Columbia.
Directed by Albert De Courville.
Adapted from play by Guy du Maurier.
Presented at the Studio theater.

THE CAST.

Tom Brown	Edmund Gwenn
Betty Brown	Mary Maguire
Victor Brandt	Paul von Hernried
Peter Templeton	Geoffrey Toone
Geoffrey Brown	Richard Ainley
Bill Brown	Desmond Tester
Martin	Carl Jaffe
Waldo	Meinhart Maur
Delly	Mavis Villiers

KIND: Melodrama, located in England and concerned with "Fifth Column" activities.

ACTING: Satisfactory in the main. Paul von Hernried is believable as an enemy operative. Edmund Gwenn, a fine actor always, plays a British landed gentleman with assurance. Mary Maguire, with her soft, dark glance, as his daughter who becomes fascinated with the handsome stranger who uses their home as a radio station to guide parachute troops, and Desmond Tester as Brown's young son who, for a brief time idolizes the sinister Victor, are appealing. . . . Enemy officers and men have a chilling effect on the observer. . . .

DIRECTION: Intelligent.

STORY: Would show and warn against methods employed by fifth columnists and parachutists to gain foothold in peace desiring lands. Not too credible.

AUDIENCE APPEAL: Not much, I believe. The average audience would, I think, rather have war subjects confined to news reels. There's war in the newspapers, war over the radio, war talk wherever two or three are gathered together. In our feature films we'd like to find brief respite from anxiety. [Anyhow I would.]

See you soon.

When you're having Spanish steak for dinner, you'd better allow about two hours for meal preparation, for a two inch thick piece of beef will take that long to cook. Round steak is the cut to buy, top round preferably.

Spanish Steak.
[Serves Four.]

1½ pounds round steak, cut 2 inches thick
Flour, salt, pepper
1 medium onion, chopped fine
1 small bottle stuffed olives, chopped fine
6 large mushrooms, sliced
Butter
1 cup catsup or chili sauce

Dredge meat in flour which has been seasoned with salt and pepper, and brown on both sides in a little hot fat. Add onion, olives, sliced mushrooms which have been sautéed lightly in butter for a minute or two, and pour the catsup or chili sauce over the steak. Cover and tuck away in a 325 degree oven to bake slowly for two hours, or until tender.

POTATO PUFFS.

Potato puffs are one of my own favorite methods of treating potatoes which must wait for late guests, and for reheating mashed potatoes, but they are delicious at any time. To prepare them, mash potatoes in your usual way, seasoning with salt, pepper and butter, and beating into them enough top milk or cream to make them fluffy. Drop in mounds upon a greased baking sheet, and don't try to shape the mounds. The potatoes look prettier with the peaks and rough edges which form of themselves when you drop the mixture from the spoon.

Brush the potatoes lightly with melted butter and, at the last minute, pop them into a hot oven to reheat and take on a light, golden brown crust. Remove the potato puffs from the baking sheet with a wide spatula.

Kohlrabi is a vegetable with a delicate, turnip-like flavor. Buy the bulbs not too large, or they are likely to be pithy. If you can find a bunch of bulbs all of a size, that's fine. Cut off the stalks, peel the bulbs, and slice them crosswise. Drop them into boiling, salted water and cook until just tender, without a cover. Be careful not to overcook kohlrabi, for like its turnip and cabbage friends, it develops a stronger, less pleasant flavor upon long cooking, and also becomes too soft.

CANTALOUPE AND RASPBERRY SALAD.

Make this by cutting very thin cross sections of cantaloupe and peeling them. Arrange about three of the thin, chilly rings on a leaf of lettuce for each salad, letting the circles overlap a little to show that there are three of them. Scatter fresh raspberries in the center of the ring and serve a honey and lemon French dressing separately.

Cheese Drop Biscuits.
[1½ dozen small.]

2 cups flour
¼ teaspoon salt
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ Cup grated American or Parmesan cheese
¼ cup butter, lard or vegetable shortening
1 cup milk [approximately]

Sift flour, salt and baking powder together several times. Add cheese and cut in shortening. Add enough milk to make a soft drop dough. Stir vigorously and drop by spoonfuls onto a lightly greased baking sheet. Bake at 425 degrees until browned, 12 to 15 minutes.

Parents Must Give Child Independence a Little at a Time

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

It's natural for young people in their teens to struggle for independence. Even the wisest of us who are parents need their pulling away as reminders, because we are likely to continue far too long our little boy and little girl treatment of them.

All this we said yesterday, in connection with the letter from the mother who said that her 16 year old son resented every word she spoke about his hours and his companions. We finished by saying that we must grant our teen age children independence, but there's more to it than that.

In the first place, this independence must be gradual. Young people can't suddenly be given the "keys to the city." That is, they can't be suddenly turned loose as to hours, places, and companions. They're not fitted by age and experience to run their own show.

But they don't realize how much they don't know about life and people and ideas and situations that can arise. For this reason, they can't always understand our restrictions.

And here is where things may get difficult for us. We need, first, tact and a great deal of it.

We need to be patient with their youth and lack of understanding, but also we must have the strength to take a stand when we think it right. This doesn't have to be done in a high handed way. We can be friendly.

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

Especially designed for larger silhouettes, this dress has all the charm customarily found in frocks for slimsters. There's a neat and becoming neckline, collarless or not, as you choose. The shoulders are precise and broadening in their effect, thus minimizing the waistline, which is fitted with darts to make it streamlined. The skirt is moderately full. Buttons play a decorative as well as practical rôle down the entire front of the frock. Sleeve length is optional.

Style No. 3344 is designed for size 16 and for 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, and 50 inch bust measurements. Size 36 requires 4¼ yards of 39 inch material, with ⅛ yard of contrasting for long sleeved version; 3⅜ yards for short sleeved version.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Confidence.

Miss Eloise Requa, director of the Library of International Relations, found a sticker attached to a bill received the other day from the Ryerson Press in Toronto for some pamphlets on world affairs. In red ink on the sticker:

So small a sheath to hold so great a blade,
So scant a shield to bear so great a sign:
'Britain! in this darkest hour of thine
'Tis those who know thee best are least afraid.

Cuff Notes.

Albert Spalding was asked after he had played the Tschaikowsky concerto at Ravinia Saturday evening which of his famous violins he had used, his Stradivarius or his Guarnerius. He answered his Guarnerius. He chooses the violin best suited for the piece he is playing, he said. For music of a lighter type—Mozart, for instance—he uses his Strad. . . . Seven Year Old's Knowledge.

One of the brighter lads in Chicago is 7 year old Gerard Darrow, who attends the Myra Bradwell school and who has an amazing knowledge of animal, bird, and nature life. Gerard was one of the children on the Quiz Kids radio program last Friday evening. One of the questions was, "If a camel is cut, will the wound heal?" Gerard's hand shot up and he answered, "No, the wound will not heal. A camel's skin is soft, so the camel driver has to stitch it up. That's why camels are often all patched up."

Directors Visit Algonquin and Find All's Well

Lazybones, sitting in the sun, lulled to drowsy content by the little song of the singing Fox—that was Camp Algonquin as five members of the United Charities directorate found it yesterday when they drove out to see how things were going.

They visited the new Avery craftshop. They looked in on the cool and spacious dining room and the airy, spick and span dormitories. They saw three trucks unload a new company of 106 cheering campers. And they sat down under the trees and chatted with grateful mothers and watched laughing youngsters chase butterflies down a sunny hill.

Everything at Algonquin was proceeding according to plan—not to a plan of grim connotations, as the phrase elsewhere carries in this troubled day, but to a program constructive and beneficent, devised by men and women mindful of their less fortunate neighbors. Algonquin, allied with the healing forces of nature, was continuing in its 31st season to restore pallid children to robust health, and mothers, worn by privation, to courage and new strength.

Board members of the United Charities make an annual practice of visiting the camp. Dexter Cummings, who has served as president of the board for two years and who previously was treasurer, was one of yesterday's visitors. Three women, whom the camp regards as its especial fairy godmothers, came. They were Mrs. Kersey Coates Reed, Mrs. George Dovenmuehle and Mrs. Claude I. Palmer.

The fifth member of the directors' party was Joel Hunter, general superintendent of the United Charities. But Mr. Hunter's genial presence at the camp is too frequent for him to be considered company. He's one of the family. When Mr. Hunter walks down an Algonquin path he doesn't take many steps before a grimy little hand, which would be shy with other visitors, tucks itself confidently into his clasp.

TRIBUNE readers have contributed a total of $304.34 thus far this season to the Algonquin fund. The Chicago Tribune Charities yesterday received a gift of $10 from an anonymous contributor. A donation of $1 was sent by Hazel Holmquist.

Grace Moore Sings Over Phone to Prove She's Well

Philadelphia, Pa., July 9 (AP).—Grace Moore, operatic and motion picture star, trilled a few notes to a reporter over telephone wires from her Faraway Farms, near Newton, Conn., today to squelch reports she was a patient in Temple University hospital for treatment of a throat ailment. She did enter the hospital some time ago for one day "just to shake off a bad cold," she said.

Universal Day—Anything can happen today, and probably will. Keep calm.

Month Ahead—For the birthday children and those in a 4-year, this month presents some difficult problems. An accumulation of details needs to be worked out at this time. This can be a nervous period after the strong start made last month, but if patience and discipline are used, it can prove an important step in progress. Work behind the scenes this month.

Year Ahead—Either a very powerful year, or a very destructive one according to what you make of it and to what you have done in the past to deserve the breaks.

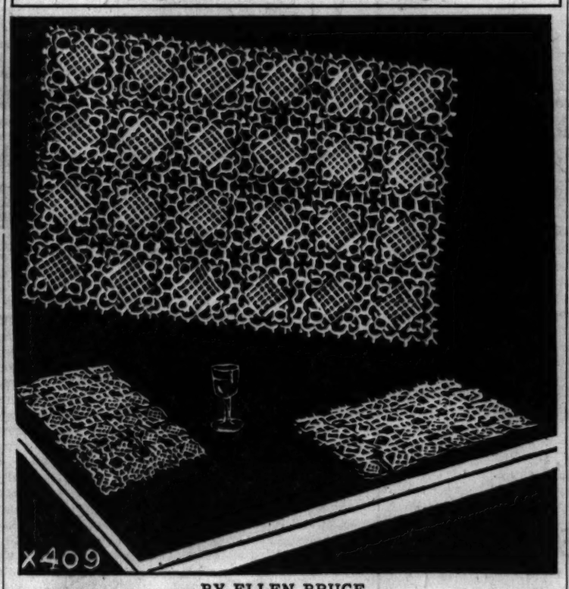
English Crochet Design



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

The simple elegance of a crocheted doily made from an old English design never can be fully appreciated until one sees how handsome it is when completed and set with a table service. The medallions are made and joined as the work progresses. Ivory mercerized crochet cotton is most effective on a dark table, while any shade in the rainbow may be used on painted furniture.

For instructions in crocheting the English medallion luncheon set, No. X-409, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: Along with many of our friends, we try to play Culbertson bridge in our little group. You will notice I say we try to play, as some of us have been missing a number of slams lately. So we would like a little advice from your column.

"The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 spade	Pass	3 spades	Pass
4 clubs	Pass	4 hearts	Pass
5 spades	Pass	Pass	Pass

"East-West, using Culbertson and 4-5 no trump conventions, have been rather successful in bidding games, but seem to flounder on some slam contracts.

"West contended that using the 4-5 no trump convention in this deal would tell him nothing, inasmuch as it was East's spade strength that he wanted to find out about. He was afraid that East had something like four spades to the jack, with considerable strength outside.

"East felt that his jump in spades and subsequent bid of hearts should have been enough for West to go to slam. East himself could not place any of the aces. West tried to impress East via the five spade bid that he wanted an additional trick in spades and, if East had it, to bid a slam. East, however, was afraid that the opponents might lay down two aces. What is the answer?

"E. G., New Jersey."

I am afraid that West does not appreciate the great importance of holding four aces when partner makes a strong raise. The moment East raised the opening spade bid to three, West should have resolved on a slam contract, and the only question to determine was whether said slam should be of the small or grand variety. The mere fact that East, who could hold no ace, had the strength for a double raise was good and sufficient reason for expecting him to supply at least three and possibly all four of the missing kings. It was possible but unlikely that his spade support was no better than J-10-x-x, but even this should not have deterred West from reaching a slam, since in that case East would have to have greater outside strength. The first two rounds of bidding were excellent, but there was no reason for West to pass up the chance to show his 150 aces. The entire bidding sequence should have been:

WEST	EAST
1 spade	3 spades
4 clubs	4 hearts
4 no trump	5 clubs
5 no trump	6 spades
Pass

The four no trump bid, followed by five no trump after East's sign-off, would show 150 aces. With this knowledge it will be observed that if East had held the club king instead of the queen he would have been justified in jumping all the way to seven spades. With his actual holding the small slam bid would be called for.

It's surprisingly easy and economical to use. Ideal for feminine hygiene. Follow the simple directions and enjoy proved hygienic protection that you may never have known before.

You Still Can Win Invitation to Movie Party

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

Better put those letters in the mailbox today, boys and girls, or you're going to be too late!

This is your last chance to see if you can't win an invitation to come to our party on July 18—so if you haven't sent in your letter, be careful to do it today.

Tomorrow I'm going to read all the mail and select the lucky youngsters who will come with me to a special screening of "Tom Brown's School Days." [By the way, you can hear two of the stars of the film on W-G-N at 9:30 tomorrow night.] One hundred youngsters will enjoy this treat —and they'll be the boys and girls who write the most enthusiastic letters about why they'd like to be invited to this party.

If you would enjoy seeing Freddy Bartholomew and Jimmy Lydon, Cedric Hardwicke and Polly Moran in this film version of the famous old story of an English school, you should be able to write a good letter about it. If you're really enthusiastic, and remember to include your name, address and age in it—maybe you'll be a winner. Be sure to write that letter all by yourself—with no help from any one, and don't ask for invitations for your friends, because every one must win his or her own invitation.

Any child is eligible to try for an invitation to see "Tom Brown's School Days." Tomorrow I'll select the 50 boys and 50 girls who will be my guests, so you still have time to ask to be included in this party if you hurry with that note to Sally Joy Brown, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago.

Don't forget, you youngsters who will be my guests at Wrigley field tomorrow—we're to see two games between the Cubs and Boston—so we'll meet at the appointed place at 1 p. m., rather than the time listed in your invitations!

★ THRU THE LOOKING GLASS ★

Traditionally, the rose is the romantic flower, which is probably only one reason why a rose perfume is a favorite with brides and bridesmaids.

You might be surprised to know that many girls who plan picturesque weddings pay a good deal of attention to the detail of the scent they and their attendants wear. There should be no conflict and if the entire group further dramatizes its loveliness with a scent that's sentimental and pretty, so much the better.

One of the most beautiful translations of rose is a perfume that deserves to be better known. It's one of a floral family in a line of famous scents that overshadow it in popularity but not at all in beauty.

It's a straight, rich, very sweet rose, with exactly that heady sweetness that rushes at you when you open a box of American beauties. It is highly concentrated and wonderfully long lasting. For the bride and her attendants it's a perfect choice.

This perfume is packaged in various sizes and can't be called expensive. The bride who wishes to wear it herself might give it to her bridesmaids instead of the more usual gift.

A rose perfume isn't suitable for all occasions and all types, but undoubtedly on an occasion as romantic as a wedding it's an inspired thought. Whispers of rose as the bridal party floats along are an unusual and delightful touch.

make her stage debut in the same production.

Mrs. and Miss Davis are staying at Danforth Lodge, the Oconomowoc home of Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine. The theater formerly was Danforth Lodge's coach house. The enormous house will be well filled, as Mrs. Valentine's granddaughter, Mrs. Gerald V. Hollins Jr., and Mr. Hollins are taking some of their young friends to Danforth Lodge for the week-end.

The Walter Faithorns, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Thwaits, Mrs. Orton Prime and the Thomas S. Van Alyeas are some of those planning to be in the Coach House audience next Monday. The dress rehearsal will be held on Sunday night.

The Clarence B. Mitchells and their children have returned to their Hope Ranch, Cal., home for the summer. They passed the winter in Lake Forest.

The John J. Mitchells and their youngsters are back at their Santa Barbara ranch for the summer season.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Thorne are spending the month of July in Lake Forest, occupying the house of their daughter and son-in-law, the Hermon Dunlap Smiths, while the latter are in Desbarats. Mr. and Mrs. Smith and the children will return from Canada on Aug. 3 and the Thornes will go to Charlevoix, Mich.

Many Heed Call of Their Summer Homes.

Mrs. Perry Dunlap Smith, Simeon Smith, and Miss Dorothea Dunlap Smith, who was graduated from Bryn Mawr last month, are in Ashfield, Mass., for the summer. Mr. Smith will join his family later.

Mrs. John Root has gone to South Yarmouth on Cape Cod for the summer. Mr. Root will join his wife next week. Miss Denise Root will go east with her father.

Clifford W. Barnes and his daughter, Miss Lilace Barnes, have gone to their summer home in Northeast Harbor, Me. They will remain in the east for several months.

Mrs. James H. Tatman and her daughter and son, Ariel and James Jr., have left for Wianno, Mass., to spend the summer. Mr. Tatman will join them for the month of August.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Dickinson, who have been residing in Johannesburg, South Africa, for the last six years, are on their way back to Lake Forest. They came by way of South America, and have been visiting in Rio de Janeiro, Montivedeo, and the Argentine. They will sail soon from Buenos Aires and expect to reach Lake Forest in August.

NATIONAL LEAGUE SHUTS OUT AMERICAN, 4-0

C. Y. O. BOXERS MEET HAWAII BEFORE 30,000 TONIGHT

RISK UNBEATEN TEAM RECORD IN SOLDIERS' FIELD

Dempsey to Appear as Referee.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The amateur boxers of the Catholic Youth organization never have lost an intercity nor an international match. That record—20 victories and 5 ties—is at stake tonight in Soldiers' field in the bouts between the C. Y. O. and the team of 11 contestants from Hawaii. Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, will referee one or more bouts on the intersectional program, it was announced last night.

Jack Dempsey.

Thirty thousand are expected to attend the bouts which will begin at 8:30 o'clock with a series of six preliminaries. These will be followed at 9:30 by a 30 minute pageant dramatizing the 10 year progress of the Catholic Youth organization.

On a huge stage erected under the scoreboard at the south end of Soldiers' field will pass in review representatives of all activities of the C. Y. O. program. At the conclusion of this picturization of 10 years in youth service, and immediately preceding the first intersectional bout, John Pane-Gasser, Chicago Civic opera tenor, will sing "God Bless America" and the "Star Spangled Banner."

Tickets Are Available.

Tickets in all price sections will be available today until 6 p. m. in the C. Y. O. center, 31 East Congress street. At 6 p. m., the ticket office at gate O, in the south end of Soldiers' field, will be opened.

Proceeds of tonight's show will be used to carry on the activities of the C. Y. O. Founded 10 years ago by Bishop Bernard J. Sheil, the Catholic Youth organization has spread thruout the nation. Its youth program and its benefits are so well known and appreciated that they need not be detailed. Tonight's expected attendance is a hearty indorsement of the C. Y. O. program. Patrons will be rewarded with what promises to be the outstanding amateur bouts in the annual summer series.

The boys from Hawaii, including two national champions, constitute the greatest threat in the history of C. Y. O. boxing supremacy. Frank de Goeas, manager of the invading team, has predicted that Hawaii will win eight bouts, altho six would be sufficient. He believes Chicago may have an advantage in the heavyweight and bantamweight classes, but predicts his boxers will prove the better in other weights.

Wins Trophy in Boston.

Chester Ling, bantamweight, who will meet Tony Bausone, won the "gamest fighter trophy" in the National A. A. U. tournament in Boston last April. Ray Quintal, Hawaiian light heavyweight who faces Hubert Hood of the C. Y. O., is captain of the invading team. Cornelius Young, Golden Gloves and C. Y. O. heavyweight champion, is leader of the Chicagoans.

The best basis for judging the strength of the Hawaiians is to recall that they captured the team title

DOERING LEADS WESTERN WITH 70, 2 UNDER PAR

Croonquist, Black, Young Tie for 2d with 71s.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Minneapolis, Minn., July 9—Arthur Doering, the young Chicagoan who plays championship golf with all the earnestness of an ambitious duffer, today took the halfway lead in the qualifying round of the 41st Western Amateur tournament with a shining 70, two under par for the Minneapolis Golf club.

The 24 year old Doering, who registers from the Medinah Country club, just won the valuable trans-Mississippi crown. Instead of resting on that honor Art hied himself up here and practiced steadily, either on the course or the exercise tee, from July 4 until yesterday. His diligence was repaid this afternoon when he came off of the 18th green with the 70 that might well have been a 69 had a well stroked eight foot putt on that final green dropped.

Three a Stroke Behind.

It may be that Arthur will have to duplicate that 70, if not better it, in tomorrow's final portion of the qualifying round, if he would win the medal. One stroke back of him is a threesome of 71s, two shots away is another trio at par 72, and several other talented parties are within reach.

The 71 detail includes little Neil Croonquist, 1940 captain of the University of Minnesota; Jim Black of St. Louis, former western junior runner up, and Ken Young, who has been one of Minnesota's ablest public links swingers until this, the year of his debut as a private club golfer. Tied at 72 were Walter Burkemo of Evanston, Ill.; Harry Todd of Dallas, Tex., the defending champion, and Earl Larson, one time Gopher golf captain.

Wehrle, Ferrier Threats.

Very much within the picture at this point are two lads from widely scattered points, both with 73s. One is Wilford Wehrle of Chicago's Tom O'Shanter club. The other is James Ferrier, the giant golf writer from Sydney, Australia. James had a 36-37-73, which might have been better if a few short putts on the back nine had dropped.

Wehrle started out with a 39, missing short putts for pars. Coming home, he was missing equally short ones for birdies, otherwise his back nine of 34 would have been shaved by a couple of shots. All in all, however, Wilf was highly satisfied with his first round performance.

A number of others, didn't feel so content, among them being no less than Marvin [Bud] Ward of Spokane, Wash., the National Amateur champion. Bud was out in 39, three over, after a 6-5 record on the third and fourth. He appeared headed for better things coming home, but a 7 on the par 5 15th, where he drove the rough and didn't get out with a brassie attempt spoiled that and he finished with a 77.

Goodman Has Trouble.

John Goodman, former open and amateur champ from Omaha, also had his troubles, but finished with a 75 after taking 3 from the edge of the 18th. Chick Evans, Chicago veteran who has won the Western eight times, took a 77, as did Art Andrews of Peoria, recent runner-up for the Illinois Amateur.

The 74 bracket included George Victor of Glenview, Chicago, and Dr. Bill Kostelecky, former Northwestern captain. With them were Bob Sulzer, Cincinnati city champ, and Herb Rose, Minnesota freshman, both of whom got away fast with 34s, but slowed down to 40s.

Fifty-eight players in the field of 120 starters broke 80, yet out of that number only seven were able to lower or equal par. Even the high count gentry voiced no alibi, however, for today was an ideal one for

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 9.—Bad habits usually lead to trouble and there was no exception at Sportsman's park today. . . . The American league tried to win the eighth annual All-Star game with Yankees, who once were all stars, but who now are run-of-the-mine players. . . . The result was inevitable, the National league winning, 4 to 0, for its third and most decisive victory of the series. . . . The outcome was settled faster than a strip tease artist can unsnap her bra. . . . Arky Vaughan, Pittsburgh shortstop, opened the first inning with a single and moved to third when Billy Herman of the Cubs, whose three hits in three trips to the plate, made him the batting leader of the star spangled contest, cracked a single into left field. . . . Max West of the Boston Bees hit Red Ruffing's first pitch into the right field stands and the ball game was over. . . .

Carl Hubbell.

Arky Vaughan.

Just why the American league opened the game with Ruffing on the mound is a question only Manager Joe Cronin can answer. . . . Ruffing's 1940 record is seven victories and seven defeats. . . . Buck Newsom, who has won 12 straight for Detroit, and Bobby Feller, who has scored 13 victories in his 18 games this season, both merited the starting position. . . . The National league collected five of its seven hits off the Yankees' big right hander, whereas Newsom and Feller yielded only one apiece. . . . The other Yankees who were used much of the game were equally impotent. . . . Two of the American league's three hits were made by Luke Appling of the White Sox, whose current batting average entitled him to a place among the All-Stars. . . . DiMaggio, Gordon, and Dickey are away off form in league hitting this season and they were far from All-Star caliber today. . . .

It was the National league's day in every department of play. . . . It got better pitching, better hitting and better fielding. . . . And you can add better management. . . . Bill McKechnie handled his squad in All-Star fashion. . . . He gave the fans what they came to see—a parade of famous players. . . . He didn't spare his own club in his effort to win the game, because the first two pitchers he sent to the mound were his ace workmen, Paul Derringer and Bucky Walters. . . . Derringer carried on where he left off in Chicago last Saturday. . . . He gave up only one hit, a double by Appling, in his two innings of toil. . . . McKechnie even got around to using Carl Hubbell, whose feat of striking out five of the greatest sluggers in American league history in succession at the Polo Grounds in the 1934 game, still stands as the most brilliant pitching achievement of the series. . . . The Giants' veteran southpaw set down the opposition without a hit in the only inning he was on the mound. . . .

Jimmy Foxx, who was the starting first baseman for the American league, was the only man on either team who had been named to the eight All-Star squads. . . . This was the first time the game was played in a neutral field. . . . Both the Browns of the American league and the Cardinals of the National use Sportsman's park as a home base, so there could be no complaint about partiality on the part of the fans. . . . The crowds at the bleacher gates gathered hours before the sale opened at 8:30 o'clock. . . . Ten customers were so anxious to be at the front of the line they slept on the sidewalk all night. . . . Among them were three Chicagoans, Bill Scunick, Jim Regan, and Joe Novotny, who hitch-hiked to St. Louis for baseball's greatest spectacle. . . . President Donald L. Barnes of the Browns, at an expense of $4,000, brought back his entire club from Detroit, where it lost a double header to the Tigers Sunday and provided each with a seat for today's game. . . . The Browns left tonight for New York, where they open Thursday with the Yankees. . . . The two National league right fielders, Mel Ott and Max West, had the same number on their uniforms, a big 4. . . . Johnny Mize and Frank McCormick, the first basemen, both wore No. 10. . . . Joe E. Brown, Hollywood's No. 1 baseball fan, flew in from the coast this morning and left for Chicago with Harry Grabiner of the White Sox shortly after the game. . . .

Lew Fonseca was busily engaged before the game directing a crew of cameramen making shots for the 1941 American league movie. . . . At Charley Grimm's party on his farm outside the city last night a group of

Illinois Commission Passes, but Thomas Fake Still Is Just That

BY ARCH WARD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., July 9.—The investigation by the Illinois Athletic commission of the so-called Harry Thomas case wound up where it began—nowhere. Hearings stretching over a period of eight months developed nothing pertinent to the case not disclosed in THE TRIBUNE'S copyrighted story Oct. 30, 1939. The hearings furnished a few interesting newspaper articles, nothing else.

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE spent two months checking circumstantial evidence and obtaining corroboration of Thomas' admission that the results of two prominent heavyweight boxing matches were decided weeks before the fighters entered the ring. It took the Illinois Athletic commission eight months to find out it could do nothing about these revelations.

Lest there be the slightest confusion about the status of the "Thomas case," let us remind you of these facts:

1. THE TRIBUNE on Oct. 30, 1939, carried an article in which Harry Thomas confessed that the outcome of his bout with Max Schmeling in Madison Square Garden, New York, was decided in a Chicago hotel room several weeks in advance of the match.

2. THE TRIBUNE in the same article quoted Thomas as admitting that the result of his bout with Tony Galento in Philadelphia was arranged in advance of their meeting in the ring.

3. THE TRIBUNE has not retracted a word of its story.

We submit No. 3 as an important point. It isn't necessary to mention that a newspaper must know what it is printing when it presents a piece like that and makes it stick.

It was poor timing on the part of the commission to release its findings, or lack thereof, when it is endeavoring to bring a heavyweight championship fight to Chicago. But if it will help the cause, this department will be glad to reproduce the details of the Harry Thomas case as often as necessary.

Or have we made ourselves clear?

'WHAT A GAME; WHAT A TEAM,' SAYS M'KECHNIE

National Leaguers Happy; Not So Their Opponents.

St. Louis, Mo., July 9 (AP).—William [Deacon] McKechnie, 53 year old leader of the National league All-Stars, was supremely happy at the 4 to 0 triumph of his players over the stars of the American league.

"Those guys got a look at some good pitching today, didn't they?" McKechnie asked. "It was a great game. I'm proud of my players. We had a fast fielding club and a great defensive team. Wasn't Max West's clout a beauty?"

He shook the hand of each player, thanking them for their performance. He was particularly pleased at the hitting of Billy Herman.

McKechnie was surrounded by his lieutenants, the veteran Casey Stengel, manager of the Boston Bees and Doc Prothro, manager of the Philadelphia Phillies.

Ford Frick, president of the National league, shouldered his way thru the perspiring players to congratulate McKechnie. Frick was followed by William Harridge, president of the American league, who warmly congratulated the Deacon.

"They Looked Silly," Says Paul.

No National league player was happier than Paul Derringer, who pitched the first two innings, striking out three and yielding only one hit, Luke Appling's double, which banged into the rightfield wall in the second inning.

"Those guys were supposed to have a lot of power," Derringer said, "but they looked powerless today. In fact, if you're asking me, they looked kind of silly at bat. They only got three hits in the whole game."

West, whose 360-foot home run in the right field pavilion scored the first three runs, didn't know what kind of a pitch he had hit.

In contrast with the enthusiasm in the National league dressing room, the American league's quarters were quiet and business-like.

Red Ruffing, the New York Yankees' big right hander who started and was found for three runs in the first inning before he settled down, was squatted on the trainer's table, waiting for a rub-down.

Buck Gets Last Laugh.

"They just hit 'em safe," he said with philosophic calm; "some days they hit the same balls on the ground or pop 'em up."

Joe Cronin, manager of the defeated Americans, said two words told the whole story: "No hits."

The only happy man in the American league's dressing room was Buck Newsom, the Detroit pitcher who had threatened to stay away from the game unless he was named as the starting pitcher. He wasn't, but he showed up anyway, and did the best job of the American league hurlers, shutting out the opposition with one hit for three innings, and, on top of that, banging out a single, one of the American league's three hits.

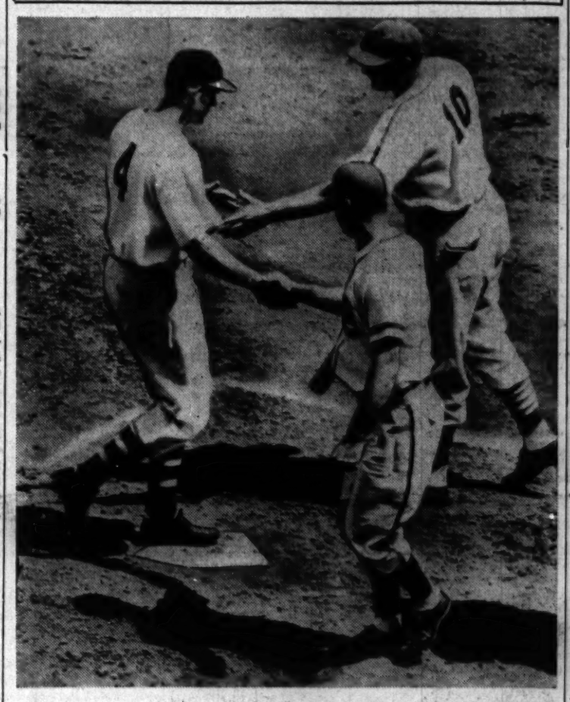
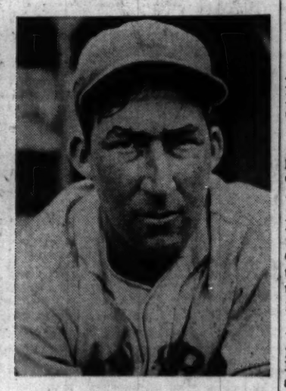
They Provided Punch in All-Star Game



[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Max West, the big man in the big game, gets a big hand as he reaches the plate after hitting a three run homer in the first inning of the All-Star game in St. Louis yesterday for all the runs which mattered in the Nationals' 4 to 0 triumph over the Americans. The Cards' Johnny Mize (10) and Bill Herman are congratulating the Boston outfielder. Herman came in for applause, too, getting three straight hits.

Luke Appling, White Sox shortstop, who made two of the Americans' three hits. The two Chicago players, Herman and Appling, accounted for 5 of the game's 10 hits.



Harry Danning, Giants' catcher and leading National league hitter, whose single sent Teammate Mel Ott home with the final run of the game in the eighth inning.

POUNDS OVER 3 RUNS AGAINST RUFFING IN 1ST

West Hits Homer with Two On.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., July 9.—Manager Bill McKechnie's representative National league All-Stars today gave Joe Cronin's Yankee packed American league stars a 4 to 0 whipping, the first shutout and the most decisive victory for either league since the game was originated by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE in 1933. The triumph was accomplished before 32,373, who paid $42,420.79.

Two of the three American hits, a double and a single, were knocked by Chicago's own slugging idol, Luke Appling of the White Sox. The other hit was a single by Buck Newsom of Detroit, who coveted the honor of starting, an honor which was denied him because Yankeephobia demanded the starting of a Yankee, Red Ruffing.

West, the Hero, Hurt.

The Nationals made three of their four runs before Ruffing, with Yankee Bill Dickey calling the pitches, accomplished the Americans' first out of the game. In the first inning Pittsburgh's Arky Vaughan singled off Yankee Joe Gordon's glove and went to third on Cub Bill Herman's single. Then Max West of the Boston Bees, drove in three runs with a homer. In the second inning West bruised his left hip trying to catch Appling's double and had to retire—retire with the game's laurels firmly clamped on his brow.

The Nationals made seven hits, three of them by Herman in three times at bat. Of the seven, four were made off Yankee Ruffing in the first inning and one off Ruffing in the third. Herman made one off Newsom and Hank Danning of the Giants drove in the fourth National run with one off Bobby Feller of Cleveland.

Yankees Remain in Stride.

The five Yankees who started not only didn't hit, they didn't extend a fielder. In two times at bat Charley Keller fanned and tapped to the infield. Joe DiMaggio bounced to the pitcher, flied to right field, popped to the shortstop, and flied to left field. Dickey was out on a grounder on his one chance and Gordon whiffed his two times at bat. Ruffing, considered something unusual as a slugger among pitchers, dribbled out to the pitcher on his only attempt.

Paul Derringer, Cincinnati star, was the starting and winning pitcher. In his two innings he was socked for only one hit, Appling's double. He fanned three, Keller, Jimmy Foxx of Boston, and Gordon. Bucky Walters, Derringer's Red teammate, pitched the second two inning hitch and retired six Americans in order.

That's Three of Eight.

Only six men faced Whit Wyatt of Brooklyn in two innings. In the sixth Newsom opened with his single, but Cecil Travis of Washington bounced into the game's only double play. Larry French of the Cubs yielded Appling's single and Luke was the only one to reach base at Larry's expense. After Appling's hit, Rollie Hemsley of Cleveland fouled to the catcher. Ray Mack of Cleveland and Feller struck out. Carl Hubbell, veteran Giant star, walked Lou Finney of Boston in the ninth, Lou thus becoming the fifth and last American base occupant in the game.

It was the third victory for the Nationals in the eight All-Star games played. The Nationals won, 4 to 3, in Boston in 1936 under Charley Grimm and 4 to 1 in Cincinnati under Bill Terry in 1938. A Yankee pitcher has started all but one of the games, Lefty Grove somehow drawing the assignment in 1936.

The game opened with Travis meeting the first pitch for a long fly to Terry Moore. Williams walked on four pitches. Then Derringer got a chance at two of his 1939 world series annoyers. He struck out Keller on three pitches and tossed out DiMaggio.

The Nationals' offensive started with a rush. Vaughan was credited with a single when his bouncer

Woolford Farm's Entry Displays Teamwork.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Trainer Ross Higdon sent two Woolford farm fillies—Silvestra and Unquote—to the post in the Brookfield purse yesterday at Arlington Park in an effort to decide which will start in next Saturday's $30,000 Lassie Stakes. They did such a good job of team work in finishing one-two that he may decide to let them share the responsibility of racing against Joseph E. Widener's Misty Isle in next Saturday's rich stake.

Over a slow track, which was dulled by heavy morning rains, Unquote cut out a brilliant early pace, hitting the quarter in :23 and the half in :47 1-5. Then Silvestra came on powerfully to take command in the stretch and win by two lengths in 1:06 for the five and a half furlongs.

Moja Finishes Third.

Cleveland Putnam's Moja, another Lassie eligible, was third, four lengths behind Unquote. The field of eight included three other candidates for Saturday's big race—Blue Delight, Tidy Whisk, and Levin—but all finished far out of it.

Thru the early stages of the race, Coercion challenged Unquote persistently. The Milky Way filly seemed to be running with something in reserve as they swung around the turn. Approaching the stretch, Jockey Ken McCombs brought Silvestra around the pacesetters. Carroll Bierman sent Coercion over to the rail while the two Woolford fillies raced side by side right down the middle of the track. In the last furlong, Silvestra drew away steadily from her stablemate, while Coercion was tiring and yielding third place to Moja.

Because of her brilliant performance during the Churchill Downs and Lincoln Fields meetings, Mrs. John Marsch's Blue Delight was established as the 2 to 1 favorite, while the Woolford entry was second choice at 5 to 2. Tickets on the winner were worth $7.80, $6.80 and $5.

Noble Count Again.

Mrs. J. F. Waters' Noble Count, the most consistent plater of the Chicago season to date, scored his fifth victory out of six starts, beating Dusky Prince by a nose in a seven furlong dash for horses of the $2,500 class.

In compiling his excellent record under Esall Wyatt's training, Noble Count has moved up steadily from the $1,250 division. The break in his string of victories occurred two weeks ago when he finished third, only half a length from the leader, in his first attempt of the season against $2,500 horses. He came back yesterday, however, to show that he could win in that class, too.

Jack Quinn's Wife Resting Easily After Operation

Mrs. Georgiana Quinn, wife of Jack Quinn, former pitcher of the Philadelphia Athletics and other clubs, was resting easily in the St. James hospital, Chicago Heights, yesterday after her right leg was amputated above the knee. She had injured her leg at an outing last Saturday at Momence, Ill. She is 52 years old. The Quinn home is at 13917 Kanawha road, Dolton.

NEUTRALITY forced to race wide from the start, was in a contending position after the first three-sixteenths, raced to the lead on the outside approaching the last eighth, but was kept under pressure to the end. AFTER DAWN, probably much the best and away slowly, made up much ground in the first quarter, was abruptly taken up as he bore over causing interference after getting to the front soon after reaching the stretch and came again when returned to mild urging but was disqualified for fouling.

BLACK CHERRY bettered her position gradually while racing wide and under a good hold the first three-eighths, took command following a light shaking up when approaching the stretch and weakened after opening up a good lead, DUST OFF, steadied along for a half mile, responded when called upon and, finishing with the most speed might have gotten up in another stride. ROSETTA, far back for a half mile was directed between horses starting up fast after reaching the stretch and, sustaining the rush to the end, overtook LITTLE ABNER in the last stride.

SILVESTRA raced with good speed from the start, moved up to take the lead when racing very wide entering the stretch, was liberally punished as she shook off UNQUOTE and, taken in hand the last fifty yards, won with something left. UNQUOTE taken in hand after being hustled into command on the inside, made a determined effort to withstand the winner's challenge but was not good enough and was eased in the last few strides.

NOBLE COUNT, fast to begin and steadied along early, moved forward when ready, was forced to lose ground when wearing the leaders down, forged to the front when inside the final 40 yards and, finishing under strong handling, outgamed DUSKY PRINCE. Latter, hustled along from the start, wore DELTA DAN down after reaching the final furlong, was unable to withstand the winner, but held on tenaciously.

Time, :23 1-5, :47, 1:12 2-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Bay View, $11.00 straight, $5.60 place, $4.00 show; Silverette, $6.80 place, $5.40 show. Designer, $5.80 show. Winner trained by P. F. Dwyer. Went to post at 4:38½. Off at once. Start good from gate. Won easily, place driving.

BAY VIEW dropped soon after the start, raced forward on the outside, was taken in hand to avoid interference at the far turn, came fast thereafter and, wearing down SILVERETTE in the last stages, won easily. SILVERETTE took command at once, established a clear lead rapidly, was put to strong handling when tiring, was unable to hold the winner, but was much the best of the others.

SEVENTH RACE—Mile and an eighth. Four year olds and up. Claiming. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50.

Winner trained by G. B. Scallon. Went to post at 5:06. At post 1½ minutes. Start good from gate. Won easily, place driving.

STAR WAGON steadied along early, responded well when called upon, was inclined to bear to the inside when wearing MR. SMITH down, and won with something to spare. MR. SMITH, under steadying restraint for five-eighths, moved into the lead when ready, and, room at the inner, was kept to the inside and held on well. CHANCE SWEET, hustled to the front, gave way when challenged, but held on well.

EIGHTH RACE—Mile and a sixteenth. Three year olds and up. Claiming. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50.

FRANCES KEENE, pushed to the front, established a long lead swiftly, responded well when shaken up in the drive and won easily. SOUTHLAND GEM, steadied along early, improved his position when ready, offered a mild bid approaching the drive, failed to menace the winner, but held on well. BUYER BEWARE worked her way forward thru the field and finished well.

NATIONALS WHIP AMERICANS, 4-0, ON WEST'S HOMER

Yankee Packed Lineup Is Held to Three Hits.

Appling Gets First Hit.

The Americans' second inning got under way with Foxx being called out on strikes. Appling then got the first hit off Derringer, a double off the right field wall. West made a leap against the concrete in a heroic, tho obviously futile, gesture and was hurt. He fell at the base of the wall while Herman retrieved Appling's hit.

After several minutes of first aid treatment West was able to walk to the Nationals' dugout. Nicholson went to right field to take Max's place. As soon as play was resumed Dickey tapped to Herman, Appling taking third. Gordon then whiffed.

Ruffing wasn't such a pushover in the second inning. After Terry Moore had fouled to Foxx, Derringer and Vaughan struck out.

Walters took over the pitching job at the start of the American third. He tossed out Ruffing, then Travis flied to Medwick and Herman threw out Williams. Herman opened the Nationals' third with his second single. Gordon made a fine stop back of second, but Bill beat his throw. Nicholson fouled to Keller, Herman reaching second. Herman got to third on Mize's grounder to Gordon, but died there on Lombardi's fly to Keller.

Wyatt Takes Over.

Keller, DiMaggio and Foxx were soft for Walters in the fourth. Herman threw out Charley, Joe lifted a gentle fly to Nicholson and Jimmy grounded out to Vaughan.

Newsom had no trouble with the Nationals in the fourth. Medwick lined to Gordon, Lavagetto flied to Keller and Terry Moore flied to Williams.

Wyatt, the third National pitcher, took over at the start of the fifth. Appling bounced to Mize and Hayes bounced to Lavagetto. Gordon again whiffed.

Wyatt was called out on strikes at the start of the Nationals' fifth, after which Vaughan flied to Williams. Herman, however, delivered his third straight hit, a single to right. Nicholson flied to Keller.

At the start of the sixth Manager McKechnie of the Nationals sent in five replacments, Miller, Coscarart, Ott, McCormick, Joe Moore, and Merrill May joining up with earlier replacements, Wyatt and Phelps, and the starter, Terry Moore.

Newsom Gets One.

Newsom opened the American sixth with the second American hit, a single to right, but Travis grounded into a double play, Coscarart to Miller to McCormick. Coscarart tossed out Williams.

Manager Cronin sent in three replacements in the American sixth, actually supplanting another Yankee. Finney went to right, Greenberg to left and Keltner to third. McCormick fouled to Keltner, Phelps walked, and Joe Moore fouled to Keltner. May flied to DiMaggio.

French and Danning were the new National battery in the seventh. Greenberg fouled to Danning and DiMaggio popped to Miller. Foxx lined to Terry Moore.

Feller and Hemsley were the new American league battery at the start of the National seventh. Terry Moore walked and French sacrificed, Foxx to Gordon. Miller fanned and Coscarart was called out on strikes.

Appling Hits Again.

Appling opened the eighth with his second and the Americans' third hit, a single to right. Hemsley fouled to Danning. Mack batted for Gordon and fanned. Feller also fanned.

Mack went to second and Boudreau replaced Appling at short at the start of the National eighth. Ott walked and McCormick sacrificed, Keltner to Foxx. Danning singled to right, scoring Ott, and when Finney's throw in eluded Hemsley and went to the boxes Danning took second. Joe Moore grounded out, Foxx to Feller, Danning taking third. May was hit by a pitched ball, but Terry Moore struck out.

Hubbell was the Nationals' pitcher at the start of the ninth. Keltner fanned, Finney walked, but Greenberg fouled to Danning and DiMaggio flied to Joe Moore.

GUEST'S 89 TOPS GROSS SCORES IN BALLY-HOO GOLF

Mrs. Perry H. Fisk of DeKalb, former western women's closed tournament champion, shot the low gross card of 43-46—89 to lead a field of 158 women members and guests in the third annual Edgewood Valley Bally-Hoo invitational tournament held yesterday. Mrs. Fisk won the Class A award for guests. Mrs. Connell Clifford, former club champion, won the similar event for members with a gross card of 45-47—92. Forty other awards were distributed among the low scorers.

Scoring 109, Mrs. Percy Langdon led the second flight for members while Mrs. Thomas McDougal, with 110, dominated the third flight. Mrs. Ralph Hill of La Grange won the second flight prize for visitors with a 98 while Kathleen Carey of Butterfield was the low gross scorer among the guests in the third flight with 102.

Aggregating a total of 324, the foursome of Kathleen Carey, Butterfield, 72; Mrs. Charles W. Sechler, Oak Park, 80; Mrs. Glen E. Dewey, Lincolnshire, 83; and Mrs. O. C. Bell, Edgewood Valley, 89, captured the low net team prize.

FLYWEIGHT WITH KNOCKOUT PUNCH TO TEST AL NOTO

BY FRANK MASTRO.

A flyweight bout between Richard Chinnen, hard hitting representative of the Hawaiian team, and Al Noto of the Catholic Youth organization, and a heavyweight encounter involving George Medeiros, aggressive member of the visiting delegation, and Cornelius Young of the C. Y. O. give promise of developing into the most exciting fights on the intersectional program in Soldiers' field tonight.

Chinnen, born in Hilo, Hawaii, 20 years ago, is one of the most competent boxers on the squad. The Japanese fighter has engaged in 29 contests during a three year campaign. He won 22, most of them by knockouts. Richard reached the semi-finals in the National A. A. U. tournament held in Boston several weeks ago, coming out of the meet with colors flying despite his elimination.

Condition May Decide.

Noto, however, is a formidable opponent for Chinnen. Al, who also is 20 years old, defeated Harold Dade for the C. Y. O. 112 pound title last December. This was a notable achievement, especially since Dade followed up the setback by winning the Chicagoland Golden Gloves championship on March 6.

Inasmuch as Noto, like his rival, is a willing mixer, victory may well hinge on which is better conditioned. They will appear in the second encounter on the intersectional card.

Young and Medeiros each will be seeking to make amends for a previous defeat, the former at the hands of Olle Tandberg, of Sweden in an international match on April 10 and Medeiros by Mike Adler of the C. Y. O. in an intersectional contest held in Honolulu four years ago.

Medeiros, 24 years old and of Portuguese parentage, is one of the most businesslike boxers sent to this country by Hawaii. Since his arrival in Chicago eight days ago, George has been concentrating on his impending clash with Young.

"I've got to win; I've got to win," Medeiros keeps muttering to himself.

Young Punishing Hitter.

George may emerge victorious, but he'll know he's been in a fight before it ends. His record includes 28 bouts. He scored 26 triumphs, 16 by knockouts.

WASHINGTON PK. STAKE ENTRIES CLOSE MONDAY

Entries will close next Monday for the mile and a quarter Washington Park handicap, $25,000 added, to be run on Labor day, Sept. 2, closing day of the mid-summer meeting at the Homewood course. The $25,000 added money is an increase of $20,000 over last year.

The handicap has been run at various distances since it was inaugurated in 1926, and its value has fluctuated considerably. The race this year will be back at its original distance, to remain so permanently, while the value is more than double that of the first running and five times greater than last year.

Rival Leaders in C. Y. O. Boxing Show Meet

30,000 to See C.Y.O.-Hawaii Bouts Tonight

in the National A. A. U. tournament. Against the outstanding amateur boxers in the United States and Hawaii these boys came thru with a surprising triumph. The C. Y. O. thus is faced with a difficult task in continuing its unbeaten string tonight.

Last year the amateur boxers from Ireland tied the C. Y. O., 5 bouts to 5, by winning the final bout of the series. Five of last year's Catholic Youth boxers have been named for tonight's bouts. Three of these boys contributed to last year's tie. They were Eddie O'Connell, lightweight; Savior Canadeo, welterweight, Golden Gloves intercity and international champion, and Isaiah Wells, middleweight.

O'Connell Faces Frank Fernandez.

O'Connell will meet Frank Fernandez, hard hitting Hawaiian lightweight. Canadeo's opponent is Dan Fernandez, while Wells will fight Dominick Neratko, middleweight champion of the Hawaiian department of the United States army. Dominick was a late arrival after obtaining a furlough from Schofield barracks, Honolulu.

Frank Bausone, featherweight, and Cornelius Young competed last summer. Bausone was beaten by Jimmy Ingle of Ireland, and Patrick O'Sullivan, Irish heavyweight, whipped Young.

Usually Hawaiian boxers are superior in the lighter weights. It is considered probable that tonight's series may be decided in the first three weight classes in which six bouts are scheduled. Harold Dade, Al Noto, 112 pounders; Ray Brown and Tony Bausone, in the bantamweight division, and Jack Ballengee and Frank Bausone, featherweights, form this C. Y. O. group.

Report at Noon Today.

The rival teams will report at 12 noon today in the C. Y. O. gymnasium, 31 East Congress street, to weigh in and to be given physical examinations. Paddy Kane, coach, and Tom O'Connell, C. Y. O. gym director, who have supervised the training camp in Round Lake, Ill., report their boxers are ready for the test.

Preliminary bouts tonight include three intercity matches and three Chicago bouts. The list follows:

Ernie Derbo, South Bend, Ind., and Harry Sparrow, Chicago, 147 pounds.

Martin Brennan, Chicago, and Charles Carey, Chicago, 126 pounds.

Russell of Cubs Undergoes Emergency Appendectomy

Glen Russell, Chicago Cubs' first baseman, underwent an emergency appendectomy yesterday in Illinois Masonic hospital. Dr. John F. Davis, Cub team physician, said after the operation that Russell's condition was very good.

HYWAY HORSESHOERS WIN.

In the Chicago Horseshoe pitching league last night, Southtown defeated Alderman McDermott's team 15 to 10, and Hyway defeated Vin-Lin, 15 to 10.

OVERLIN FORCES BALSAMO TO QUIT IN NINTH ROUND

New York, July 9 [Special].—In a battle that was one-sided all the way, Ken Overlin, middleweight champion, forced Harry Balsamo of Harlem to quit after 2 minutes and 38 seconds of the ninth round of their scheduled ten round fight at the Queensboro arena here tonight. A crowd of 6,000 paid $12,000.

MRS. MOORE AND MISS M'COY WIN IN COUNTY GOLF

The defending champion, Mrs. Evelyn Moore of Navajo Fields, and the medalist, Miss Florence McCoy of Lincolnshire, hurdled their first obstacles in the opening matches of the 26th annual Cook county women's tournament yesterday in Jackson park. Mrs. Moore eliminated Miss Evelyn Bailey of Tucson, Ariz., 1 up, in nineteen holes, while Miss McCoy defeated Mrs. Corinne Woodard, unattached, 3 and 2.

Mrs. Belle Meany of Green Diamond golf range, participating for the ninth time, found an easy victim in Miss Grace Busseman of Swing-Hit driving range, defeating her, 5 and 4.

Shoots New Course Mark.

Shooting a medal score of 37—39—76, six strokes over par, Mrs. Bernie Sick, wife of the Crystal Lawn pro, established a new women's scoring record over the revamped course in defeating Mrs. Marion Drebing of Navajo Fields, 9 and 7. Mrs. Lillian Zech of Tam O' Shanter, scored a 75 nine years ago in the same tournament, but the layout has been lengthened and par increased since that time.

In the outstanding quarter-final matches today, Mrs. Moore will oppose Mrs. Meany and Miss McCoy will meet Mrs. Sick.

Championship Flight Scores.

Mrs. Evelyn Moore, Navajo Fields, defeated Evelyn Bailey, Tucson, Ariz., 1 up, 19 holes.
Mrs. Belle Meany, Green Diamond range, defeated Grace Busseman, Swing-Hit range, 5 and 4.
Mildred Wright, Jackson, defeated Mrs. G. Miskin Fischer, unattached, 4 and 2.
Mrs. Bernie Sick, Crystal Lawn, defeated Mrs. Marion Drebing, Navajo Fields, 9 and 7.

TULSA VS. HYDROX.

Nina Korgan, pitching star of the Tulsa, Okla., Cowgirls, will attempt to avenge a previous defeat tonight at Shewbridge field, 74th and Aberdeen streets, when she faces the Hydrox girls' softball team in the third and final game of their series.

EILEEN QUINLAN BEATS MEDALIST IN JUNIOR GOLF

South Bend, Ind., July 9 [Special].—Eileen Quinlan of St. Paul exploded the first upset as the Women's Junior Western Golf tournament started today over the South Bend Country club's rolling acres when she ousted Phyllis Otto of Atlantic, Ia., 1 up.

Miss Otto had become the favorite when she turned in a medal winning 80 in qualifying play Monday. Scores:

Margaret Gunther, Memphis, Tenn., beat Edith Holt, Weaver, Ia., 4 and 2; Virginia Smith, Milwaukee, beat Barbara Bathke, St. Paul, 4 and 3; Edel Wertz, Fort Smith, Ark., beat Sue Land of Richmond, Ind., 6 and 5; Georgia Tainter, Fargo, N. D., beat Mary Ann Finch, Des Moines, Ia., 2 and 1; Jeanne Cline, Bloomington, Ill., beat Marjorie Lindsay, Decatur, Ill., 1 up; Betty Jane Haemerle, St. Louis, beat Dorothy Campbell, St. Louis, 1 up, and Mae Louise Davisson, Leesburg, Ind., beat Jane Hunnicutt, Worthington, Minn., 6 and 5.

Miss Quinlan vs. Miss Gunther; Miss Cline vs. Miss Smith; Miss Wertz vs. Miss Tainter; Miss Haemerle vs. Miss Davisson.

NEW TREASURY LOAN TO BE 650 MILLION OF 2¼'S

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 9.—The treasury will offer 650 million dollars of 2¼ per cent bonds on Thursday, it was decided today at a conference between Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau and the executive committee of the federal reserve system's open market committee.

The maturity will not be decided until formal announcement of the offering is made Thursday morning. Reaction of the market tomorrow will be a deciding factor in the maturity date of the new bonds, which will be issued as part of the treasury's regular financing operations and will raise the treasury's debt by the same amount. The new money will go into the working balance of the treasury.

600 Million for Public.

Of the total offering 50 millions will be reserved for purchase by government investment accounts, leaving a total of 600 millions to be offered the public.

The interest rate of 2¼ per cent is a contradiction of what Morgenthau said yesterday in disclosing the financing. At that time Morgenthau said that he expected the issue to cost less than the last bond offering, which was 571 millions of 2 per cent bonds, due 1948-'50, offered last Dec. 8. The higher rate discloses less certainty about the tone of the government bond market than treasury officials intended to convey. This offering is not related to the national defense program for which the treasury has authority to issue 4 billions in special national defense bonds as needed.

Draws on Bank Accounts.

Pending the receipt of additional cash by sale of the bonds, the United States treasury is drawing upon its deposits in commercial banks. The treasury has notified its commercial bank depositaries in the New York federal reserve district it would withdraw $14,439,000.

It was estimated the treasury in the last two weeks has called for $234,407,000 from its accounts in commercial banks thruout the country. The latest withdrawals reduced the treasury balances to $572,000,000.

Ordinarily the treasury operates with government balances in the federal reserve banks, turning to deposits in commercial banks as a secondary reserve.

Union Asbestos Elects New Yorker a Director

Union Asbestos and Rubber company of Chicago yesterday announced the election of Gilbert W. Kahn of New York to its executive committee and board of directors. Kahn is a partner of the banking firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., and is the son of the late Otto H. Kahn. Kahn's firm became financially interested in the Chicago business about two years ago. Union Asbestos makes asbestos products for the railroad, marine, and automotive industries. Its plants are in Cicero and Blue Island.

NEW TAXES MAY FALL HEAVIEST ON PLANE FIRMS

Set Steepest Rates on High Yields.

The proposed federal excess profits taxes if based on the yield on invested capital will fall most heavily on the aircraft, automobile, chemical, electrical equipment, food, and retail trade industries, it was indicated yesterday by analyses made by investment firms.

What methods will be used in applying the excess profits taxes are not yet known.

[Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. conferred with congressional leaders in Washington yesterday on methods of taxing some of the above normal profits which manufacturers may make as a result of the armament program, but refused to discuss prospective terms of an excess profits tax bill. Final drafting of the measure was deferred at least until after the Democratic national convention next week.]

Alternative Plan Expected.

Some tax experts have predicted that when the law is finally drawn it will provide alternative methods of determining the tax and perhaps give the treasury department discretion in adjusting individual situations. Most emphasis in the discussions, however, has been on the application of formulas to fix excess profits based on a specified return on invested capital or on average earnings in certain previous years.

Studies of the possible effects of these new taxes are being conducted privately to determine how corporate earnings may be affected and what the indirect influence may be on dividends to stockholders.

Corporations which currently are earning a substantial return on invested capital [cash and assets paid in plus accumulated surplus and undivided profits] will have to surrender a larger proportion of their profits than those with smaller yields on invested funds, several analysts asserted.

Study La Follette Program.

Their conclusion was based on the theoretical application of a program proposed recently by Senator Robert M. La Follette Jr. [Prog., Wis.], but rejected by congress. His proposal would require corporations to pay a tax of 20 per cent on net profits equal to a return of 20 per cent on invested capital, after allowing deductions of $3,000 plus 8 per cent of invested capital.

On net income in excess of 20 per cent of invested capital, the tax would be 40 per cent.

The La Follette plan was modeled after the excess profits tax in effect in 1921, the last year in which that type of special tax was applied.

Taking the La Follette type of tax as a guide, a study by Fuller, Rodney & Co., brokerage firm, compared invested capital returns of various selected companies in different industries to show possible effects of such a levy.

Aircraft Return Large.

Demonstrating the vulnerability of aircraft companies to a special war tax on earnings above an 8 per cent return on invested capital, the analysis listed Douglas Aircraft with a 1939 yield of 20.7 per cent; Glenn L. Martin, 23 per cent; Sperry corporation, 39.6 per cent; United Aircraft, 28.8 per cent, and Lockhead Aircraft, 36.1 per cent.

On the other hand, some companies in the paper industry with large investments in physical property and relatively low returns would be practically immune to the tax, it was indicated. The study listed Container corporation with 7.5 per cent earned on invested capital; International Paper & Power, 4.2 per cent; Kimberley-Clark, 6.5 per cent; Union Bag & Paper, 5 per cent and West Virginia Pulp & Paper, 2.6 per cent.

In the food industry, the survey listed American Chicle with a 36.1 per cent return; Corn Products Refining, 9.7 per cent; General Foods, 19.2 per cent, and National Biscuit, 10.4 per cent.

Chrysler Yield 21 Per Cent.

Among the automotive companies, Chrysler had a 1939 return of 21.5 per cent on invested capital, General Motors, 17.4 per cent, and Studebaker, 11.9 per cent. Among the machinery makers, Caterpillar Tractor had a yield of 13.8 per cent and Ex-Cell-O, 24.2 per cent.

The percentage return of these companies is contrasted with those of the following: Baldwin Locomotive, 3.4 per cent; General American Transportation, 5.1 per cent; Pullman, 2.3 per cent; Commonwealth Edison, 6.1 per cent; North American company, 5.8 per cent; American Gas and Electric, 5.7 per cent, and American Telephone and Telegraph, 6.6 per cent.

The actual impact of the excess profits tax will depend on what method is used in defining "excess" and "normal" profits.

Open Hearings Today on New Traction Bill

BY LAURENCE BURD.

Public hearings on Chicago's proposed unified traction ordinance will start this morning in the city hall. The hearings, to be conducted by the council local transportation committee headed by Ald. James R. Quinn [50th], will continue daily until all groups and persons with suggestions have been heard.

Ald. James R. Quinn.

Meanwhile, it was learned yesterday that attorneys for bondholders owning $72,700,000 of surface lines' securities plan to go before Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe next week to ask for the payment on Aug. 1 of $1,812,000 in bond interest. Aug. 1 is the regular semiannual payment date for the interest, which amounts to 5 per cent yearly. The interest has been paid regularly since the bonds were sold more than 20 years ago. Judge Igoe's authorization is necessary because the lines are under court jurisdiction.

Warns on Interest.

Judge Igoe warned last March that unless agreement on unification had been reached by Aug. 1 he would cut off the interest.

Altho the franchise ordinance has not yet been completely drawn and agreed upon by both sides, the city and the lines reached substantial agreement on controversial points in May.

The ordinance sets up one company to operate all street car, elevated, and bus lines in the city and take over the operation of the city owned subway now being built.

The new company, under the agreement will spend $102,000,000 in the next eight years for improvements, provided it can raise the cash; keep present rates of fare at least until Jan. 1, 1942, pay pensions to employes, and pay a minimum of 1 per cent of revenues a year to the city as compensation for use of streets, with an additional 2 per cent contingent on earnings.

Hopeful for Payment.

In view of this substantial agreement on franchise terms, attorneys for the surface lines' bondholders are hopeful that the interest payment will be authorized by Judge Igoe. One attorney predicted that failure to authorize the payment may precipitate collapse of the entire unification program.

He said the bondholders, if denied their interest, might reject the plan for reorganizing jointly with the elevated lines and demand a straight foreclosure sale of surface line properties. The $72,700,000 of bonds are all first mortgage obligations and under a foreclosure would have to be paid off in full before any of the more than 50 millions of junior bonds would receive any payment.

Oppose Use of Fund.

It was learned that a provision in the ordinance regarding the traction fund will meet opposition from several civic groups. The clause permits investment of the new traction fund in obligations of the federal, state, and Cook county governments, and Chicago tax anticipation warrants.

Objectors to this provision recall that the present traction fund, accumulated thru payments from the surface lines, contains $20,000,000 frozen in "sour" Chicago tax warrants placed in the fund from 1928 thru 1933 to keep the city from going bankrupt.

Ald. Quinn returned yesterday from Washington, D. C., where he and other city officials conferred with executives of the Reconstruction Finance corporation on a requested RFC loan of $35,000,000 to help finance the improvement program. Quinn said that Jesse Jones, federal loan administrator, had expressed a desire to make the loan, provided a sound company is established. One obstacle to a loan commitment is that no arrangement has yet been made for the new company, formed by a merger of the surface and elevated lines, to acquire the Chicago Motor Coach company.

BALABAN ADVISES MOVIE INDUSTRY TO TIGHTEN BELT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 9. [Special].—The motion picture industry must tighten its belt financially because of the loss of the European market under war conditions, Barney Balaban, president of Paramount Pictures, Inc., asserted today.

Possible enlargement of the South American market would not be nearly sufficient to offset the European loss, he said.

"The day of the blank check from the New York office to the producer on the west coast is past," Balaban said. "An increase of 10 to 15 per cent in American audiences will overcome losses in foreign outlets."

Ask 25 Million More for TVA to Aid Defense

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP).—President Roosevelt's national defense advisory commission urged congress today to appropriate 25 million dollars to the Tennessee Valley authority to help speed up production of aluminum for airplane construction.

Edward R. Stettinius Jr. and William S. Knudsen, members of the commission, testified at a secret hearing of a house appropriations subcommittee, members said, that the appropriations was essential to the prosecution of the defense program.

Disclose Proposed Expansion.

The 25 million dollars would be used to start construction of a dam on the Holston river, near Jefferson City, Tenn., to begin installation of two additional electric generating units at Wilson dam, Alabama, and one additional unit at Pickwick Landing dam, Tennessee, and to begin construction of steam electric generating facilities with a capacity of 120,000 kilowatts in the area served by the authority.

Committee members said the additional capacity would be used to generate power to meet the rapidly increasing demands from plants engaged in the manufacture of materials and supplies for national defense purposes. They said, however, the primary need was for extra power for the Aluminum Company of America's plant in the TVA area which is making aluminum for plane fuselages.

TVA Officials Approve.

David F. Lilienthal and other TVA officials testified in favor of the appropriation.

Committee members said an effort probably would be made to get the appropriation thru both the house and senate this week before congress recesses for the Democratic national convention in Chicago.

FURTHER STUDY OF MO. PACIFIC PLAN IS ASKED

St. Louis, Mo., July 9 (AP).—A request that the federal court refer the proposed plan for reorganization of the Missouri Pacific railroad back to the Interstate Commerce commission for further consideration was filed today at a hearing before Judge George H. Moore. It was made by Luther M. Walter of Chicago, representing a committee for common stock holders.

He declared the commission had failed to determine the true value of the railroad properties and made the objection also that no provision was made for holders of common shares.

Objections to the plan were entered by 15 other groups of security owners and creditors. The railroad has been in federal trusteeship since 1933.

Philco Obtains Interest in National Union Radio

Philadelphia, Pa., July 9 (AP).—Philco corporation today announced purchase of "a substantial interest" in National Union Radio corporation, Newark, N. J. The announcement said National Union would continue as a separate company to manufacture its products and distribute them under its own trademark.

DOMESTIC AIR LINES' OPERATING REVENUES MUCH HIGHER IN MAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 9.—Operating results of the domestic air lines showed a big improvement in May as compared with April, a compilation of financial data provided the Civil Aeronautics authority disclosed today.

With all domestic lines reporting, except eastern, combined net income before taxes amounted to $587,545 in May, compared with $348,409 for the same 17 lines in April. On the same basis, combined net operating revenues in May totaled $599,441, against $363,680 in the preceding month. Gross operating revenues totaled $5,679,490 in May against $5,002,363 in April.

Eastern has not reported for May but in April it had net income of $146,024 before taxes, net operating revenues of $145,447, and gross operating revenues of $910,098. Following are results for the individual air lines in May:

WEIGH DEMAND FOR RECORDS IN EDISON CO. CASE

The Illinois Commerce commission announced yesterday it will decide July 16 whether its files of information on the Commonwealth Edison company will be made available to attorneys for a group of apartment dwellers who are seeking a reduction in their electric bills.

Charles Liebman, one of the attorneys, told the commission that access to the records was necessary for him to prove his case. Liebman's petition, filed last month, alleges that apartment dwellers have been overcharged $1,100,000 a year since October, 1936, when the commission ordered the company to reduce its electric rates by $2,500,000 a year.

NEW FAST TRAIN SERVICE PLANNED BY TWO CARRIERS

Fourteen hour overnight service between St. Louis, Mo., and St. Paul and Minneapolis, Minn., will start this fall over the Burlington and Rock Island railroads, officials announced yesterday. The new schedules will cut 3½ hours from the present northbound schedule and 5¾ hours from the southbound run.

Two 2,000 horsepower Diesel powered stainless steel trains, one a Zephyr and the other a Rocket, are being purchased for the service. The trains will operate over Burlington rails between St. Louis and Burlington, Ia., and over Rock Island rails between Burlington and the Twin Cities.

60 Million Oil Firm Loan Is Offered Public

New York, July 9 [Special].—An underwriting group of 81 members headed by Dillon, Read & Co. today will offer $60,000,000 of 3 per cent debentures of the Texas corporation. The debentures, due on May 15, 1965, will be priced at 103 and accrued interest.

Offering had been delayed six weeks because of unsettlement of markets by European war developments. Together with treasury funds proceeds will be used to redeem on or about Aug. 11 at 103 the $60,000,000 of 3½ per cent debentures now outstanding. The corporation's funded debt will then consist of $40,000,000 of 3 per cent debentures due in 1959 and the new issue. Underwriting commissions amount to $1,200,000.

Public Offering Deferred.

The Texas corporation filed data on the present issue with the Securities and Exchange commission on May 2. Before the expiration of the 20-day waiting period necessary between registration and sale of new corporate issues, the course of the war in Europe, involving the German invasion of the Low Countries, so unsettled market conditions here that public offering of the debentures was deferred. The same was true of other major corporate financing which is being revived for early public offering.

Reports Sales Abroad.

The offering prospectus says that at the end of 1939 approximately 85 per cent of the corporation's consolidated net current assets and about 91 per cent of the property, plant and equipment were in the United States. Respective figures for Europe were 8 and 5 per cent. Discussing the war situation it says:

"Recent war developments have caused a stoppage of shipments by domestic subsidiaries to most European countries. Incomplete reports so far received indicate that European subsidiaries are continuing their sales of stocks on hand and that in the aggregate their property losses have not been material. The transfer of funds from European countries has become more difficult."

BRITISH TO BUY LARGE SUPPLY OF CONDENSED MILK

The British purchasing commission announced yesterday that it would purchase 750,000 cases of evaporated milk in the United States. On June 20 it offered to buy 1,500,000 cases.

Ralph E. Ammon, director of the Wisconsin department of agriculture, said that Britain had been able to obtain only part of the quantity sought in June because the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation had taken large supplies off the market. The FSCC bought 1½ million cases in June. Holdings of evaporated milk on June 1, totaled 6,400,000 cases, a near record level.

Manufacturers in the Chicago area are expected to supply a large part of the order.

RESUME LARGE GOLD SHIPMENTS FROM ENGLAND

Quarter Billion Sent Over Week-End.

A sudden resumption of gold importation on a large scale over the week-end was disclosed yesterday, when it became known that nearly a quarter of a billion dollars worth of the metal had been shipped to New York, much of it from England.

At the same time the department of commerce issued a report showing that gold imports had tumbled in the week ended last Wednesday, with shipments from France dwindling to a trickle, and that the amount of gold held under earmark in America for foreign account shrank more than 71 million dollars.

The reduction in earmarked holdings apparently reflected expanded purchases of war supplies in the United States by foreign governments.

Largest in Many Weeks.

The week-end gold shipments were the largest for so short a period in many weeks. The British steamer Samaria unloaded 1,200 boxes of gold at New York. The shipment, valued at $67,500,000, was from Liverpool. The steamer Scythia reached port with 1,000 boxes valued at $57,000,000.

In addition, the Federal Reserve bank of New York received $100,000,000, part of it from Canada, over the week-end.

In view of the heavy receipts from England, it was predicted in New York that the British will soon have sent their entire monetary gold reserves across the Atlantic. Vast amounts of gold already have reached Canada, according to unofficial reports, and with what is known to have come to the federal reserve bank of New York it was considered doubtful that much gold will be left in England in view of threats of invasion.

According to the best information available in banking circles, most of the French gold was moved out ahead of the German invaders, much of it coming to New York.

Week's Shipments Fall.

The department of commerce said that gold imports in the week ended last Wednesday amounted to $86,456,984, compared with $418,236,631 in the preceding week. France, which had rushed $241,000,000 to America in the preceding week on a United States cruiser, sent only $27,303 in the July 3 week.

Principal shipments in the most recent week were $44,045,079 from the United Kingdom, $30,161,040 from Canada, $2,363,900 from Sweden, $3,165,264 from Jugo-Slavia, $3,527,727 from South Africa and $1,154,860 from Hong Kong.

The figures indicated that most of the week's inflow of gold was deposited in earmarked accounts in the federal reserve system for foreign governments and central banks. The total of earmarked gold stood at $1,654,120,958 as of last Wednesday, a drop of $71,197,590 from a week earlier.

Gold assets of the United States treasury rose to $20,114,593,428, from $16,149,700,324 a year earlier.

PLANT EXPENSE BELIEVED HITCH IN PACKARD DEAL

New York, July 9 (AP).—Financial circles today indicated belief that the hitch in negotiations with the Packard Motor company for the production of 9,000 Rolls-Royce-Merlin airplane engines centered on amortization of the investment for plant expansion and the tooling necessary to produce the British machine.

A figure previously mentioned as probably covering the proposed contract for delivery of the 9,000 motors, of which 3,000 would go to the United States government and 6,000 to the British, was $150,000,000. That would be at the rate of approximately $16,600 for each unit.

Another figure previously mentioned as essential to cover the amortization has been $30,000,000. Retiring that amount on a production of 9,000 motors would mean that each unit carried a share of $3,333, which would make the total production cost of each motor approximately $20,000, based on the figures mentioned.

One of the big air lines said today that motors for its large transport planes cost approximately $15,000 each.

Standard Oil's 6 Month Profit Is 85 Millions

New York, July 9 [Special].—W. S. Farish, president of the Standard Oil company [New Jersey] today estimated that the company's earnings for the first six months of this year were approximately $85,000,000. This would be equivalent to about $3.12 each on the 27,215,716 capital common shares outstanding. The estimate was based on reports of western hemisphere operations thru May plus a forecast for June.

W. S. Farish.

No comparison is available because the company has not heretofore given estimates of six months' earnings. It agreed with the New York Stock exchange last fall, however, to make such a report. Because of world-wide operations of the company it was decided that the statement would include an estimate of items not definitely ascertainable.

Explains Foreign Situation.

Farish explained that it has been impossible to maintain communications with European representatives, so that for some months no reports of business in the various countries affected by the war have been received. The estimate however, does include probable dividends to be received from its 50 per cent interest in the Standard-Vacuum oil company, operating in the far east.

"It is not to be expected that the second half year will produce any such earnings," the company statement said. "Altho in the United States the volume of sales has increased, profit margins have been reduced.

"In Europe the volume of business recently has been greatly curtailed. Exports of both crude oil and products have progressively declined.

Losses Are Not Known.

"The company has been unable to learn what losses it has sustained because of military operations, but it is believed inventory stocks, storage plants, and refineries have suffered. No account of such losses has been taken into this estimate of the half-year's earnings. Considering all these factors, the outlook for the second half of the year is definitely less attractive."

UNITED GAS CORP. PLANS $75,000,000 OF REFINANCING

New York, July 9 [Special].—One of the important members of the Electric Bond and Share system, the United Gas corporation, is planning a $75,000,000 refinancing program, it was learned today.

Simplification of capital structure thru consolidation of debt, reduction in fixed charges, extension of present maturities, settlement of more than $10,000,000 of dividend arrears on first preferred stock, and the paving of the way for dividends on the second preferred stock are said to be objectives of the program.

The financing is expected to consist of $60,000,000 of first mortgage bonds and $15,000,000 of serial notes. Proceeds would be applied toward the redemption of some $70,000,000 of outstanding issues and toward the payment of dividend arrears on the first preferred stock of more than $10,000,000, or $23.70 a share.

PEORIA, EASTERN PLAN CONFIRMED IN SPECIAL COURT

New York, July 9 (AP).—The plan of adjustment for the Peoria & Eastern Railway company was confirmed today by a special statutory court of three federal judges. The plan has already been approved by the Interstate Commerce commission and by 80 per cent of the road's bondholders.

Only modification made by the court was provision for representation of minority income bondholders by one director of the board.

The plan includes a 20 year agreement by which the New York Central operates the carrier, extension for 20 years of approximately $8,000,000 of bonds, and refinancing of three mortgages totaling about $6,500,000.

NEW SEC RULES CUT RED TAPE FOR UTILITIES

End Most of Holding Law Hearings.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 9.—The Securities and Exchange commission today took steps to cut some of the red tape which has tied up utility operations coming before it.

The commission announced that rules had been adopted for a simplified procedure in the handling of declarations and applications concerning financing transactions under the public utility holding company act of 1935.

The SEC said the new rules are "designed to cut red tape and save much time and expense for utility companies and the commission." The rules make hearings and findings unnecessary on financial transactions unless substantial difficulties are encountered. About 75 percent of the hearings which otherwise would be held under provisions of the act are expected to be eliminated.

Exemptions Not Affected.

The new rules have no effect on utility proceedings involving exemptions, integration plans and reorganizations, or operations of service companies.

The SEC also announced that it and representatives of the Investment Bankers' association and the National Association of Security Dealers had agreed on the principles of an amendment to the section of the securities act of 1933 which provides for a mandatory 20-day waiting period between registration and offering of a security issue. It is understood the proposed amendment would remove the mandatory waiting period and gives the SEC discretionary powers on the waiting period.

Securities dealers and investment bankers long have sought more flexibility in these provisions.

Details of the amendment will be worked out as soon as possible and will be recommended to congress by the SEC for passage at this session.

Hearings Eliminated.

The first of the new utility rules adopted by the commission—to be known as rule U-8—provides that unless a hearing is necessary a declaration or application will become effective or be granted 30 days after filing. The commission may shorten this waiting period if it desires. Amendments will become effective in 15 days, but this period may also be shortened in appropriate cases.

The second rule—rule U-9—prescribes terms and conditions to be imposed in connection with the granting of each application and the effectiveness of each delcaration. These terms and conditions generally formalize those which the SEC has previously imposed by express provisions in specific cases.

The commission also revised other rules to bring them into line with those announced today, aimed at removing inconsistencies. The new rules are effective immediately except that rule U-8 will not apply to pending matters unless ordered by the commission.

Thore Study to Be Made.

It was understood that the agreement between SEC and banking officials concerning the revision in waiting period regulation was made with the proviso that a more thorogoing survey of the subject will be made between now and January, when the SEC and the industry plan to present joint proposals for general revision of the securities laws.

Representative Adolph Sabath [D., Ill.], chairman of the house rules committee, indicated after a call at the White House that President Roosevelt desires action expedited on a bill revising the waiting period rules.

New York Stocks.

New York, July 9 (AP)—Creeping recoveries came into the stock market today on a selective basis, but real stimulation was lacking in both foreign and domestic news bulletins and trends were irregular at the close.

Dealings picked up a little momentum in the first hour, then loafed thru the remainder of the session. Steels and motors, up at the start, lost most of their gains. Advances running to a point or more at the best were reduced or cancelled in the final hour.

The morning's upturn was attributed by brokers partly to the belief of some traders that, with yesterday's activity dropping to a 20-year low, selling had dried up sufficiently to permit a technical comeback. The moderately bright business situation also remained a sustaining influence.

The same imponderables that were blamed for recent slack markets again were said to be handicapping buyers. These included fears of a new German war thrust, lack of specifications regarding proposed excess profits tax legislation, and the inclination of even bullish financial circles to move carefully pending results of the forthcoming national Democratic convention.

Emerging with modest improvement were Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, Douglas Aircraft, Loft, Johns-Manville, Western Union, and Chesapeake & Ohio. A shade in arrears were United States Steel, Sears Roebuck, Glenn Martin, Westinghouse, Anaconda, Sante Fe and American Telephone.

Packard slipped as a hitch appeared to have arisen in the signing of contracts with the United States and British governments for the manufacture of some 9,000 airplanes engines.

New York Bonds.

New York, July 9 (AP).—Rail loans again proved their mettle as bond market leaders by recording a sixth consecutive gain today. The Associated Press carrier average rose 0.1 point, but some individual advances ran to 3 or more points. Corporate issues generally shaded off from their highs under late profit selling. Transactions totaled $4,512,400 face value against $4,337,000 Monday.

Announcement of the treasury's financing plans seemed to increase the normal flow of switching and shifting of accounts in United States government issues. A few treasuries closed 2-32ds to 19-32ds higher and some lost 1-32d to 5-32ds.

Obligations of Italy, France, and Canada pushed up 1 to 5 points.

Chicago Stocks.

Commonwealth Edison returned to leadership on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday, accounting for 1,450 shares of the 12,000 share turnover in the entire list. The stock closed with a gain of ½ point. Declines were more numerous than gains elsewhere among the 64 issues traded.

Bank Stocks.

OFFICERS BOOST STOCK HOLDINGS IN THEIR FIRMS

Hughes and Mrs. Tunney Report Purchases.

Officers, directors, and principal stockholders of corporations made substantial purchases and sales of securities during May, a Securities and Exchange commission summary showed yesterday.

Many took advantage of the sharp decline in market prices in May to accumulate stocks. Largely as a result of this, buying in share volume far outweighed selling.

In one of the major transactions of the month Howard Hughes, widely known aviator, acquired an additional 153,700 shares of Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., thru the Hughes Tool company. The purchase brought his holdings to 325,000 shares —almost 35 per cent of TWA's outstanding 950,000 shares of capital stock. The money was used by TWA to finance the purchase of five new transports.

Mrs. Tunney Buys Stock.

Mary L. Tunney, wife of Gene Tunney, former heavyweight boxing champion and a director of several distilling companies, bought 5,000 shares of Aviation and Transportation corporation common stock in April and March. Tunney is a director of the company. He holds 1,000 shares of the stock and his wife, 8,000 shares.

Other large purchases in May included 6,300 shares of Otis Elevator common by a subsidiary of General Electric company, bringing its holdings to 233,640 shares. Loew's Inc., bought 17,067 shares of Loew's Boston theaters; General Motors acquired 9,000 shares of Yellow Truck and Coach class B; Mission Corporation bought 45,100 shares of Tide Water Associated Oil; Cities Service company bought 32,000 shares of Richfield Oil corporation and Consolidated Oil bought 35,400 shares of the same issue; and George F. Getty, Inc., bought 7,800 shares of Pacific Western Oil corporation.

Colgates Lighten Holdings.

Three members of the Colgate family reported sales of Colgate-Palmolive-Peet common. S. Bayard Colgate reported the sale of 9,226 shares by an estate; Robert B. Colgate sold 3,400 shares, and Gilbert Colgate 2,500 shares.

H. Bayard Swope of New York sold 2,000 shares of Columbia Broadcasting System, Inc., class A common.

Several officers or directors of General Motors reported sales of the corporation's common stock. These included: Albert Bradley of New York, 618 shares; William A. Fisher of Detroit, 500; James D. Mooney of New York, 682 sold directly and 2,200 shares sold thru GM Shares, Inc.; Charles E. Wilson of Detroit, 1,200, and John J. Schumann Jr. of New York, 500. Ormond E. Hunt of Pontiac, Mich., gave away 400 shares.

Harold H. Swift of Chicago, vice chairman of the board of Swift & Co., gave away 1,000 shares of the company's stock, valued at approximately $20 a share, and George H. Swift of Boston gave away 100 shares.

OIL PRODUCTION LOWER; FEWER WELLS FINISHED

Daily crude oil production in Illinois for the week ended July 6 declined 13,738 barrels from the peak of the preceding week as fewer than the normal number of oil well completions were made, the Oil and Gas Journal reported yesterday. The total was 504,486 barrels.

Daily output of the United States recorded a decrease of 21,209 barrels to 3,612,878 for the week.

Stocks of domestic and foreign crude petroleum for the week ended June 29 totaled 262,059,000 barrels, a net increase of 1,168,000 barrels compared with the preceding week, the bureau of mines reported.

Aluminum Co. Will Meet Union Again on Pay Issue

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP).—Officials of the Aluminum Company of America announced tonight they had agreed to another meeting with agents of the Aluminum Workers' union [C. I. O.] on Thursday at Pittsburgh to discuss the union's demand for a 10 cent an hour wage increase. M. M. Anderson, personnel director of the company, reported no change in its position on the union's demand.

Park District to Retire $2,689,000 More Bonds

The Chicago park district commissioners yesterday voted to retire $2,689,000 of refunding series B 4 per cent bonds. The bonds were eligible for calling on March 1 along with an additional $4,030,000 worth which were retired at that time. Collection of 1939 taxes since then has made it possible to retire the remainder of the issue.

Six Months' Factory Sales of Autos 23 Pct. Above 1939

Factory sales of cars and trucks in the first six months of this year totaled 2,525,774 units, an increase of 23 per cent over 1939, the Automobile Manufacturers' association estimated yesterday. Every month thus far has shown a gain over the corresponding month last year.

The United States "must produce 2,388,000 new automobiles and trucks each year just to maintain existing rolling stock at its present level," the association will say in its forthcoming 1940 edition of Automobile Facts and Figures.

26 Million Passenger Cars.

The rolling stock of America's motor transport system includes 30,615,087 vehicles, of which 26,142,144 are automobiles, 4,413,692 motor trucks, and the remainder buses, trailers, and motorcycles, the booklet will show. The figures are as of Dec. 31.

Sales of Pontiac during June exceeded those of May for the third time in history. This General Motors corporation division completed the first six months with sales 48 per cent above 1939 and 135.5 per cent over 1938, according to D. U. Bathrick, general sales manager.

June new car sales totaled 23,372 against 22,516 in May. Only in 1926 and 1933 has this contra-seasonal trend been recorded previously. For the half year, sales of Pontiac numbered 118,571 compared with 80,031 in the same 1939 period and 50,406 in 1938.

Used Car Sales Rapid.

Dealers' used car stocks turned over six times in six months, a rate believed unprecedented in used car merchandising, according to Bathrick. Used car sales were 213,000 for the six months, compared with 208,466 in 1937, the previous high year. Dealers reported a 29 day supply of used cars on hand at the end of June.

"We are now striving to fill orders before stocks run out," Bathrick said. "There is every indication that we may be several thousands of cars short. This unparalleled last minute rush of buyers undoubtedly means a summer without a sales letdown."

TAX ALLOWANCES ON CAPITAL USED FOR ARMS ASKED

Seek Partial Offset Thru Selling Prices.

The Illinois Manufacturers' association yesterday urged special provision for depreciation and amortization of capital expenditures on plants and equipment used exclusively for national defense purposes.

In a letter to Henry Morgenthau Jr., secretary of the treasury, and 10 members of the joint congressional committee on internal revenue taxation, the association asserted:

"Adequate national defense will of necessity cause numerous industrial establishments, not now engaged in producing materials and supplies for defense purposes, to enter actively into national defense production.

Far in Excess of Normal.

"Such special investments in capital facilities will be far in excess of the requirements for normal peacetime production.

"Deduction of normal depreciation and amortization in federal income tax returns is insufficient. It will be disastrous to peace-time business if, at the end of this defense program, industry should find its working capital seriously impaired because it has been diverted to capital investment that is no longer usable.

"There should be legislation assuring the right to include amortization of such special facilities in the cost of defense products.

Provide for Cancelation.

"Furthermore, in fairness to manufacturers coöperating in the rearmament program, provision should be made in purchase contracts that, in the event of cancelation, the unamortized balance of new capital expenditures shall be allowed as a proper cost of goods manufactured.

"It would also be desirable to make provision for recapture by the government of such facilities as would be completely amortized and paid for by the government thru allowances in cost of material purchased."

FURNITURE SHOW ATTENDANCE AND SALES RISE AGAIN

With four days still to run, attendance at Chicago's two furniture shows yesterday passed the total of the summer markets in 1939, officials announced.

Percy Wilson, managing director of the Merchandise Mart, said that 928 buyers registered yesterday to bring the attendance total to 7,379, compared with 7,147 in the full two weeks last year.

Lawrence H. Whiting, president of the American Furniture Mart, said registrations last night totaled 8,850 compared with the grand total of 8,543 at the show last year.

The market committee of the Merchants and Manufacturers' club at the Merchandise Mart announced that the midseason furniture market will be held Oct. 28 to Nov. 2 and the 1941 winter international homefurnishings market will be held from Jan. 6 to 18.

Name American Telephone Official for Defense Job

Washington, D. C., July 9 [Special].—W. H. Harrison vice president and chief engineer of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, today was named by William S. Knudsen, national defense commissioner in charge of production, to the post of director of the construction division. Knudsen said that Harrison's direction of A. T. & T. construction activities in every state gives him "a unique knowledge of the architectural and engineering professions and the building construction industry thruout the country."

CHRYSLER SIGNS PACT FOR MOTOR PLANT IN BOMBAY; INDIA'S FIRST

BOMBAY, India, July 9 (AP).—A representative of the Chrysler corporation was reported today to have concluded an agreement with an Indian joint stock company which in nine months will open India's first automobile factory in Bombay.

Walchand Hirachand, shipping magnate, is financing the company, capitalized at $7,000,000. At the outset the cars will be manufactured largely from parts imported from the United States.

MAY USE PRIVATE BRAND.

A dispatch from Detroit said that the new Bombay plant, like several others of the more than 20 distributor owned Chrysler assembly plants scattered thruout the world, may sell its cars under its own private brand name rather than under the Chrysler names.

Altho Chrysler shares in the automobile production of almost all leading countries, its interest in most cases is limited to the wholesaling of parts to distributors in those countries who assemble the finished cars in their own plants.

Egg Futures Prices Close Steady to Slightly Lower

Egg futures closed unchanged to 0.05 cent a dozen lower yesterday. Profit-taking and hedging wiped out early gains. Cash prices advanced ⅛ to ⅓ cent a dozen. The November butter future moved ¼ cent a pound lower at 27.35 cents on hedge and speculative selling.

SCOTT PAPER.

I have been looking for a common stock which has a long record of dividend payments and fairly steady earnings. I have been advised to buy Scott Paper on the New York Stock exchange. Does this stock meet my requirements?—G. F.

Answer: Scott Paper company has had stable earnings for more than 10 years. Since 1932 profits have climbed gradually as sales and ouput pushed to successive peaks. Production currently is at the highest level in the company's history and sales volume in the first quarter was the largest for any similar period.

A leading manufacturer of toilet tissue and paper towels, the company has profited from considerable advertising and from standardization of its output to three grades of each product. Its plant is situated on the Delaware river in Chester, Pa., where a special formula is used in processing wood pulp into paper.

Wood pulp for the mills is obtained from the Brunswick Pulp and Paper company, formed jointly in 1936 by Scott Paper and the Mead corporation. The wood pulp plant is located in Brunswick, Ga. The recent increase in pulp prices that followed the shutting off of Scandinavian supplies has not yet affected the paper company's profit margin, the management indicated.

Capitalization of Scott Paper consists of 29,820 shares of $4.50 cumulative preferred, 30,000 shares of $4 cumulative preferred, and 667,941 shares of common stock, all of no par value.

Dividends of no less than $1 a share were paid each year on the common stock since 1922. Quarterly dividends of 40 cents each were paid March and June 15 this year. Regular dividends are being distributed on the preferred stocks, which were issued in 1938.

The steady growth of earnings are indicated by the following comparison of net income, earnings per common share and dividends per common share in recent years:

1935	$ 938,754	*$3.17	*$1.97½
1936	998,011	1.67	2.15
1937	1,254,281	2.20	†1.55
1938	1,434,951	2.31	1.80

With record sales of $5,260,281 in the first quarter of 1940, net income rose from $442,382, equal after preferred dividends to 56 cents a common share. Net income in the first quarter of 1939 was $322,734, or 46 cents a share.

RAYONIER INC. OUTPUT, SALES SET NEW PEAKS

Production and tonnage sales of Rayonier, Inc., manufacturer of bleached pulp for conversion into cellulose, reached new highs in the fiscal year ended April 30 and earnings were the second largest in the company's history, Edward M. Mills, president, reported yesterday.

Mills emphasized that lower average prices were received for the company's products during the year. Prices were revised upward recently, but the change came too late to carry profits to the heights reached by production and tonnage sales.

Profit Is Larger.

Consolidated net profit was $2,389,488, equal after preferred dividend requirements to $1.18 per common share, against $1,176,646, or $1.88 on the $2 cumulative preferred stock in the preceding fiscal year.

A large part of the gain in earnings was due to the $964,295 net profit earned in the quarter ended April 30, Mills said. This compared with a net loss of $244,785 in the 1939 quarter.

BUSINESS USES ONLY SMALL PART OF BANKS' FUNDS

Illinois businesses with established credit at banks borrowed about one-fourth of the funds made available to them in the last half of 1939, the American Bankers' association reported yesterday.

Announcing the results of a nation-wide survey, the association said also that 284 Illinois commercial banks, constituting about a third of the state's 852 commercial banks, made 727,715 loans totaling $3,134,707,861 in all of 1939.

These banks reported that they carried on their books in the second half of 1939 $440,831,331 of specific amounts of credit offered to and kept available for established borrowers for use as needed. A total of $110,425,560 or 25.1 per cent, was used.

British Pound Advances 1½ Cents to End at $3.78

The British pound advanced 1½ cents in relation to the United States dollar yesterday despite reports from London hinting that Britain would tighten restrictions still further on the use of the uncontroled pound in transactions involving British exports. The pound closed at $3.78.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

Recent sharp advances in hogs at the stockyards sent fresh pork prices up 50 cents to $1 a hundred pounds yesterday despite the day's setback in live hogs. Top light loins rose to $18.50, within 50 cents of the highest point in eight months. The price showed a gain of $6, or 48 per cent, in two weeks.

Hog prices dipped mostly 25 cents, showing the first decline in two weeks. The $6.80 top was down 20 cents from Monday, while the average at $6.10 showed 25 cents loss. Instances of 30 and 35 cents decline were noted in butchers above 290 pounds in weight, which were slowest to sell.

Most yearlings and the best of the long-fed steers sold steady. Other cattle were steady to weak. Steady to strong rates prevailed for lambs.
